HARD LUCK AT THE START

Rourke finds it difficult to begin training.

CLUB HOUSE IN POOR SHAPE

Diamond untouched and club forced to travel long distance to secure conveniences needed at grounds.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okl., March 23.—(Special.)—All the hard luck coming to any team in one spring training season has been crowded into the first week for the Omahas and it looks as if the remaining eighteen days of their stay here will see them working under more favorable circumstances.

Work the first three days was handicapped by a regular desert sandstorm, which filled the eyes of the players, peppered their faces until raw and put the wind and blowing sand was driven out the factor in the chase was a norther bringing with it rain and sleet and causing the players to keep off the field Thursday afternoon and all day Friday. Added to these discomforts, the management of the park where the team is working was in a chaotic condition because of law suits and a reformation, and when the Bourkes got here no preparations had been made by the park people; the diamond was as it had been abandoned last season; the water system supplying shower baths at the club house and water to wet down the diamond was out of repair, compelling the players to walk a mile and a half to their hotel before they could get out of their dusty and unbecoming bath and feel like human beings again.

It was not until Thursday that the water system was repaired, and even then the players did not get to use the showers for a freeze had preceded the norther and burst the pipes. In order to make the visitors feel as mean as possible these physical inconveniences were augmented by the robbery of the club house Tuesday night by boys, who cleaned out everything like $150 worth of gloves, shoes, hats and other personal effects of the players. In many instances equipment made to order which could not be replaced at any price.

But trouble is past. The sun is shining with midsummer brilliancy, the norther is over and the team is in good condition. The men came through the first week in good condition. In spite of the unfavorable weather conditions, no arms are so lame as to interfere with the work of all save their annoying aches, which he cut on a trunk Thursday. It is about healed. Congalton was the only man to make a day's work on account of a sore arm, but he came back the next day with as much pepper as any of the colts.

Team in Fine Form.

Pa Rourke is delighted not only with the work of his men on the field, but also their deportment when off duty. All have been early to bed and early to rise, and have shown that they are wise. Profiting by experience of his early days as a base ball manager, Pa has taken particular pains to have rules strictly enforced concerning gambling and drinking, and he says he never saw a squad more free of these things than that he has with him this spring.

Occasionally a small game of cards is indulged in to while away the hours until bed time, but the stakes are held to a 10-cent limit, and there is no drinking whatsoever. Not only are the players temperate by choice, but by compulsion as well. While the time was, and that since prohibition, when liquor was sold in Oklahoma City as freely as in wet territory, at the present time the Oklahoma capital is suffering a terrible drought by reason of the sitting of a special grand jury and investigations being carried on by the legislature in session here. Under these conditions the price of soda is 50 cents per bottle and corn juice 25 cents per taste-toot step for a poor base ball player, especially before the pay starts.

English Universities May Meet American Schools.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 23.—All that is lacking to secure an international track meet with Oxford and Cambridge pitted against Yale and Harvard, is an agreement as to the date of the proposed meeting in the stadium.

The English athletes have expressed a desire to visit this country during the early summer and next week the Yale and Harvard management will send them a formal invitation. The invitation will name dates acceptable to the American intercollegiate team and quick action is expected to follow. It is the expressed hope of Yale and Harvard athletes that the proposed meet this summer will become a fixed international event to take place every three years.

RUNS MILE AND QUARTER ON TEACUP FULL OF FUEL

One of the best ways to set an idea of the tremendous power and economy of a perfect ball-bearing motor, coupled with an efficient system of lubrication, is to work out the fuel consumption in small figures that really mean something.

People talk in gallons, but actually think in pints and cups. Hence the Briggs-Detroit company, which manufactures the ball-bearing Detroit, in a series of tests has established the fact that this economical car can average two and a half miles on a pint of fuel or over a mile to the cupful.

The fuel consumption of these figures is felt when one stops to consider that a Detroit, though a very moderate-weight car, yet with five passengers tips the scales at more than a ton. A few drops of gasoline can start and move a load that two horses would strain at.

Cardinals Are Insured.

Schuyler Britton, the new president of the St. Louis Cardinals, has taken out life insurance policies on twenty of his club for a total of $100,000 or $5,000 on each. The premium for each player was $15 and the policy run during the seven months of active playing.

HAMILTON CAFE PROSPERS UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Nettie B. Wetherell came here, after serving four years caring for the cafe of the Detroit Country club, and purchased the Hamilton cafe. Up to that time the place had not done any too well. The public thought the cafe was exclusively for the Hamilton building tenants.

This idea Miss Wetherell has dispelled, and with a special Sunday evening supper where reservations for whole families may be made, an excellent noon-day business men's lunch and a fine Sunday dinner, the business has grown most satisfactorily.

And be it further,

"Resolved, That it was with a great deal of satisfaction that we learned it was through the efforts of The Bee that Dr. Hornby was persuaded to return to Walter Morse's mother the share which he had previously collected as a share for the unnecessary and unskilled operation which he was instrumental in having Neighbor Walter Morse undergo."
