HARD LUCK AT THE START

CLUB HOUSE IN POOR SHAPE

Diamond Untouched and Club Forced to Travel Long Distance to Secure Conveniences Needed at Grounds.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okl., March 22.—(Special.)—All the hard luck coming to any team in one spring training season has been crowded into the first week for the Omahas and it looks as if the remaining eighteen days of their stay here will see the team working under more favorable circumstances.

Work the first three days was handicapped by a regular desert sandstorm, which filled the eyes of the players, peppered their faces until raw and put the men in anything but an agreeable frame of mind. Then finally when the high wind and blowing sand was driven out the factor in the chase was a norther bringing with it rain and sleet and causing the players to leave off the field Thursday afternoon and all day Friday. Added to these discomforts, the management of the park where the team is working was in a chaotic condition because of law suits and a receivership, and when the Rourkes got here no preparations had been made by the park people; the diamond was as it had been abandoned last season; the water system supplying shower baths at the club house and water to wet down the diamond was out of repair, compelling the players to walk a mile and a half to their hotel before they could get out of their dust laden uniforms, bathe and feel like human beings again.

It was not until Thursday that the water system was repaired, and even then the players did not get to use the showers for a freeze had preceded the norther and burst the pipes. In order to make the visitors feel as mean as possible these physical inconveniences were augmented by the robbery of the club house Tuesday night by boys, who cleaned out something like $150 worth of gloves, shoes, bats and other personal effects of the players, in many instances equipment made to order which could not be replaced at any price.

But trouble is past. The sun is shining with midsummer brilliancy, the norther and the sandstorm are merely nightmares; that are gone, the shower baths at the park again have been put in order and the police have recovered the goods stolen from the players.

One feature of their stay in Oklahoma City which has been an antidote for most of the ill in their hotel accommodations, President Rourke says it would be impossible to improve on the quarters he has selected for his men; the rooms are

Ugly Sores Quickly Banished

You Marvel How Worst Skin Eruptions Disappear as Result of Famous Remedy.

If you have been fighting some blood troubles, some eruptive skin disease, call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria, scrofula or what you will, there is but one sure, safe way to cure it. Ask at any drug store for a $1.50 bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the east. It is one of those rare medicinal forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood to the diseased venous blood is marvellous.

Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor. The lungs breathe it out, the liver is stimulated to consume a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestine cease to convey into the blood stream the cerebral, malarial germs; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all excretories of the body are marshalled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of eruptive disease.

FASHIONS IN PROMENADE

Despite Threatening Weather Many Venture Out in Easter Attire.

MANY STIMULATING COLORS

New Creations in Latest Shades Mark the Easter Parade Along Omaha's Avenues During Day.

Despite weather forewarners of rain and its outlook all day long yesterday many took occasion to join the style parade. It started about 10 o'clock and the procession continued until evening. While there were many opportunities to get a glimpse of fashion's latest, the north side of Farnam street was without question the most popular thoroughfare of all.

Here could be seen the results achieved this spring by those who dictate what should be worn. Stimulating colors were in evidence and everywhere there were reflections of the influence that the Automobile society has been shedding over the millinery department of a woman's life. Only at scattered intervals were feathers from dead birds seen and in these instances the rest of the wearing apparel was of the same insalubrious propensity.

As usual there were many extremes, but the general tone of milady's headgear ran in a sensible direction. Cerise and Alice blue were predominating shades and most of the shapes were of straw material. The decorations were either artificial flowers, silk fabrics, or else ostrich plumes to match. However, colors did not stop here for it also took in purple, Bulgarian, melrose and every imaginable hue an artist ever thought of.

Not only was the parade confined to hats but street coats and suits added their quota to most of the appearances. Many of the combinations gotten together were pleasing and attractive.

There were several gray styles seen where the wearer artistically arranged agreeing shades of cerise and melrose trimmings on a hat to match the suit. White suits were worn becomingly with nearly all shades. And another notable combination was black chamoisee suits with a hat of deep purple trimmed in Bulgarian.

Not to be forgotten were the standard black and blue tailored suits of the latest designs which were worn with hats of diversified colors.

In the first three innings the Sox got only one hit outside the infield. Delhi made the first run for San Francisco, when he scored from a single on a three-bagger by Hoffman.

HIGH MASS WAS POPULAR

Easter Sunday Church Attendance is Largest at Solemn Service.

RESURRECTION THE TOPIC

Nearly All Catholic Pulpits Yesterday Told of the Risen Christ to Large Congregations.

With the single exception of the pontifical high mass at St. Cecilia's church, Fortieth and California streets, sung by Bishop Scannell, with Fathers Sinne and Gately assisting as deacons, Father Harrington, as assistant priest, and Master Hart Kruger as master of ceremonies, the high mass service was the most popular one in all of the Catholic churches in Omaha yesterday.

The attendance in nearly every instance filled all the pews, and at St. Johns and at several other churches, extra camp chairs were placed in the aisles to accommodate parishioners. Easter music was sung and the "Regina Coeli" was the special number in all of the Roman churches. The most invariable topic for the day's sermon was on the Resurrection and each pulpit gave particular views as to its significance in the teaching of the Catholic faith.

TELLS OF RESURRECTION

Rev. Milton Bryant Williams Preaches Lessons from Easter Text.

GAVE CLEAR ILLUSTRATION

Told of Power of Love of Jesus and Compared It with Other Examples of Love Familiar to History.

The story of the resurrection and the lesson it teaches was given yesterday morning at the Easter services at First Methodist church by Rev. Milton Bryant Williams. "The Law of the Seed; or Life Through Death," was his subject which he took from the text of John xii, 23-25. "And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of man should be glorified. Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit. He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal."

He gave a theological explanation of this, analogizing the law of the seed whose germ bursts into life only through the death of the envelope in which it is and the law of eternal life whose germ is the soul in humans which comes to its full life when the sensuous and material is cast off.

The minister told of the power of love of Jesus and compared it with other examples of love with which history is familiar. The love of Damon and Pythias, of David and Jonathan, of Dante and Beatrice, were great and strong loves, but contained not the power such as made Livingstone give his life to Christ's work in darkest Africa.

The Borrowing Neighbor.

Did you ever have one of those back-door neighbors who was a ways sending in to borrow a pinch of this and a dab of that—nothing important, but a lot annoying? One of our neighbors had such a neighbor and she tells us about this little incident. The other day her neighbor's little girl came in and said: "Can mamma borrow a half pound of butter an' four eggs an' a few raisins?" "No, I haven't any of those things."

Muffled Knocks.

"Let me see your handkerchief a moment, dear; what a lovely one it must have been when it was nice and clean!" "One of your old friends was asking me about you the other day, Mitt. Says he, 'In that blamed old What's-his-name alive yet?'" "Isn't it curious, old chap, how spiteful some people are? Miss Higham asked me the other day if you weren't a bit bow legged. I said no—on the contrary, you were quite perceptibly knock-kneed."

Who is that with a sword?

"That's Uncle John." "And who is that on the ground?" "That's Uncle Ben." "But where is your father?" "Oh, papa, the little girl replied proudly, 'he's over there making all that smoke.'"—Youngstown Telegram.
