

THINK BRYAN'S WORD GOES

Most of His Fighting Friends Call to Get His O. K.

HE'S RUNNING ONE DEPARTMENT

Secretary Shakes Hands with Them All, but He Lets It Be Known that He Is Not General Dispenser of Patronage.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—(Special Telegram.)—The order of President Wilson, that office seekers must file their applications with the head of the department in which they desire positions, had at least one effect, it almost swamped Secretary William Jennings Bryan, whose acquaintance with many hundreds of citizens throughout the length and breadth of the land, seemed to warrant that the "Copperhead" would act as intermediary for the "patriots" desiring jobs.

But Mr. Bryan let it be understood very early this morning that he proposed to look after his department and that other departments of the government would be run by the chiefs of those departments without any suggestions from him. Notwithstanding Mr. Bryan's position on the patronage question, scores of people left their applications with him, for Mr. Bryan is really the biggest man in the cabinet and they believe that the Bryan endorsement spells success.

Long before Colonel Bryan repaired to his offices in the State department he was besieged at his hotel by all classes and conditions of people, invoking the influence of the vizier of the new administration. And when the secretary of state left for the State department, Mr. Bryan, who is quite as much of a diplomat as her distinguished husband, continued to receive the crowd of friends and well wishers, to say nothing of those "looking for something good on the pie counter."

Travelers to the Front.

A band of traveling men dropped by to wish Mr. Bryan good luck through the medium of his wife, and to remind her that their leader, a tall six-footer with handsome face and words of assurance, had organized the first traveling men's Bryan club.

An automobile man came along and got as much attention as any one else. His visit also revealed the fact that the new secretary of state would have two automobiles, the one which Mr. Bryan will use to call on diplomats, and another modest little incensed car, which, if it could speak, would know every pretty highway about her home in Nebraska, and which will soon know every good road through Rock Creek park and the surrounding country.

Dunn goes to Florida.

Chief of Police H. W. Dunn and Mrs. Dunn of Omaha, who have been in Washington since last Sunday, the chief being called here by Mayor Sylvester to assist in apprehending western crooks during the inauguration, left for a fortnight's visit at Jacksonville, Fla., today. To The Bee correspondent Chief Dunn said the crowds, and they were crowds, too, were extremely orderly and that Washington had been unusually free of crooks, none of the "marked men of the west" having turned up to ply their trade. He will reach Omaha about March 20.

Patrick F. Hovey of the Omaha police force, who came on to help preserve order in the nation's capital during Wilson's induction into office, left for home today. Officer Hovey, who was formerly desk sergeant at the central station, is now first officer in Commissioner J. J. Ryder's office.

Louis H. Bastwick, who accompanied Governor Morehead and party to Washington, left for Omaha today.

Taft Sends Pen to Kinkaid. Judge Kinkaid's engagements were such during the busy closing hours of congress that he could not be present when President Taft signed the proclamation for the opening of the North Platte forest reserve as he had hoped to do. Mr. Kinkaid was surprised to receive Tuesday morning from President Taft the pen which was used to sign the proclamation and which he prizes most highly.

Congressman Kinkaid was pleased with the passage finally of the omnibus public buildings bill carrying $75,000 for a post-office and land office at Alliance and $10,000 for a postoffice and federal court building at Chadron, the larger amount being given to Chadron because federal court accommodations are to be provided for.

Warmest Day of the Year in West

Most Remarkable Sale of New Spring WAISTS

Offered by Any Store in Omaha A Sensational Offering Secured From the Liquidation Stock of D. Levy & Sons Co., Baltimore

D. LEVY & SONS CO., makers of the famous "Albion" brand of waists, were without doubt the largest manufacturers in the east. Their reputation for waists of a high character was known from coast to coast. After a business career of at least a quarter of a century they were obliged to discontinue business for reasons best known to themselves, and a "liquidating committee" was appointed to close up their affairs. Our New York resident buyer was on the ground and secured the cream of the stock, amounting to several thousand dollars. We offer them to you Saturday as we bought them—

At a Tremendous Price Sacrifice The waists were all made for this spring and summer selling, in a world of pretty, new and dainty effects. The materials are pure white embroidered linens, lingerie, lawn, tailored linen, batistes, voiles, damasks, messalines, taffetas, Jap silks, etc.
