

POLICE COURT IS ENRICHED

All Records Broken for Bonds Forfeited and Fines Assessed.

FUNDS INCREASED BY $1,342

Men Who Testified They Went to Restaurant After Beer Are Let Off by the Judge Without a Fine.

Frenzied finance in the strictest sense of the word was enacted yesterday in police court when all local records for high fines and forfeited bonds were shattered with the grand total of $1,342, this amount being rendered by the department by inmates of the disorderly houses raised by the police Saturday night when 139 were arrested. The next highest previous amount was reached on February 17 of this year, when the total amounted to $100.

Judge Foster and his henchmen in order to get the affair through in as little time as possible took the inmates arrested according to the house they were frequenting when picked up. First on the program was the chop suey parlor of Louis Ahko, 1419 Douglas street, with inmates numbering fourteen, all of whom were given brief hearings individually, and with five exceptions fined $5 and costs. Three of the men discharged were Chinese waiters in the place, and the other two inmates, Akko himself to be known in California, and his wife, who had charge of the establishment, made her getaway from a rear window when the officers arrived.

Admitted They Had Beer. Next in line came Sam Joe's Unique cafe, which is known to the Elite. The "elite" of the Unique when ranged before the magistrate were fined $5 and costs each, except Mike Haisen and John McFarland, the first and only men during the entire morning who testified that they had entered one of the raided places for the purpose of buying beer.

Judge Foster complimented the two as being honest men and discharged them with a brief warning that "the wages of sin is something and costs."

Inmates of The Turf cafe, run by Charles King at 1326 Douglas street, upstairs, were all treated to $5 and costs, but three, Morse Rasmussen, when asked by Foster what he was doing in the cafe, stated that he had gone there with the intention of procuring a bowl of tomato soup, but failed to get it. Judge Foster told him to try again, but seek it in a place of different character. Chris Thompson and two companions bent on celebrating Thompson's birthday, journeyed from South Omaha to the Turf, and upon sitting themselves at the table perceived that beer had been laid for three. Judge Foster said this was rare perception on the part of the Turf management and fined the three $5 and costs apiece.

Foster Recognizes Beer. At the Nanking, 1313 Douglas street, which is run under the generalship of Charles King, inmates were disposed of with the above abandon, during which, evidence consisting of two partially depleted bottles and half-filled cups of beer were submitted to the judge. The magistrate smelled the receipts with the sniff of a connoisseur and then made known to his eager disciples that "it was beer, all right."

Six inmates from the Horseshoe hotel, formerly the Charles, 1419 Dodge street, were each treated to $5 and costs. The frequenters of Bessie Woods' house at Eleventh and Leavenworth, most of whom were women, forfeited bonds of $25. Bessie, herself, failed to appear and thereby relinquished her claim on her $100 bond.

According to a census taken by Tom O'Connor after court, forty-five paid fines, totalling, with costs, $522. Twenty-nine inmates were discharged.

COMMERCE SCHOOL TO HOLD EXAMINATIONS

Principal L. C. Ruessel has announced that the postponed mid-term examinations will take place some time this week. He assured the pupils, however, that on account of recent disturbances in school caused by the student demonstrators the examinations would be no more difficult than the usual weekly examinations. The mid-term report cards are to be given out Friday, April 13, and must be returned Monday, April 14.

OMAHA WATER BOARD MUST PAY LABORER BACK WAGES

Decision that the Omaha Water board must pay Tony Sesto, former employe of the board, $500 for overtime in addition to $13.50 back pay, which the board admitted was due him, was made by Justice Claiborne. The Water board served notice that it would appeal.

CONFESED ROBBERS BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT

Charles Williams and Henry Johnson, who confessed Saturday to having held up and robbed John Finney, a Minnesota farmer, at Ninth and Capitol avenue, waived hearing in police court and were bound over to the district court at bonds placed at $1,000.

Recommended for a Good Reason.

C. H. Grant, 236 Waverly St., Peoria, Ill., says: "Backache and congested kidneys made me suffer intense pains. Was given three or four prescriptions or procurers, and that all efforts, who were innocent of wrong-doing, and yet had been in the places raided, would be permitted to go free. After they arrived interpreters fell into a dispute as to how to translate them."

Snow in the West Melts Fast and the Small Streams Rise

Railroads operating up in Wyoming and South Dakota report an abundance of flood water, but not enough so far to cause any damage to company property. Reports to both the Burlington and Northwestern are to the effect that all Sunday a Chinook wind swept Wyoming western Nebraska and South Dakota, melting the snow very rapidly and filling the streams bank full. Sunday night the weather cooled off and the waters receded. Warm weather again prevails, but temperatures are not so high as Sunday, consequently the water is being held back.

The Burlington and Northwestern report a body of snow twelve inches deep covering all of the country north of the Black Hills and west as far as the mountains. Along the Missouri river some of the roads are experiencing any trouble from the flood waters. At Blair, on the Northwestern, the water is high in the Missouri, in many places out of the banks and flooding the lowlands.

The Burlington is again experiencing a little difficulty with the new work put in at Folsom, below Council Bluffs, but the bank is not being cut to any extent. On the lowlands the river is out of its banks, covering all the way from Council Bluffs to Pacific Junction. Trains on the Missouri Pacific report flood conditions along the river all the way from Kansas City to Omaha, the streams being out of its banks everywhere along the lowlands. Many farms are submerged and farm buildings that generally are erected on high spots, have the appearance of islands far out from land.

Pure Food Exhibit at Hayden Bros. is Interesting Many

Some thirty demonstrations in various lines of food products, showing the best and more economical way of using them are being shown in the grocery department at Hayden's store. The exhibition will continue for two weeks.

Each hour in the charge of a demonstrator, who not only expatiates on the true value of the product, but shows what process it should be put through before served at the table.

One demonstration in particular, is very attractive and shows how easily a palatable dessert may be made.

But few women know what delicacies can be made out of the powdered Jello, and have no conception of it until they visit the pure food show at Hayden's store and see the many dishes on display.

The Paxton & Gallagher company is showing its lines of Yellowstone canned fruits and vegetables. The Dacotah Wheat company of Aberdeen, S. D., has a wheat food on display and Hayden's Diamond II coffee is served.

The river police continue to drag a sharp lookout for the body. All the hotels in London have been visited for evidence and the police are now making a house to house search among lodging and boarding houses. They are working on the theory that Martin has left the country and for purposes of his own is keeping his movements secret.

The pocketbook and opera hat may have been thrown from the window of a train, the police say. Expert criminals, the police believe would have destroyed them. The only credit Martin ever had at a London bank was exhausted on the occasion of a previous visit, but it is believed he carried credit notes.

Protest is Made Against Method Used in Raids

Such an insistent wall of protest against the action of the police department in taking the innocent as well as the guilty in the Saturday night raids has struck the city hall that Chief of Police Dunn has announced that henceforth greater discrimination would be shown in holding inmates of joints raided.

Mayor Dahman's office was crowded throughout the day by those who had been arrested and taken to the police station because they were in certain restaurants and chop suey places raided Saturday night.

"First time I ever went to this restaurant," said one man. "After closing my shop Saturday night I asked my wife if she didn't want a chop suey, and together we went to this restaurant. We were not drinking beer; we were not disorderly and yet we were arrested and fined, as though we were disorderly, drunken and disreputable. I think it is an outrage."

SHOULD STATE CASE NOW

Storm Sufferers Should Not Hesitate About Making Needs Known.

WELL PREPARED AT THIS TIME

Relief Committee is in Position to Help Anyone, but Later On the Stragglers Case Will Not Receive Good Attention.

"Let your wants be known right now." This is the cry of the relief committee that has been caring for hundreds of cases in need of relief since the tornado three weeks ago. The committee is anxious that people, who were affected by the storm, make their needs known while the relief machinery is in running order, and while every department of that work is on the job to take care of cases.

"We have free legal aid to burn," said J. M. Guild commenting on the relief organization, "and we have all the relief desks working. We have the rebuilding work going on under one department and the restoration committee has its desks available to those who need its assistance. Now is the time for afflicted ones to speak. We cannot be here on the job all summer, and we don't want to hear of some stragglers cases in a month or two from now, when the work is no longer organized and equipped to handle needs of the unfortunate."

Approval Was in Demand. Clothing and shoes went to more families than any other form of relief, the figures for the work up to the close of last week showing that even groceries were issued to fewer families than were shoes and clothing. Bedding was furnished next in volume to clothing and groceries, then came coal and furniture.

Figures show that the following number of families have been given relief in the stated lines:

Each hour in the charge of a demonstrator, who not only expatiates on the true value of the product, but shows what process it should be put through before served at the table.

One demonstration in particular, is very attractive and shows how easily a palatable dessert may be made.
