LIES LIKES OMAHA METHODS

Expresses Confidence in Tornado Relief Committee. PLEASED WITH SYSTEM IN USE

Believes the Trust Fund Distributed is Being Placed Where it Will Do the Most Good.

"The Red Cross has full confidence in the business men who are dispensing the funds in the relief work in Omeha," said Eugene T. Lies of Chicago, representative of the National Red Cross soclety, after he met with the relief committee at the Commercial club yesterday afternoon. He is here on one of a series of visits he will make to Omaha while the $60,000 given to the relief fund through the Red Cross is being expended.

"The men in charge here," Mr. Lies said, "have a wonderfully careful system of accounting, and they are handling the situation nicely. They seem fully to realize that they are handling trust funds-that is, funds that have been placed in their hands to be expended where they will do the most good in relief work, and they are accomplishing that. Their system of gathering data and the completeness of the data which they gather concerning each case they handle, is wonderful." Mr. Lies said that duplicate vouchers would be made by the Omaha committee for expenditures in the relief work up to the sum of $50,000, which is the amount that came through the Red Cross. These duplicate vouchers will be audited by the War department, as are all funds disbursed by the Red Cross.

"Of course," added Mr. Lies, "these people have War department methods right here in use every day, as they have Captain Stritzinger in charge of the purchasing department."

Mr. Lies expects to go to Ralston, where he will spend a part of today looking over the needs of the tornado sufferers there. He says Raiston has made an appeal to the Red Cross for help and he will look the case over much as he did the situation in Omaha before he made his recommendations.
