M'HUGH SCORES GOVERNMENT

Says it Has No Right to Prejudice Case Before the Hearing.

TAKE TESTIMONY WEDNESDAY

One Hundred Witnesses Will Be Examined in Omaha in Case to Dissolve So-Called Harvester Trust.

Judge W. D. McHugh of Omaha, attorney for the defendant in the suit brought by the federal government to dissolve the so-called International Harvester company trust, sharply criticized the government for publishing the report of Luther Conant, Jr., United States commissioner of corporations, in which Conant declares the company is a monopoly. It is an attempt by the government to prejudice the suit, says Judge McHugh, and is "manifestly unfair and unjust" and "merits most indignant protest."

Taking of Testimony. Taking of testimony for the defendants will begin in Omaha Wednesday, when about 100 witnesses will be examined. Other hearings will be had in all the important grain centers of the United States, Judge McHugh says.

"So far as this report of the bureau of corporations attempts to pass on the legality of the International Harvester company's organization or criticize its business methods, its appearance at this time seems most inappropriate. The United States has brought a suit to dissolve the International Harvester company. The organization and business practices of the company are in issue in that litigation. The evidence of the government with respect to those issues has been taken and was considered by the bureau of corporations. The defendant's evidence is not yet taken, but will begin next Wednesday at Omaha, where more than 100 witnesses will testify. Other hearings will be had at various points in the United States and the testimony will cover the business methods of the company throughout the grain growing sections of this country.

"The information on which the bureau based its report was largely gathered by investigators from undisclosed sources. It wholly lacked that cross-examination of witnesses by interested parties which is the best method of developing the truth.

"The code of ethics of the American Bar association and of nearly all the state bar associations justly condemns the practice of a party litigant making public statements regarding issues involved in pending litigation. We had hoped and requested that the government, as a party litigant in this important suit, would scrupulously abide by this canon of ethics so universally respected by bench and bar, and would not make its report until the evidence of the defendants has been taken, so that both sides could be considered by the bureau before it reached a decision.

"This attempt by the government of the United States to prejudice a lawsuit now pending, and in which the testimony of the defendant has not been presented, is so manifestly unfair and unjust as to merit the most indignant protest."

Bull Moosers Talk of Candidate for Congressman Here

Local bull moosers declare they are going to have a candidate for congress in the field in the Second district two years hence. They believe they have a vote here strong enough to make a good showing and some of the more enthusiastic even believe they can elect a congressman. E. M. Lee of Indiana, national committeeman from the state, has spent some time in Omaha, Lincoln and other parts of the state in an effort to get the Nebraska bull moosers to organize more closely, and he has been largely instrumental in working up their enthusiasm to the point of talking bull moose congressmen. The executive committee of the moosers of Nebraska held a meeting in Lincoln last week with F. P. Corrick, the state chairman, at the helm. Lee of Indiana, was there to give a talk on organization, and when the meeting broke up, the Nebraska men were bound the organization must begin at once. Corrick plans to do what he can in the state to organize, and Lee remained in the state a few days helping quietly with the plans of organization in counties and congressional districts. Local moosers say that a reorganization of the Douglas county progressive committee is shortly to take place. They find courage in the fact that committees and clubs are being maintained in some parts of the country, and that there is talk of running a progressive city ticket in St. Louis this spring.

WHAT'S BECOME OF 'EM

Walter Young, who came here from Plymouth, England, and was organist at the First Congregational church, is now organist at the First Church of Christ Scientist (the mother church) in Boston.

Louison Charlton, twenty years ago librarian of the Omaha Apollo club and a member of the music firm of Ford & Charlton, for whom the building just west of the McCague building was built, is one of the big managers of musical affairs of national interest, with offices in Carnegie Hall, New York.

J. E. Butler, for many years organist of Trinity Cathedral, is now organist of one of the leading churches in Seattle. He is also a singing teacher.

Franz Adelmann, who was at one time a highly popular violinist of Omaha, conductor of an orchestra and leader at one of the theaters, is at Los Angeles. He was reported to have gone down on the Titanic, but a late issue of a leading musical journal announces him as a recent arrival in Los Angeles, after a year in Berlin.

Joseph Gahn, for many years a busy concert pianist and teacher in Omaha, is now actively engaged in his profession in New York City and has an important position in one of the leading convents there.

PACKERS TO BRING RECORDS

Wage Investigating Committee to Secure Data Desired.

CHAIRMAN ALONE IS PRESENT

Hearing is Resumed in Afternoon in the Committee Rooms at the Merchants Hotel—Selby Represents Packers.

Representing Swift & Co. and Morris & Co. packing houses of South Omaha, W. L. Selby appeared at the headquarters of the wage committee of the house at the Merchants hotel to find out just what was wanted by this committee which is investigating wage conditions in Omaha. Mr. Selby assured Chairman Loney that the packing houses he represented would give the information sought by the committee. He said he heard the managers of both these concerns say Saturday night that they had sent all the information asked for by the committee.

What the committee actually received from the packing houses, however, was a statement of the number of girls employed in the plants and the average wages paid them with absolutely no definite information as to what wages are received by any one girl. Mr. Selby was profuse in his assurance that the desired information would be furnished now that the packing companies understood just what was wanted.

A delegation of women appointed on the committee to go to large establishments in Omaha and South Omaha to talk with girl employees to get information as to who would make good witnesses for the legislative committee, had some difficulty in getting into the packing houses. They complained that some of the head men had told them they could not get into the plant. Chairman Loney assured the women that he thought there would be no trouble in getting in as the packers had changed their tune during the last day or two with regard to their attitude toward the committee.

More Mail Cars Are Put Into Service to the Magic City

Postmaster Wharton has issued orders for the immediate installation of the new South Omaha service system, which gives that city fourteen cars a day, or an average of about one trip per hour. The first car will start for South Omaha at 8 o'clock in the morning and the last leaves that city at 8:45 in the evening. This improvement in service is a direct result of the merger of the postoffice systems of the two cities.

DISTRICT JUDGES WANT BOOKS FOR PRISONERS

Appeal to the public for good books and other reading matter for a library for use of Douglas county jail prisoners, has been issued by the district court judicial college through Presiding Judge A. L. Sutton. Persons who will help put good literature in the hands of the prisoners are requested to deliver it to the bailiffs or the presiding judge in court room No. 1.

The judges of the district court at the January meeting authorized and directed a library be established for the benefit of the inmates of the Douglas county jail. Heretofore no reading matter has been available to the inmates of the Douglas county jail, and it is thought desirable by the judges of the district court that suitable reading matter should be available for all inmates. There is no fund out of which these books or other reading matter may be furnished, and the library and other reading matter must be supplied by those who are interested in the inmates of the Douglas county jail, and the judges call upon all persons who are interested in these individuals to contribute books, magazines or other reading matter suitable for the inmates of the jail.

SEARCH FOR BODIES STOPS

Commissioner Kugel Calls Off His Force of Workmen at Ruins.

INQUEST TO BE ON TUESDAY

Sensational Testimony May Come Out at the Coroner's Hearing Over Bodies Taken from Dewey Hotel Fire.

Grace Burton, who was badly burned in the Dewey hotel fire, died as a result Monday in Omaha General hospital. Her home was in Ruthven, Ia., and her address here was at 104 South Eleventh street. The police are endeavoring to locate some of her relatives.

The search for bodies in the ruins of the Dewey hotel have been abandoned, temporarily at least. Commissioner Al Kugel has called his men away and turned the work over to Alexander Beck, contractor for John D. Crighton, owner of the building. Just what Mr. Beck will do is unknown; he, however, conferred with Mr. Crighton yesterday morning.

NUMBER OF REGISTRATIONS ON SATURDAY WAS SMALL

Not more than 200 votes were registered Saturday, according to reports received by the city clerk. The registration was unusually light. The law provides that a registration day be held between primaries and elections and this was the day when voters who are supposed to vote at the March 11 election of a charter committee were given a chance to register again if they had moved from the precinct where they were formerly registered.

INSIST ON MONOXIDE TOOTH POWDER

Don't merely ask for "some good tooth powder" or paste, but specify what you want by name! Look the clerk in the department store or drug store and ask him what contains the most profit to you, or the most benefit to you? If you know how carefully, how scientifically were compounded—how every ingredient is selected for its good effect on your teeth—for its cleansing, tonic, beautiful action on your gums, mouth and throat, you'd ask for Monoxide every time—and get it! It is anti-septic—a cleanser, polisher and whitener; a destroyer of germs which enter the system through the mouth. It's the one best dentifrice of exceptional merit—endorsed by dentists, physicians and druggists. Most druggists have it, or we'll send it post free direct from our laboratories to you—ask for it.

FERULLO'S BAND PLAYS AT MADE IN NEBRASKA SHOW

Francisca Ferullo and his band of forty musicians will play here at the "Made in Nebraska show." Through a stroke of good fortune the Federation of Nebraska Retailers learned that he was coming east from the Pacific coast at about the time when the show is going to be in progress here and negotiations ended in his engagement. Six of the players are soloists of note, and besides these there are two vocalists. Ferullo's band hardly needs any footnote. It is one of the foremost of its kind in the country. This year the concert goes with the show, with admittance of quarter. Ferullo and his band have delighted audiences in Omaha before.
