SCHOOL AND COLLEGE WORK

What May Be Done with Rural Schools Rightly Conducted.

AN EXAMPLE WORTH COPYING

Approaching End of School Year Spurring Work in State and Private Institutions—Educational Notes.

A new system of rural education, backed by energy and state assistance, was instituted in Minnesota three years ago. New buildings, better equipment and teachers who not only taught the three R's, but also taught large boys and girls how to make life in the country enjoyable, lifted school life out of the deadening rut of former years. The result has been, according to a paper by Governor Adolph O. Elbert in the World's Work for April, that the present attendance of the Minnesota schools ranges from 15 to 150 pupils each, whereas the former attendance was five to twenty-five pupils. There are sixty-one consolidated rural schools, and about 100 applications for such institutions are pending. Surely this means success and progress. Since the consolidated schools are far apart, the children are conveyed to and from them in covered wagons containing foot warmers, and this has encouraged the building of good roads. "Minnesota," the governor writes, "has found that this system is vastly more economical than the old." The schools are used as recreation centers, and moving picture shows are given in them; books and music make for real culture as well as the enjoyment of life and contentment with the country.

Class of 1913, Dental College, Creighton University

Thirty will be presented by Dr. A. Hugh Hinkle, dean of the dental college. The entire class was successful in their final examinations and took the state board examination last week. The results of the latter examination will not be known for some time. Of the thirty twenty-four are Nebraskans, and five Omahans. Two of the class, George Halderon and Ben Haller, have been prominent in athletics. Halderon is from Wilber, Neb., and has played football on the varsity football team for the last two years. He is also a crack baseball player. Haller is from Blair, Neb., and has played end on the varsity football team for the last three years. He is one of the lightest men who has ever played that position. James O'Neil of Omaha has distinguished himself on the base ball diamond, and has played quarterback in several games for the varsity football team. He will locate in Omaha.

The officers of the class are Fred C. Maloney of Red Oak, Ia., president; Harry O'Connor of Lyons, Neb., vice president; Benn Haller of Blair, Neb., secretary-treasurer.

The law department will graduate twenty-five men. Among these are several who have made brilliant records as scholars. Four of the class, John W. Dehant, Lloyd A. Magney, Joseph O. Burger and William Grodzinsky, will receive a degree, cum laude, conferred only on those with a general average of 90 or above.

In the class are two men prominent in football, Harry Miller and John Hopkins. Miller has for the last three years been coach of the varsity football team, coming here from Notre Dame college with the degree of "Ph. B." He has been extremely popular with the students and athletic board, and has raised the football standard at Creighton considerably. Hopkins acted as captain and played tackle on the varsity football team during the last year, and is known as the witliest man in the school. He has accepted a position as deputy sheriff.

The class contains four members of varsity debating teams, John W. Dehant, Philip E. Horan, Francis P. Matthews and Charles Flannery. Matthews has won fame as an orator, representing Nebraska in the interstate oratorical contest held in Omaha several years ago. Thirteen of the class are Nebraskans and five are Omahans.

Matthews has won fame as an orator, representing Nebraska in the interstate oratorical contest held in Omaha several years ago. Thirteen of the class are Nebraskans and five are Omahans.

Degrees are plentiful among these young men. Of the twenty-five, ten hold collegiate degrees, seven of these being graduates of the Creighton arts college. Five of the seven were members of the class of 1910. Three of the five have made the debating teams.

The annual banquet was held at the Lindell hotel Friday night. Color played a distinct part in the editions of last week's Daily Nebraskan. Tuesday the foresters put out a green edition, dealing with the work they are doing and will do, and Thursday the regular staff departed from their straight and narrow path and published a yellow edition—yellow in both color and contents. The latter paper "picked" on the faculty and the writers took out some of their grievances on the unsuspecting instructors. Everybody took the jokes in good style and even complimented the staff on some of their stories.

"The Matchmakers," the second annual farcical musical comedy, presented by the Kosmet club, was given last night at the Oliver theater. A packed house welcomed the amateurs.

The annual high school fete day will be held May 16. The intercollegiate track meet will be held in the afternoon and either in the forenoon of the same day or the next day the high school debate finals will be held. In the track meet about twenty or thirty schools take part and in the debate the champions of the twelve districts contest.

DOANE COLLEGE. Annual Spring Overhauling and Beautifying of Campus. Baseball and track athletics have been almost at a standstill at Doane this week on account of the bad winds and then the rain. No real practicing has been done for several days.

A new tennis court has been made just east of the two old courts and will soon be ready to be used. The unusual interest in that game this spring made it necessary to build this addition. The tournament in doubles was scheduled to start Wednesday, but the bad weather has made it necessary to postpone it several days.

Friday evening the Doane College Girls' Glee club gave a very pretty opera, entitled, "The Japanese Girl." The stage was decorated with Japanese flowers and lanterns, and the chorus were all dressed as Japanese. Mrs. J. G. Miller of Crete sang the leading part.

The lawn beautifiers have been at work this week in spite of the bad weather and the boys have most of the campus raked now and the mowing has begun. Most of last week there was a large force was working most of the time. The campus is in fine shape and the work being done by the boys is helping to make it one of the beauty spots of the state.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Suffered Three Years. Used Resinol. Now Not a Pimple to Be Seen. Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 27, 1912. "I had been troubled for the past three years with pimples which completely covered my face and neck. The pimples would come out, fester up and cause me to pick at them, feeling very uncomfortable. I tried most all kinds of facial creams, but with no effect. I tried a sample of Resinol Soap and Ointment and noticed instant relief. I bought Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and began the treatment. After using two jars of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, there was not a pimple to be seen, and now my face is as smooth as if there was never a pimple on it." (Signed) Albert Greenberg, 487 Frankford Ave.

BELEVUE COLLEGE. Social Rewards for Winners in Debating Contests. The students winning places on the various oratorical and debating contests of the year at Bellevue college, will be entertained by Miss Carter, Miss Bailey and Mrs. Goodwill, Saturday evening, May 3, in Lowrie hall. The invitations included all those winning a first, second or third, in any of this year's forensic contests. Dr. Stookey has received official notification from the Educational department of the University of Nebraska, that Bellevue will henceforth be permitted to issue first grade state city certificates to graduates who complete the requirements of the normal department. The Phi-Omicron and Adelpian Literary society held a joint meeting last Friday evening in the chapel room. The program was rendered by both societies, and was the best of the year. Union meetings will probably be a feature of the spring term. The suspension of a number of the athletes competing on the track and baseball teams, has aroused considerable stir among followers of athletics. The men suspended will not be able to compete in intercollegiate contests until reinstated and their loss will be felt by the teams representing the school. Arbor day was observed at Bellevue college by the planting of numerous hedges and improvements on the campus and grounds. Each class was expected to look after their class grove which were set out two years ago, and are taken care of by the students themselves.

Educational Notes. Denver has 51,961 public school pupils. New York is asked to provide separate schools for seventh and eighth grade pupils to relieve congestion. Philadelphia reports 7,000 school pupils furnished appetizing noon lunches at low prices by Home and School League in the past year. Sweden has two well equipped agricultural high schools. In addition there are some seventeen lower schools of agriculture, a large dairy school, a forestry, and another of horticulture. The Cornell university trustees have appointed Prof. Allyn Abbel Young, head of the Economic department at Washington university, at St. Louis, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Prof. E. W. Kemmerer, who is now at Princeton.
