grow. Another was that the two or three cold spells over Texas and Oklahoma the last few days may have done some injury to the plant. Strength was shown at Minneapolis when the May price went to 86c. This encouraged some price went to 86c. This encouraged some buying in Chicago and Omaha. The market appears to be without any decided tendency at the present a little over tendency at the present, a little over selling one day followed by a good rally the next. Cash wheat was unchanged. There is a tired feeling in the specula-tive trade in corn futures. Two or three times yesterday the May price was advanced close to 53%c and July at one time close to 54%c. The trade was extremely dull at the time and the market was helped by the bull turn, in wheat. The cash trade all over the country is paralyzed by the floods, which prevent business. less with the east. Sentiment in the Chicago trade is bearish, but there is a hesitation about pressing the selling side of the market because on each break of any importance bull leadership is feit and sellers are obliged to cover with losses. Cash corn was unchanged to be lower.

At the same time receipts have been pienty large enough to supply the demand. The highwater in the east cutting off railross communication has made it very difficult for packers to forward meat products and still more difficult for eastern packing houses to ship live cattle. As a result of this the markt on all kinds of cattle has experienced a sharp decline during the week, notwithstanding the light receipts.

At the close of the week heavy beef steers are right around 25c lower, with the lighter weights around 1500c lower. Cows and heifers, and in fact all kinds of butcher stock shows about the same decline, being generally 1500s lower than a week ago. last week and the smallest of any week

HOGS-Receipts were rather liberal this morning, but advices from other markets were of an encouraging nature and the feeling at the local yards was better from the outset. Shippers and speculators apparently had good sized orders and they started out buying light and butcher weight hogs at prices that were anywhere from strong to 5c higher. Pacaers seemed equally eager for anything on the light order, but mixed and heavy hogs were in very poor demand and prices for this class of stuff were at no time better than steady. The market has been rather uneven all week and not much change has been noted in either direction. Heavies have just about held their own all week, while lights are from 5c to in the case of toppy stuff, as much as a dime higher than at the close of last week. On the whole, values are a scant nickel higher than last Saturday. Since the atorms of the first of the week the demand has been slacked off. Owing to the fact that none of the eastern roads are maintaining a service up to the average and some of them are almost entirely out of commission, packers are not taking on some of them are almost entirely out of commission, packers are not taking on any surplus supply, and the demand for live stock has suffered accordingly. Today's supply amounted to about 113 cars, or 8,900 head, carrying the week's total up to 52,618. This is over 15,500 larger than last week, 4,000 heavier than two weeks ago and almost 6,000 more than were received during the corresponding week last year.

HEEP—There were no new arrivals today, therefore the trade remains nominally steady with Friday.

The week-end finds values in general on a sharply lower basis with lambs and wetners suffering the most decline. The bulk of the decent kitting lamsb are now selling at a range of $8.1078,50, as against $8.003.75 at the close of last week or largely School lower than a week ago. As itsual of late the most inquiry has been for the lighter grades of good quality, though owing to a relative scattly of Members Adopt Ordinance Providing though owing to a relative scarcity of such hinds, the heavier ones sold to a good advantage on some days. The lamb market was well supported by feeder buyers, who bought a larger percentage of the offerings than usual both on shearing and finishing account. Strictly feeding lambs are bringing prices around $7.00$$500, while shearers are moving mostly at second 17.50px 00. The week's receipts have been light, the estimates unling for 25.00 head as against 59.100 head two weeks ago and 57.300 head during the corresponding time on, year ago.
