Milwaukee Money Arrives—The $5,000 donated by the Milwaukee road to aid tornado sufferers is being distributed by General Western Agent Nash, who has been turned over to the relief committee.
The State Bank of Omaha pays 4 per cent on time deposits, 3 per cent on saving accounts. The only bank in Omaha whose depositors are protected by the Federal Reserve Act, and of the state of Nebraska. 17th and Harney streets.
Hal Buckingham Here—Hal Buckingham, former chief clerk in the freight department of the Burlington, but now vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Southern, is in town. He came over from Pittsburgh to see what effect the tornado had upon Omaha.
All Dead and Prayed—H. A. Burkland and his family at 2110 1/2 ward street fled to the cellar when they saw the tornado approaching and all, including the children, knelt and prayed. None was hurt and the house was but little damaged. A piece of a board was driven through the wall of the front room.
Lost Everything, but Saved Self—S. Fawcett, a carpenter who has lived in Omaha thirty years, lost nearly everything he had in the storm and his back was scratched so he cannot work for some time. He was also bruised about the face. The house where he lived alone at 2223 Parker was tipped over and he was knocked unconscious, but after a few hours got out without assistance.
Deaconesses Come to Help—The Iowa Training school and Eldred Deaconess home of Des Moines, Ia., has sent two of its deaconesses, Misses Thelma and Mabel Hopkinson, to Omaha to assist in the relief work. The young women will devote their time wherever the relief committee desires them to assist.
Linemen from Minneapolis—Twenty-five telephone linemen have arrived from Minneapolis and have been put to work repairing the local lines that were put out of service by the tornado.
Real Estate Men to Estimate Losses
A committee of thirty members of the Real Estate exchange, headed by D. V. Sholes, is to go over the ground covered by the tornado to estimate the losses and the insurance and to learn what mortgages are missing. This information will be tabulated and the committee will take steps to have time extended on mortgages. This plan was evolved at the meeting of the Citizens' relief committee.
A committee of the Builders' exchange consisting of A. A. Newman, Grant Parsons and Harry Rasmussen, has been selected to do what they can toward sending out members of the Builders' exchange to do building work free of charge.
Maurice Friend and C. E. Frevey of Lincoln, representing the Lincoln Commercial club, appeared before the committee during the afternoon and offered to do whatever the committee might desire of the Lincoln club.
Charles Ware and G. W. Loomis, of the Union Pacific, appeared before the committee and announced that they were raising a separate relief fund for their employees. The Union Pacific has contributed freely to the general relief fund, but now desires besides to assist its employees. They discussed the matter with the relief committee with regard to avoiding duplication of assistance.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Jerry Howard Makes Speech at Live Stock Exchange.

STOCKMEN APPLAUD HIS WORDS

Later in the Evening the "Gillia Gang" Hold Meeting and Tell Annual Story to Sleep-cious Audience.

Jerry Howard, democratic candidate for the mayoralty nomination and avowed leader of the laboring men and insurgent democrats of the city opened his campaign in the Live Stock Exchange building, where 300 men listened to his bold denunciation of present conditions in South Omaha. Howard promised that if he were elected he would clean the "Augean stables" morally, politically, and otherwise. He added that if he were elected he would recruit the police force from the "porch-climbers, high binders, hatchmen and pickpockets of Chicago and elsewhere." He also promised that the city would be free from "collections of assignation houses, slot machines, fabulous and fictitious prices for boulevards and parks."

Howard's words were applauded by the stockmen, who are naturally free from political bent for the most part. He was assured of support on all sides at the conclusion of his speech. A heeler in the crowd got word to Mayor Hoctor that his fences needed fixing and the hog boss came hurrying over the tracks ten minutes after Howard's speech. He received a cool reception.

Hoctor Has Slim Meeting. Later in the evening the expected Hoctor meeting materialized into a gathering of 115 persons in the Hoctor hall. It is said that the free use of beer, gambling and slot machines is not helping the present mayor to his much desired re-nomination.

John Fitzroberts was chairman of the meeting. The following candidates told their annual story: Tom Alton, Billy Wetzel, Murt Carey, W. E. Fitzgerald, Jack Walters, Tom Hoctor, Steve Carroll, Peter Lennagh, Jack Parks, J. J. Butler, John Devine, Bob Donahue, Pete Urdevanic, Dan Egan, I. B. Casey, S. L. Winters and Joe Pivonka.

Rose Spevak Loses Job. Rose Spevak, a young woman's scolar employed at a local packing house for six years and one of the witnesses who testified before the legislative committee that investigated the conditions surrounding women laborers in the city, was fired Tuesday by orders of one of the managers. No reason was given, and young woman for her removal. Her immediate boss could give no reason. He said it was orders from the superintendent.

Miss Spevak has worked for the packing company for six years and had attained to the position of scaler in the sausage department. She earned $9 a week and occupied a place equal to that of forewoman in a store. She testified before Chairman George Losey of the legislative committee when that body was in this city some time ago. The discharge of Miss Spevak is thought to mean the beginning of a long line of such discharges. Notwithstanding the care exercised by the committee to keep the names of the witnesses secret, it is said spies reported them.

Jerry Howard, who has been fighting for the passage of a minimum wage bill, has begun an investigation and has already gotten into communication with members of the legislature.

Much Money for Relief. Nearly $5,000 was raised yesterday at the Live Stock exchange by subscriptions from the men of the exchange, the Union Stock yards and the Traders' exchange. Fifteen hundred dollars was collected by Ed Cahow, H. Reed and John Fitzroberts. The Traders' exchange at its meeting in the afternoon voted $500-$600 for Omaha sufferers and $100 for Ralston. The other $2,500 came from the Union Stock yards, which agreed to meet the amount voted by the Live Stock exchange the day before.

In the city the Albright Social Service institute is receiving the aid for the storm sufferers. Rev. T. A. Bagshaw, in charge of the place, has received over $400 in money for the Ralston sufferers.

The Centurian club will give a repertory of its Minstrel show at the Orpheum theater on April 2 and 3 for the benefit of the tornado victims. The club has also appointed a committee to solicit funds for the needy. Morgan Healy is head of the movement.

Miss Mitchell, one time chief of police of South Omaha, was a visitor to South Omaha Tuesday. Mr. Mitchell spent a few hours visiting with old friends. He is a big merchant in Colorado now.

Storm Sufferers' Condition Critical

Reports from the Swedish Mission hospital at 2 o'clock this morning regarding the condition of John Cullis, 1504 North Thirty-first street, are that his death is expected this morning. Mr. Cullis sustained a badly fractured skull as well as internal injuries, and when taken to the hospital it was given out that his life was a matter of a few hours' duration.

At the Clarkson hospital, when a reporter for The Bee called this morning, it was stated that hope for Mrs. Holm and Mrs. Drago, as well as 7-year-old Marion Dunville, had been abandoned. All of these are seriously hurt.

At the Methodist hospital Mr. Lavidge left at noon despite terrible sufferings from his own injuries. He made preparations for the funeral of his wife and babe.

The names of the following were given out from the Omaha General as victims who have slight chances for recovery: Mrs. H. N. Adams, 515 South Fifty-first street, blood poisoning induced by broken leg; Mrs. Ella Golden, 2802 North Twenty-fifth street, internal injuries, knee and right arm broken; Mrs. George Jackson, 2514 Pratt street, internal injuries.

Marked improvement is shown in the condition of William Eck, whose case was at first thought hopeless. It is now thought that he will live.

AMOROUS SWAIN DECLARES LOVE, BUT FLEES IN STORM

With the lights turned down and the curtains drawn, two youthful lovers sat in a parlor of a residence in the north end of the city Sunday night. The young man was telling his wife-to-be of his great love for the sweetest girl in the whole world as he gazed into her upturned, sparkling orbits. "Honey, I would die for you; yes, I would suffer all the tortures of hell to save you from one minute of sorrow," he softly whispered in her plump ear, while the girl's little brother squirmed in his cramped position under the davenport.

As he uttered these endearing words the tornado struck that section of the city and went sweeping by the house in its destructive path. With a yell of fear the young lover jumped from the arms of the girl and sought refuge under the table in the dining room, pulling the covering down over his crouched form and beseeched mercy, leaving the girl standing in the center of the parlor.

Started, the girl stood still, shaking with fear. When the excitement had somewhat abated the girl turned around expecting to find her lover standing beside her, but instead, he was nowhere to be seen.

The girl's brother discovered the panic-stricken young man under the table and pointed out his hiding place. When assured the house was not struck by the cyclone, the amorous swain counted to crawl from under the table.

Now the youth is richer by one diamond ring and poorer by the loss of one girl.

The Forty-Year Test. An article must have exceptional merit to survive for forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From that beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until it has attained a world wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. It not only gives relief, it cures. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.
