

PREDICTED RETURN IN BAGGAGE COACH INSTEAD OF PULLMAN

The Family Doctor of Wm. J. Booth of Mate-Wan, Mingo County, W. Va., Told His Relatives to Meet Him on Return from the Electro-Oxygen Co. Institution with a Hearse. The story of What He Calls a Miracle.

"A physical wreck barely alive." The above sentence hardly does justice to the pitiful condition of Mr. William J. Booth, of Mate-Wan, Mingo county, West Virginia, when he arrived at the institute. Scarcely less wonderful than the relief effected was the fact that a human being could be in such shape and yet live. His sworn testimony, voluntarily given, may be of benefit to those who suffer and yet stubbornly refuse to believe that relief may be obtained for the seemingly strange reason that the institute makes no half-way claims, but sweeping statements. It is a remarkable fact that there are sufferers in this world who would come instantly if the institute simply offered relief, partial help and a reduction of suffering.

These same people probably accept unhesitatingly a statement made in the papers that such and such a number of men were killed in a certain railroad accident, and refuse to accept it can and has accomplished. They forget that the newspaper correspondent might have an axe to grind. He was an unknown to the doctors of the institution as they were to him, excepting, of course, what he read of them and their work. He says:

"For the last three years my complication of ailments practically kept me confined to my bed. Sometimes I would stay up for two or three weeks, but only at rare intervals. I was partially paralyzed, my liver was in terrible shape. I had asthma so I hardly slept for fifteen minutes. Now, at the noblest hotel in the city, I sleep like a baby. As to my heart, I had frequent spells, when it acted seemingly like a chicken with its head cut off. I must have tried fully a dozen doctors, but the result was always the same—no better. At the time of reading of you I was preparing to go to New York for the purpose of consulting a specialist. When I informed my physician that I had decided to give up the New York trip, he told me the first treatment would kill me. I went, nevertheless, accompanied by Mr. W. B. Steels, of the Redd Jacket Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, as I was far too weak to go alone. They diagnosed my case thoroughly, placing before me the forces which enabled not only the doctors, but Mr. Steels, to see every organ in my body. I took fourteen treatments of body. I took fourteen treatments of feet like a new man. Money cannot pay for what the experts did for me. And my family need not meet me with a hearse."

In the face of such convincing testimony as the above, are all you who suffer and refuse to believe, going to continue your foolish, stubborn course, when a visit to the institution will obtain an examination and diagnosis free of charge. If so, your case is indeed hopeless, for all the help in the world will be of no avail to those who refuse to be helped.

The force is a new electric current, the like of no other. Whether you have a skin disease, trouble with kidneys or liver, catarrh, stomach trouble, paralysis or deafness, the result will be the same. It cleans out all harmful germs and waste tissues and replaces them with healthy, strong blood cells and new tissues.

Mr. J. K. Stewart is loud in his praises, after being relieved of a severe case of stomach trouble. Mrs. A. Gross has been relieved of a severe case of liver trouble. Mrs. Christ Underwood has just reported that many gall stones were removed from her after the first treatment.

TAXI BILL IS MARKED PAID

Acme Company Sends Receipted Bill to Relief Committee.

DRIVERS DONATE THEIR TIME

One of the Bills Dead-Headed Is for the Car Which Carried the Boy to Fort Omaha to Notify Major Hartman.

The Acme Auto and Taxi Livery company has rendered a receipted bill to the relief committee for $40 for the services of three automobiles on the night of the tornado. In rendering the bill R. E. Spencer of the company writes the following letter: "My drivers have agreed to donate their time furnished on the night of March 23, and you will therefore please consider this bill paid in full as a donation to the relief fund for tornado victims from Acme Auto and Taxi Livery and drivers."

It was one of these cars that brought Major Hartman from Fort Omaha and got him on the ground by 6:45 in the evening. James McKinney, 256 Mason street, was the driver who brought the major to the scene of action. He was sent by a policeman toward Fort Omaha to overtake him if he could. The student who was running out there to report the calamity, in overtaking the student some distance from the fort and carried him to Major Hartman. The lights were out at the fort as well as elsewhere. The major drew the student into the dim light of a candle and looked him over as he told the story of the tornado. He then ordered the troops out, slipped into his uniform and hopped into the car. At 6:45 McKinney shut down the machine at Twenty-fourth and Miami streets to let the major out.

"Stay right here and don't you move until I come back," said the major as he leaped out of the car.

"That was 6:45 o'clock. At 2 o'clock Monday morning Mrs. Hartman at Fort Omaha answered her telephone. Mr. McKinney was on the line. "Where is Major Hartman?" asked McKinney. Mrs. Hartman informed him that she could not tell, except that the major was somewhere in the tornado district. "Well, he told me to wait for him here early in the evening," said the voice. "And I have been on this spot ever since." He hung up the phone. Shortly after that he decided he had played "the boy on the burning deck" long enough and he pulled away with his machine. He had stayed at his post just eight hours through the excitement of that fearful night, when dozens of auto drivers were breaking promises right and left in order to make big money making special trips. For those eight hours the company charged at the rate of $5 which was $40. Two other automobiles from the same company were used for several doctors

The Society Bee-Hive

By MELLIFLOIA. Friday, April 18, 1913.

IT WAS in the wind that a certain young woman of Omaha became engaged while she was visiting Milwaukee recently, and I accordingly called her up regarding the announcement.

"Which one, please?" came an earnest inquiry.

"Why, the one," I answered, "that was recently visiting here from Milwaukee."

"Mercy me! That doesn't give me any particular clue," she answered, rather perplexed. "You see there have been six different ones from Milwaukee."

"But surely you must know the one I refer to," I answered.

However, she was very much a woman and wasn't quite sure.

And so it follows that there is quite a lot of complexity among her friends regarding just whom the fiance is.

GOVERNMENT AIDS IN RELIEF

Colonel Baxter Has Government Teams Hauling Supplies.

ARMY GOODS REQUISITIONED

Large Number of Blankets Are Issued to Sufferers—Tents Are Ordered and Other Aid is Given.

Lieutenant Colonel John E. Baxter, in charge of the quartermaster's department of the army at Omaha, has been giving good service in the relief work in the way of furnishing the government's means of transportation and other facilities for handling the supplies in the relief work. He has worked from two to three government teams and seasons in the relief work throughout most of the time. Colonel Baxter took an active part in the relief work following the flood at Galveston, Tex., several years ago, and like Major Hartman, who was in the relief work at San Francisco, is experienced in this line of work.

Throughout the relief work in Omaha the regular army troops were fed and cared for by the federal government just as they would have been if they had remained at Fort Omaha. Thus the federal troops have been no expense to Omaha or the state, aside from the expense incurred for automobile hire for Major Hartman.

Besides this, Major Hartman put in a

1,000 of which were issued to persons in the storm-swept district. They are worth $2.80 apiece and this represents $4,821. Four hundred tents were also ordered from St. Louis by the army. Only a small number of these were ever issued to the sufferers, however, as most of the people had been housed before the tents arrived. Most of the tents will likely be returned to army headquarters. They are worth $14.50 apiece.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD CARES FOR ITS MEMBERS

The Woodmen of the World have been doing relief work among their members since the evening of the tornado. John Kennedy was placed in charge of the Woodmen of the World relief committee on the second floor of the Woodmen of the World building. Up to date something over $4,000 has come into the relief fund at that place from the various camps in Omaha and South Omaha. They have not yet all reported, although all are raising a fund. There are fifteen camps of the order in Omaha and South Omaha.
