The general impression that the state will have no 1913 election unless established by a decision of the supreme court, has led the executive board of the Nebraska Suffrage association to decide form came from the legislature in its cloming days, leaving too little time for securing the necessary $8,000 signers before July 1, had the matter of an election been less uncertain.

The Lincoln Equal Franchise league is backing an elaborate production of the play "Miss Dotty Dimples," by George Ade, for three evenings and a matinee on May 8, 9 and 10. The cast of principal characters is drawn from the several dramatic schools, but the fancy drills will include several hundred children, the university cadets and uniformed drill teams from many organizations. Professional play promoters have entire charge, furnishing all costumes as well as the electrical effects for the spectacular features. The suffragists of Lincoln share in the net proceeds, and look forward to a full treasury for their summer work.

Bee Building to Have National Metal Weather Strip Soon

F. H. Turney & Co. of Omaha were given the contract yesterday for placing their national metal weather strip on all windows in the Bes building. This product is recognized as one of the superior makes of the country and is used in many of the large buildings in Omaha. Its advantages are so many that the Turney company has no trouble in winning cusomers in all sections of the state.

With the weather strip on the windows of the Bee building tenants of this modern office establishment will be protected from dust in the summer and from draughts in the winter. The strip fills up the holes in windows and prevents the summer winds from pouring dust into rooms and covering all furniture with dirt. One knows well how annoying only natural that the weather strip should be much in demand since it does away with this fault.

With weather strips on the windows there is less sweeping to be done, there are no draughts to fear and no rattling windows to bother one; then there is a great deal of protection from street noises, too.

The National metal weather strip No. has become very popular. It is constructed of a much heavier metal than many other strips, and is the best strip in use in this section of the country. Turney & Co. installed their weather strip in the Omaha postoffice building, the contract for this work being the argest of its kind ever let in Nebraska Not only has this strip been placed on windows in the large business blocks of the city, but it also has been installed in many of the residences of the city. It this fact is a favorite everywhere.

Trust Company is Powerful in Doing Great Good Business

There are incidents, both numerous and pathetic, in the daily routine and bustess of the modern trust company which disprove the general idea that a corporation has no "soul." One of the reasons why men confide the administration of the Recreation of the Young." by Prof. financing a home is that of using other their estates to their lawyers or confidential friends to act as executor or capital from a regular monthly income, corporation with a great many duties to The Bankers' Realty Investment com- attend to, is not able to give the personal posed of hundreds of Omaha and Ne- supposed to render. But perhaps the strongest reason is supplied by the great number of exposures of cases where men betray their trusts, abscond with the funds left in their care for widows and children or yield to the temptation to speculate.

The trust company is frequently called upon to perform curious and interesting services which indicates that it is not a machine, but very human. In New York City a trust company was recently called upon, in accordance with the will of a deceased person, to have the remains cremated, then conveyed on an ocean liner, by special messenger to the Mediterranean, where the ashes were "cast to the four winds." The trust company faithfully performed this duty.

The case recited above most forcibly illustrates one of the great principles which has made the trust company so successful and useful, both in this community and throughout the country. It proves that this corporation, which like Tennyson's poem, "lives on forever," can carry out the instructions of a testator in a manner that no individual can be expected to do. It often happens that when a lawyer or confidential friend has been appointed to take charge of an estate he dies before the estate is settled up or divided. Then the court appoints a successor, who is likely to be an absolute stranger to the heirs, or one who would woman leaving the estate.
