SAINTS IN CONFERENCE EXPECT NEW MESSAGE

LAMONI. Is., April 6 .- (Special Tele gram.)-This morning the annual general conference of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints assembled and organized by choosing the first presidency of the church to preside over the sessions. Frederick M. Smith. first counselor of his father, Joseph Smith, president of the church, was in charge and called upon several leading men for ten-minute speeches. They were: Apostle W. H. Kelly, president of the Quorum of Twelve; H. O. Smith, president of the Seventles, the missionary body of the church; Charles Derry, for sixty-five years a minister of this church Bishop E. L. Kelley, the financial head of the church.

An inspiring chorus from "The Crucifixion," was sung by a choir of eightyfive voices led by the general chorister of the church, Albert N. Noxie, jr., of Philadelphia. Mrs. W. N. Robinson of national fame, sang a solo.

Large congregations assembled this aftrnoon for communion services, a feature of which was a large assembly in the lower auditorium composed entirely of men holding the meschisider or higher priesthood of the church. This meeting was presided over by F. M. Smith.

The Saints throughout the church are observing this day as a fast day, praying for a profitable conference, expecting confidently that the Lord will speak to them through their aged prophet if h has a message for them this year Though feeble, blind and a sufferer much of the time, this venerable and much beloved leader is in attendance at this conference, though the active duties of pre siding are left to his son and counselor,

The legislative assembly, which is now drawing to a close, has had a peculiar experience with the troublesome lobby question. There has been a considerable lobby present at all times representing various interests, but not a larger number of hangers on than usual. Early in the session, owing to a sharp division on the plans for road legislation, the special interests desiring radical road legislation. started the story that there was a bridge lobby at work to defeat their plans for road legislation. As a result of this they attracted the attention of Officer Lane whene they were urging forward an exhausted horse, covered with foam and apparently on the point of dropping to the pavement, while they were passing the Junction of Pearl and Broadway late Saturday night. When the officer stopped them, both young men attempted to make a getaway, but were caught and sent to the station and the horse sent to the Minnick livery barn. The men admitted that they had hired the horse and buggy from the Collins livery barn in Omaha and had been driving pretty hard. They were held at the station for several hours while the Omaha livery men were communicated with. Later in the night they were permitted to deposit cash bonds of $5 each for their appearance in police court this morning.

URGE SUMMARY PROBES

WASHINGTON, April 6.-Perry Belmont and former Senator William E. Chandler addressed a letter today to Senator Kern, majority leader in the upper house, pressing for favorable action upon amendments proposed to the campaign publicity law to empower federal courts to order summary inquests into alleged infractions of the publicity laws, upon proper petitions of certain federal officers or any ten voters. The same provision was stricken from an original publicity bill on its passage through congress.
