Mr. Fielding contends that he has been rendered physically incompetent to ply his trade, at which he was able to make $2.50 per day, and unable to support his family, as the result of an accident which befell him on October 17, 1912, and for which the said company and its employees stated were wholly responsible.

DUTY OF BOARD INDEFINITE

Taxation Body's Work is Not Clearly Outlined.

MIXUP OVER TWO BILLS

Measure Outlining Duties Does Not Go Through, but Governor Signs One that Makes an Appropriation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, April 25.—(Special.)—A peculiar condition has arisen in legislative doings regarding the bill creating a taxation and revenue commission. The bill as it was introduced in the senate created a commission which was to serve without pay and its duties were to seek out and investigate conditions with the idea of discovering a better method to be used by Nebraska and report to the next legislature. The house amended the bill, appropriating $2,500 for expenses of the commission. A conference committee was appointed, which practically drew a new bill appropriating $5,000 for the use of the commission to carry on the work and the appropriation bill includes that amount.

Must Wrap All Bread Delivered to Patrons

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., April 25.—(Special.)—An order will be issued from the office of Pure Food Commissioner Harman at once demanding that all bread be wrapped before delivery. "I am making this order," said Mr. Harman, "because of a little experience I had when coming to the state house this morning. The driver of a bread wagon stopped close to me, jumped out of his wagon, gathered up four or five loaves of bread in his hands and took them into a house. When he came out he jumped back in his wagon, gathered up the dirty lines in his hands and started to drive away, when I stopped him and asked him if that was the way he generally delivered bread. He said that it was. "A little later I saw another driver doing the same thing and I accosted him and received the same reply. I informed this man who I was and he promptly put me next to the fact that these bread wagons are generally kept over night in some barn or livery stable and taken out in the morning without any cleaning whatever. Therefore I have issued the order that all loaves of bread shall be wrapped and that the wagons used for the purpose of delivering the same shall not be kept in these unsanitary places, and I propose to see that the order is carried out. This will apply to all parts of the state."

New Account System For Institutions

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., April 25.—(Special.)—The state auditor's office has received a sample of the book to be used by each state institution for keeping track of its appropriations and the amounts paid out for supplies. Soon after the new officers were inaugurated Auditor Howard became convinced that a better system of keeping account of supplies could be inaugurated and, with the assistance of E. J. Robinson of his office, prepared a draft of the kind of book necessary and submitted it to Governor Neuharth for his consideration. The governor at once saw the need for such a book and authorized the state auditor to go ahead and complete the plans and draft a bill covering the proposition, which was done. The book as now submitted is kept in such a manner that at a glance one may see the exact standing of every account and every item, which will be listed separately. Sugar will have a column, as will every other item, and will not be listed as groceries. The book will last several years.

Housewives Combat Phone Company Claim

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, April 25.—(Special.)—The Lincoln Telephone company is still on the carpet before the railway commission on the charge of not giving sufficient and satisfactory service to its patrons. Most of the morning was spent with evidence given by several of the irate housewives of Lincoln, who complained that they could not get service quick enough to get in all they desired to communicate to other members of the woman's clubs to which they belonged. "In fact," said one woman, "I tried to talk to thirty of my neighbors the other afternoon on important matters concerning our club and I couldn't get one of them."

HARTIGAN FOR REMOVAL; SAYS ITS BEST FOR SCHOOL

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, April 25.—(Special.)—J. C. Hartigan of Fairbury, assistant general under the Shalshberger administration, was a visitor at the state house. When asked by a Bee reporter how the people of Jefferson county stood on the proposition of removing the university to the state farm, the general very emphatically

The day we fail to give the best clothes for the money, is the day this great store fails in its mission

King-Peck Hats Cast a Shadow of Refinement. Whether a derby or a soft hat, if it comes from this store you can rely on it being correct. Every wanted style and color from $2.00 to $10.00

It is true that this store has a mission—the one it has maintained, unaltered, since the first day its doors were opened to the public—viz: "to give the best values always." It's plain, easily understood, and it's been a powerful factor in placing this store in advance of all others. In order to give better clothing values, we instituted newer, more modern buying and selling methods. We adopted the most exacting system known of selecting and testing all fabrics that enter our suits—demanded a uniform mode of tailoring in all suits, regardless of price—we satisfy ourselves with a less margin of profit, believing in many sales with small profit in preference to a few sales with exorbitant profits. This system has won out for us. It distinguishes this store from all others. It points the way for you, sir, to clothes satisfaction.

stated that the Jefferson county folks were for removal.

"I think it is the only right solution of the matter," said General Hartigan. "The longer the university stays on the downtown campus the less productive it will be of the very best results, as far as turning out good men and women is concerned. When the people of Nebraska send their sons and daughters to the state university they, to a certain extent, place them in the care of the people of Lincoln, and Lincoln owes it to those to place every safeguard around them."

"You cannot get the very best results from an university surrounded as ours is by the conditions which exist in the first place it is too near the business center of the city. In the time it has been in its present location it has educated the business men of Lincoln into the belief that it is a part of the city instead of the state. They have come to believe that it is a necessary adjunct to their business success. "They think that if it is removed they will be financial losers. They are looking more to their financial success than to the success of the boys and girls sent to the institution an dthe time has come to settle the matter as to whether the state is under obligations to the people of Lincoln or the people of Lincoln under obligation to the fathers and mothers out in the state to do the best they can for the boys and girls. "I think when the people of the state at large come fully to understand the true situation that the vote for removal of the university will be almost a unanimous thing, outside of the city of Lincoln, of course."
