LIES TELLS OF RED CROSS MIX

Tries to Explain Why Money for Relief Was Not Sent Here.

MEETS THE JOINT COMMITTEE

Says There is Still a Chance for Omaha to Get Some Money if the Proper Showing is Made.

A protracted meeting of the various relief committees and executive and public affairs committees of the Commercial club Monday went over the situation with respect to funds in hand and in prospect with Eugene T. Lies, representing the National Red Cross society. Mr. Lies has been in Omaha a couple of days and for his benefit a recital of work done and to be done was made by John L. Kennedy for the restoration committee. T. J. Mohoney for the relief committee and Robert Cowell for the state relief committee. Others participating in the discussion included Mayor Dahlman, City Commissioner Butler, John H. Guild, John L. McCague and General Cowin.

Lies Explains.

In response, Mr. Lies went into great detail explaining the various activities of the Red Cross society and disclaiming any responsibility for turning over money contributed by donors under the impression that they were helping Omaha, but added there was still an opportunity to secure Red Cross help if a proper showing were made that such help was really needed.

Woman's Club Has Discussion as to Sunday Base Ball

Sunday base ball games and moving picture shows were the subjects discussed at the meeting of the Social Science department of the Omaha Woman's club Monday afternoon. Both sides of the question as to the ill-effects and benefits of attendance at these amusements were spoken of by the members of this department.

The fact that men could attend the base ball games on Saturday in many cases was called to mind and it was lamented that these men should attend the Sunday games when they had the privilege of attending the game on a week day.

The educational side of moving picture shows were discussed and it was suggested that a committee from this department be appointed to visit some of the better class of these shows and give their approval to them. No action other than the suggestion for the leader to appoint a committee was taken.

At the close of the program a short business meeting was held and officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Leader, Mrs. F. A. Follansbee; first assistant, Mrs. F. J. Hirs; second assistant, Mrs. Sherman Felt; third assistant, Mrs. C. B. Coon; treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Adams. The election of secretary was left to the appointment of the executive committee with the name of Miss Margaret Guthrie for the office, pending the election of officers for the coming year. She would accept it. Mrs. F. J. Hirs, who has been leader of the department for the last three years, was nominated for leader, but declined the honor, as her duties elsewhere take too much of her time.

The meeting adjourned to be called during the summer for the postponed program of Easter Monday to be given at the called meeting.

RELIEF SUPPLIES DIVIDED

Clothing at Auditorium Allotted to Charitable Institutions. TO VACATE THE AUDITORIUM. New Headquarters Are Opened in the Elks' Building—Supplies to Be Bought Now as They Are Needed.

Fifteen institutions are receiving the second-hand clothing of the relief committee which has not been needed at the Auditorium in the relief work. The committee will move into a vacant room on the first floor of the Elks' building, 213 South Fifteenth street, by Wednesday evening in order to have the Auditorium clear by April 24.

After selecting a nice gray spring suit in the clothing department for a man who was seriously injured in the tornado, the relief workers who were formerly in charge of station No. 4 received word just before sending it out that their beneficiary had died of the effects of his injuries. It was one of the women who quickly suggested that a gray suit was not appropriate in the light of the knowledge of the unfortunate man's death. So they quietly set to work to select a black suit for the deceased. They had selected it and were preparing to send it when Henry F. Meyers spoke:

"Now, folks, that is a good suit, but really, I believe the man should have a new suit instead of that second-hand suit to be buried in."

A few hasty remarks passed among the workers. Someone remembered that this man had worked for twenty-five years to gain a little home of his own and then the Pythians of Omaha the sum of $3,000 to aid in the restoration work among its members in this city. The supreme chancellor, through the supreme representative of Nebraska, W. W. Young of Stanton, and a local committee from Nebraska lodge, No. 1, of Omaha made a thorough canvass of the loss among the knights of Omaha, and as a result has forwarded the sum of $3,000.

The check was sent to W. T. Denney, a past grand chancellor of Nebraska, and will be disbursed by him with the cooperation of the local committee from Nebraska lodge, No. 1.

The clothing is the largest item to be moved from the Auditorium. When the committee establishes headquarters in the Elks' building it will not maintain a second-hand clothing department, but will on occasions draw on the various institutions to which it has apportioned the clothing. The committee does not expect to dispense much clothing from this date forward.

The new headquarters will be used more for office room than any other purpose, as they will not be large enough to furnish a supply depot. Some of the groceries now at the station can be returned to the wholesale houses, where it will be redeemed. The same can be done with some of the furniture and some of the boxes of new clothing. The purchasing department will then purchase only in such amounts as are required from day to day in order to avoid crowding the headquarters.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS GIVE $3,000 FOR RELIEF WORK. The supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, through its supreme chancellor, Thomas E. Carling, has placed at the disposal of
