SUFFRAGISTS SEE WILSON

National Leaders Spend Half Hour with President.

SEVERAL MAKE ADDRESSES

Executive Says He is Not Committing Himself Against Measure, Even if It is Not in His First Message.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—(Special.)—The president today received a delegation of the national leaders in the movement. Mr. Wilson was urged to recommend to the special session of congress action on such an amendment, but he told his visitors he had not made up his mind on the suffrage question.

The president was courteous and sympathetic throughout, said Mrs. Ida Husted Harper of New York and prominent in the National Woman's Suffrage association. "He said there were many pressing questions to come up at the extra session and that if he did not recommend action on suffrage he did not want it to be taken as an indication of his general attitude, as he was not committing himself yet."

Other members of the party said the president viewed woman suffrage as a question of great practical importance. There were indications, they said, that the president was open minded on the subject.

The committee had a half hour of the president's time. Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley of the Housekeepers' alliance set forth the value of suffrage from the viewpoint of the mother influencing society. Mrs. Claude V. Stone, wife of Representative Stone of Illinois, argued that only by amendment to the federal constitution could there be good action.

Miss Bartlett Dixon and Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the congressional committee seeking woman suffrage, said the question was equivalent in importance to the emancipation of the negro.

"Every word you have said," they told the president, "for the political liberty of man, can be applied to the political liberty of women." Mrs. Harper smilingly informed the president that there never were such arguments made for woman suffrage as he himself had given in his last book. She quoted the following passage: "I don't want a smug lot of experts to sit down behind closed doors in Washington and play Providence to me. If any part of our people want to be warded, if they want to be taken care of, if they want to be children, patronized by the government, why am I sorry, because it will sap the manhood of America."

Mrs. Harper declared that women, too, "did not want men playing Providence to them behind closed doors in Washington or the various state capitals."

Appeal to Democrats. Mrs. Harper reminded the president that Miss Susan B. Anthony pleaded with Mr. Roosevelt shortly after he took office and during his administration appeals were made to him not to leave the suffrage without recognizing woman suffrage.

"Almost a century ago the greatest step which has ever been taken by the democratic party occurred at the enfranchisement of the workmen. We ask that the democratic party take another step in giving the vote to women."

MILITANT SCENES IN LONDON Threats to Kill Premier Made at Mass Meeting.

LONDON, March 17.—There were militant scenes today at the weekly gathering of suffragettes in a London music hall. In the course of an address by Mrs. Pankhurst shouts of "Why don't you blow up Premier Asquith" and "shoot him" rang through the hall.

Mrs. Pankhurst referred to her approaching commitment to jail on the charge of inciting malicious damage and then to her daughter's imprisonment.

"My daughter," she said, "is trying to release herself as a prisoner of war from the enemy, and is enduring all the tortures of imprisonment confinement."

At this juncture the hall resounded with an outburst against Premier Asquith and his cabinet ministers.

The suffrage leader continued to relate how her daughter Sylvia "during the first eleven days of her imprisonment was not only forcibly fed, but was deprived of all books. She was in solitary confinement, and for exercise was absolutely left to her own resources while undergoing the treatment."

The speaker announced that Miss Lansbury and Mrs. Moore, two "militant suffragists" who went on a hunger strike in prison, were released from custody today.

Mrs. Pankhurst incidentally attacked the labor party leaders. She said they had professed to be in favor of the women and had received help "both personal and pecuniary," yet they had done nothing to forward the cause.

They will make their home at Nett Lake, Minn. The bride, who was a government teacher at Yuma, is a daughter of W. A. Whitaker of Falls City.

Migot-Chanel. BROCK, Neb., March 16.—(Special.)—Leon Migot and Miss Ida Chanel were married by Rev. A. E. Wachtel at the Methodist parsonage. The bride is a native of Switzerland, but has spent the last few years here with her uncle, A. I. Gauchat. The young couple will reside on the groom's farm near Brock.

Emery-Von Rentzel. MADISON, Neb., March 16.—(Special.)—Frank E. Emery of Madison and Miss Von Rentzel of Crichton, Neb., were married at the home of the groom's mother in this city at 8 o'clock. Judge McDuffee officiating.

Hotel at Pocahtontas Burns. POCAHONTAS, Ia., March 17.—(Special.)—The Hotel Pocahtontas was burned to the ground and the business firms tenanted part of the building suffered heavy losses in a fire that broke out yesterday morning. No one was injured, as the hotel guests had ample time to get out of the building. The total loss is estimated at $65,000.

TARIFF BILLS ONLY AT START OF SESSION

will be the only committees organized prior to the beginning of the tariff work. The others will go over until later in the session.

"The tariff legislation now completed by the ways and means committee will be submitted to the democratic caucus before the session opens."

The president today issued the usual proclamation convening congress in extra session at noon on April 7. The president's proclamation was brief and followed form closely. It merely stated that "Whereas, public interests require" congress would be convened in extra session by order of the executive.

Originally Mr. Wilson had fixed on April 1 as the date. Representative Underwood, the democratic majority leader, having informed him that the tariff bills to which it was agreed congress should give immediate attention would be ready on that date, Mr. Underwood found, however, that the ways and means committee would need another week to draft the tariff schedules and today's proclamation is in deference to the wishes of Mr. Underwood and house leaders.

Tariff is Not Mentioned. The absence of any specific reason for the calling of the extra session is explained by the fact that Mr. Wilson's statement immediately after his election declared that he would call an extra session to revise the tariff.

President Wilson plans to point out specifically his wishes for the extra session in his first message. In preparation, this it is known from talks the president has had with members of congress, will outline the administration's idea of how the tariff should be revised and just what schedules should be taken up. The bill is general and means committee will be taken up with a discussion of the tariff, with the exception of the last paragraph or two, which will draw attention to the need of currency legislation at the earliest possible moment and will indicate the attitude of the president later to send a message on legislation which he believes should be taken up by the new congress.

Work on Tariff Bills. The tariff plan will be submitted first to a caucus and then directly to the house by the ways and means committee. "The committee will be ready to report by that time," said Democratic Leader Underwood today. "We have made headway and there will be no trouble about reporting the revised plan when the congress convenes."

The majority of the ways and means committee today began taking up the administrative features of the new tariff. These provisions relate to the variety of custom house routine and the effort of the democrats in changing the terms and phraseology of the administrative section is to simplify and facilitate the customs work both in the interest of the government and the importers. A number of changes along that line were suggested by witnesses during the tariff hearings in January.

The tariff revision plan will be in such condition that whatever form the caucus determines upon can be reported immediately out of the committee and the whole tariff discussion formally opened up in the house without delay.

Suicide Follows Attempted Murder

MILFORD, Ia., March 17.—(Special.)—One man is dead and another is badly wounded as a result of a lawsuit in which bitter feelings were stirred. After twice shooting F. E. Griffith, Howard Dodge turned the revolver on himself, blowing off the side of his head. Griffith sued Dodge for a commission for selling the former's land, and won the suit at the March term of court. Dodge evidently brooded over his defeat and became more and more hostile. Armed with an automatic revolver he went to Griffith's office and shot twice through the door wounding Griffith with each shot. Walking down the street a short distance Dodge pressed the muzzle of the gun to his chin and pulled the trigger, but his aim was faulty and the bullet missed his head. Again placing the revolver alongside his head, the bullet tore a great hole in his brain. Griffith, although seriously wounded, is expected to recover.

"A.B.A." Cheques

The simplest, safest kind of "Travel Money"

Money matters in travelling would be simple if you could use American money throughout the world; they would be safe if you could use your check book everywhere.

"A.B.A." Cheques practically enable you to do both. They are the equivalent of $10, $20, $50 and $100 bank notes and require your signature to make them good. Each cheque is engraved with its exact foreign money value.

You can use "A.B.A." Cheques like currency, either abroad or in the United States, without converting them into cash. Hotels everywhere welcome them in payment of bills. The best shops accept them. Railways and steamship lines know they are as good as money.

Signing one of your "A.B.A." Cheques identifies you. 50,000 banks throughout the world have agreed to cash them without further introduction. Get a booklet, with full information regarding them, at your own bank.

Next week we shall publish in this paper a list of the institutions in this district which are prepared to supply you with "A.B.A." Cheques.

BATTLE AT NUEVO LAREDO

Carrancistas Attack City and Are Driven Away.

TWENTY KILLED, FIFTY HURT

Nearly All Inhabitants Flee Across River Into Laredo, Tex.—Second Attack is Probable Soon.

LAREDO, Texas, March 17.—Streets of Nuevo Laredo, the Mexican town opposite this city were the scene of a battle this forenoon, in which twenty Carrancistas and federalists were killed. Nearly fifty soldiers were wounded.

The Carrancistas retreated to the hills south of Nuevo Laredo, where they appeared to be preparing for a fresh assault. The street battle continued for an hour and a half.

At dawn a salvo of rifle firing awoke Americans in Laredo. The first sight that greeted them was a rush of refugees across the bridge to the American side.

Men and women carrying their children, women carrying bundles of household goods, and men carrying rifles, were among the refugees. The officials carried books and records by the armful.

Colonel Brewer, commanding officer of the Fourteenth United States cavalry on patrol duty here, sent word early in the day that there must be no firing in a direction which would endanger border points.

An Associated Press correspondent, walking through the battlefield, saw bodies of dead rebels with eye apparently picked out. Several had been shot through the head, apparently after being otherwise wounded. The rebels this afternoon held a position near the city and were continuing preparations to renew the fight.

Federals Are Surprised. The Carrancistas stole into Nuevo Laredo under cover of darkness, 300 strong, and at daylight began a stubborn fight with the 50 federalists defending the town. The fighting scene part of the time was near the Rio Grande. Apparently it was a fight without quarter. One rebel soldier was seen to fall as if dead, but when the charging federals reached he raised his head. A federal leveled a rifle, however, apparently taking care to draw the man's head, whereupon several of the federals kicked the body out of the way until it rolled down an embankment. It was reported the federals received orders to exterminate the Carrancistas.

The small band of constitutionalists, in a running fight drove into Nuevo Laredo past the customs house to a lard factory, where they made a stand. This occurred between 4 a. m. and dawn. At daybreak the federals deployed about the lard factory, apparently taking care to draw the rebels' fire in a line parallel to the Rio Grande, so that no bullets should fall in Laredo. After a sharp fight here the rebels retreated in good order in an open area, where they halted and checked the federal pursuit.

The federals divided, one detachment swinging around to flank the Carrancistas. This flank movement brought the federals directly between the rebels and Laredo, so that the rebel fire was directed at the city. The close range of the battle, however, saved the American city, only one report of a bullet crossing the river having been received. This missile pierced the roof of a garage.

Many Killed and Wounded. From Laredo men could be seen dropping everywhere on the battlefield. The worst havoc was in the ranks of the Carrancistas, who retreated. The federals did not pursue them beyond the city limits.

The federals estimated their wounded at sixteen and the rebel wounded at more than twenty. After the battle American Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo requested American physicians to cross into the Mexican town to care for the wounded.

The Carrancistas had encamped last night about five miles from Nuevo Laredo. They attempted to take the town by surprise, but the federals had outposts watching for them.

This afternoon the Associated Press correspondent saw twenty dead bodies in the municipal palace at Nuevo Laredo. The hospital there doctors were treating the sixteen wounded soldiers. Nuevo Laredo was almost deserted.

Armed soldiers guarded most of the street corners. American troops allowed no one to pass to the Mexican side without a permit.

Only "Cascarets" If Constipated

Salts, Colic and Cathartic Pills Are Violent—They Act on Bowels As Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have head-ache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage-way every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil. This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action; a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.—Advertisement.

though only about twenty-five of the bodies have been recovered from the battlefield.

The losses do not include those executed by the victorious state troops. Although the federals at Naco declare they only executed Colonel Joseph Gutierrez and two of his officers yesterday, while the remaining thirty-five prisoners were said to have joined the government troops, reliable advice today state that in all seventeen faced the firing squad.

Colias and the defeated state troop colonels remain at Agua Prieta planning their return campaign against Naco.

Two Garrisons in Sonora. CANANEA, Mex., March 17.—Opposing state and federal troops, remaining for nearly a week in the same town without hostilities, is the peculiar situation here. The local federal garrison remains in its barracks, while the constitutionalists, who, a few days ago, stole into the American mining town, have taken up permanent quarters within a few hundred yards of the barracks. Not a shot has been fired.

The condition is credited to orders from superior officers that no fighting occur in the town. Should either side attempt to leave Cananea the other would follow and attack, each leader asserts. There are about 300 federals and as many state troops.

bers left behind them a pair of cotton gloves, which they had used to avoid finger prints. The robbers of the Simons' shop left behind two pairs of gloves like these. This vague clue, however, is the only one detectives are known to have.

Burglars Are Experts. The care with which the burglars cut their way by a devious route from an adjoining cellar to the Simon building convinces the detectives they were very familiar with the premises. The men had carefully avoided using the basement stairway, which was opened to them, but had sawed their way through two floors, apparently knowing that the stairway was wired with burglar alarms. In like manner, when they reached the big vault in the pawnshop, they did not touch the great steel doors or their locks, but attacked the walls—two feet thick.

They were rewarded by access to such riches that the robbers must have been stunned. The vault contained valuables worth $80,000, according to Simons; $60,000 in jewelry and watches on which money had been loaned, $100,000 in negotiable securities and $60,000 in notes, as well as $5,000 in cash and checks.

The thieves took the bonds and notes, but threw them away before leaving the building. In the vault they took nothing but diamonds and light jewelry contained in twenty-four drawers. Watches and other jewelry of less value, packed away in 200 small drawers and compartments, were not taken, although all the drawers had been pulled from their places and the jewelry and watches dropped on the floor until they were a foot deep.
