TELEPHONE GIRLS HEROINES

Some Struck to Their Posts for Two Long Days.

MANY WALK TO THEIR WORK

One Girl Is Rendered Unconscious by Being Thrown Against a Tree and Then Walks to the Exchange.

While their homes were a twisted mass of ruins and debris, many of the telephone operators struck to their posts at the telephone office following the storm Sunday night and worked all through the night and the following day. The sixteen girls at the Webster street exchange, which was struck by the cyclone, performed countless deeds of heroism.

With everything around them in a state of great turmoil and wounded and dying lying on the floor of the telephone office, the girls remained in their seats at the switchboard in the Webster exchange and flashed news of the catastrophe to all parts of the city.

Day operators, who were at their homes during the storm, walked many miles to the exchange offices to assist the night forces in maintaining the service. Rose Gillette and Myrtle Peate, who reside in Florence, walked all the way to the office at Eighteenth and Douglas street to take up their posts at the switchboard.

Elsie Waelder of 312 Dewey avenue, was on her way to the Douglas exchange when the storm struck. She was at Thirty-fourth and Cuming streets and was carried nearly a block by the terrific gale of wind. She was caught between two trees and rendered unconscious. Sometime later she was found by two police officers, who had to chop away portions of the trees to free her from her perilous position. After regaining consciousness she walked to the telephone office and worked through the night and following day.

Clara Scheschy left her home in East Omaha after the storm for the Douglas telephone office. She walked all night through the devastated section of the city and got to work at 5 o'clock Monday morning. Minnie Bottker and Helen Elliott, Thirty-eighth and Grand avenue, also walked to the telephone office.

Mrs. May Gamble, a former telephone operator, left her 2-year-old baby and walked to the Douglas office from Thirty-third and Hamilton streets to assist the operators. She worked for twenty-four hours without intermission.

While there were twenty girls injured only one was seriously hurt. Miss Mary McDermott, 402 Pacific street, was caught in her home under a heavy timber. She walked to the hospital. She was night toll operator at the Douglas exchange.

The telephone company is supplying the girls whose homes were destroyed with clothing and other necessities. The operators who worked so diligently are to be handsomely rewarded by the company.

LOOTERS MAKE GOOD THEIR ESCAPE FROM SOLDIERS

At the home of S. D. Barkalow, 402 North Thirty-eighth street, the attention of soldiers was attracted Tuesday night by a noise of someone moving in the partially demolished structure. When closer investigation four men were routed from their looting and sent flying north on Thirty-eighth street. The soldiers fired on them, but the looters made good their escape.

Peculiar Incidents in Connection With Sunday Night Storm

Morris Christensen, Fifty-ninth and Walnut streets, and wife were thrown with their two children for a distance of eighty feet and buried beneath the rubbish of their own home. One of the children aged 10, was killed, while the other was apparently slightly injured. Mr. Christensen was badly shaken up and Mrs. Christensen was injured severely, perhaps internally.

Mr. Rathke, Sixty-ninth and Frank streets, was thrown for a distance of 100 feet out of his home, while his wife and two boys were thrown a half mile north. The latter were found in Olson's pasture all of them dead.

Joseph L. Tillman and daughter of Halston, were hurled 100 feet into the side of a building next to the postoffice. As he was being hurled through the air he covered his face and hands. When he regained consciousness two massive timbers were on either side of him, and he was barely scratched.

As Mr. Meadows and wife saw the storm approaching they made for the cellar. Mrs. Meadows succeeded in getting into the cellar, but her husband was left on the top steps. The entire house and even the cellar steps, was swept away, while Mr. Meadows was seated on the floor of the basement, little harmed by the passing wind.

Harry Synder, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth on Burt, stayed in his house, while the wind carried a clothes basket full of clothes through a window, moved the house from its foundation, but left two coal oil lamps burning unattended. Mrs. Synder gave birth to a baby girl Monday night at the home of her mother-in-law, Twenty-sixth and Hamilton streets.

Mrs. Cronin, with her grandson, 297 Seward, witnessed the destruction of their little home, although neither of them was injured. The windloft deposited a two-seated carriage in the parlor as it passed, but took practically the entire building in exchange.

Leo Adams, 209 Seward, has the only house left standing in that district. Although the house is left standing, the entire dwelling is gutted and bits of glass and scoundrels were driven into the walls with great force. In spite of the smashing of all the windows and the general ruin within, Adams not a dish on the shelves or in the cupboards was injured. Directly behind the house an automobile was left smashed, while its contents, garage was lifted and went sailing into the distance.

Mayor Asks that New Troops Be Sent for the Relief Work

Mayor Dahlman has telegraphed Governor Morsehead asking that the state militia now on guard duty in the storm district be relieved and other companies be brought here to replace them. Some of the militiamen of the nine companies now guarding the ruins have worked incessantly. Many of them have asked that they be allowed to go home, as their jobs are in jeopardy because of their absence. If other militiamen do not replace them, duties will be sworn in, although the city administration believes the guardsmen are more adapted to the work.

DUNDEE WOMEN TO HELP IN RELIEF WORK

More than $800 was raised at the meeting, to be turned over to the Omaha general relief committee. The supplies received at the Dundee station will be sent to the relief stations of the affiliated districts.

CHURCH MEETING IS CALLED FOR FRIDAY

All of the people connected with the Plymouth Congregational church and Sunday school are asked to meet in the United Presbyterian church, Twenty-first and Emmet streets, Friday evening at 8 o'clock to consider proper action in view of the total destruction of their church building.

The morning service on the day of the catastrophe was one of unusual beauty. Mrs. J. O. Goodwin was the soloist, the chorus choir exceeded itself, a class of nine was received into the church, the building was filled with worshippers and fragrant with the odor of lilies and hyacinths. A universal spirit of enthusiasm and good cheer pervaded the large audience, in dramatic contrast with the scene of desolation in the evening. Gratefully accepting the prompt and generous invitation of the First United Presbyterian church on Twenty-first and Emmet streets, the people of Plymouth church will hold their services and Sunday school there for the present.

REV. F. W. LEAVITT AND DAUGHTER HAVE CLOSE CALL

Rev. F. W. Leavitt, minister of Plymouth Congregational church, and his daughter, Carolyn, had a narrow escape from death in the house of W. J. Holmes, 1821 Wirt street, which was partially demolished. A huge two-by-six timber was driven into the room where they had been sitting before the storm broke. Mr. Leavitt has been given a home and a study at the residence of M. B. Costand, 1922 Wirt street, while his daughter is being cared for by Mrs. E. D. Van Court and Mrs. Katherine Van Court at 1907 Wirt street. When the walls of Plymouth church fell they did not crush the ceiling over the church study. Thus Mr. Leavitt was able to remove his library and bookcases unharmed. W. O. W. Relief Headquarters. The Woodmen of the World has opened relief headquarters on the second floor of the Woodmen of the World building, John Kennedy, city organizer manager is in charge. Needy members are invited to call.

HOT FLASHES.

Women in middle age often complain of hot flashes. They are at that stage of life when their delicate organism needs a tonic and helping-hand which only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can give them. Many women suffer needlessly from girlhood to womanhood and from motherhood to old age—with backache, dizziness or headache. A woman often becomes sleepless, nervous, "broken-down," irritable and feels tired from morning to night. When pains and aches rack the womanly system at frequent intervals, ask your neighbor about Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Mrs. J. Innor, of 821 S. Benton Street, Baltimore, Md., says: "I wrote you about nine months ago, telling you of my condition. I have a fine baby girl—she weighed nine pounds when born. She is my third child and the strongest of them all. My suffering was only for two hours. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of Dr. Pierce's 'Smart-Weed.' I never had a well day before I took your medicine. I was surprised how well I felt—could eat—was always hungry, and never had a sick stomach. The nurse who was with me said the medicine was wonderful because I got along so nicely after having had so much trouble before. She intends to recommend it to all her suffering patients. Everybody is astonished at me because I only weighed 102 pounds before and now I weigh 115. I have had several ladies come to me and ask about Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am willing to recommend it to all who suffer and want help. If any want information I will be glad to give it."
