SCOTT PARTY DIDN'T STARVE

Man Who Found Bodies Says Exhaustion Caused Death. FUEL HAD ALL GIVEN OUT. Lieutenant Gran Tells of Discovering Tent Sheltering Dead in the Snowy Wastes of the Antarctic. WINNEPEG, Man., May 7.—Exhaustion and not starvation was the cause of the death of Captain Scott and the men who died with him on his way back from the South Pole, according to Lieutenant Gran, a member of the supporting party which found the bodies of the party in the frozen Antarctic. Lieutenant Gran stopped off in this city for a few hours on his way to London. "The end of the party was peaceful," declared Gran. "When we came to the tent in which the bodies were all was silent. The snow had drifted about the tent and something seemed to tell that the end for them had come. All about us were desolate wastes of snow and ice and a chill came over our hearts. "Lieutenant Wright of Toronto, a Canadian, who commanded our little party, approached the tent first and lifted the flap. We followed, expecting the worst, and formed a little group about the mouth of the tent. Captain Scott lay on his back as if asleep, but outside of his sleeping bag. The bodies of Dr. Wilson and Lieutenant Bowers were in their sleeping bags, and it was apparent that they had been carefully wrapped up by Captain Scott, who evidently was the last to die. "While they did not die of starvation, still all their food had given out, and worst of all, their fuel."

Bride of Two Weeks Probably Murdered

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—A search of all the bay cities was begun early today for Mrs. Robert Saxe, 18 years old, a bride of two weeks. Robert Saxe, the young woman's husband, and her father, George Sauter, chief inspector in the quartermaster's department here of the United States army, reported the disappearance of the girl to the police. Mrs. Saxe left her home yesterday morning to go shopping. She took with her $2,000 worth of diamonds to be cleaned by a jeweler. According to neighbors, she left her apartment in the best of spirits. She was said to be very much attached to her husband. The couple recently returned from their honeymoon trip. The police are working on a theory of foul play.

Essaad to Be Good and Leave Albania

VIENNA, May 7.—Semi-official newspapers declare upon the authority of the foreign consul at Tirano that Essaad Pasha has not proclaimed himself khun of Albania. On the contrary, they say, he is ready to obey the Porte's instructions to withdraw his army to Turkey. It was suggested, therefore, that Austria and Italy promote an alliance between Essaad Pasha and the provisional Albanian government, whereby Essaad Pasha's army might be utilized to maintain order in Albania. This, it was contended, would render an Austro-Italian expedition for that purpose needless.

TWO MEN ARE INJURED WHEN TRUCK HITS CYCLE

Leslie Riley, 230 Harney street, bookkeeper at the Wolf Manufacturing company, and Lloyd Jensen, an automobile man living at 2212 Farnam street, were seriously injured early last night when an auto truck collided with the motorcycle upon which the two men were riding. The accident occurred near Thirty-third and Dodge streets. According to witnesses the truck drivers were to blame. After knocking the men from the machine, they sped away. Riley received a compound fracture of the left leg beside painful lacerations and internal injuries. Jensen's face was badly cut and one of his fingers was broken. Juror Calls Deputy Accused Prisoner

Joe Wright, deputy sheriff, played the role of a prisoner at the bar accused of breaking and entering, for a time in Judge Sutton's court and emerged from his part with a red face. Joe Canuska was being examined as to his qualifications for a juror in the trial of Gus Kinney. "Do you know the prisoner?" he was asked. "Yes, I have known him for several years," was the reply. "Would that acquaintanceship be such as would disqualify you from giving an impartial verdict?" "Yes, I think I would be prejudiced." Canuska was excused. But here Deputy County Attorney Noble interrupted the proceedings. "Is this the prisoner?" he asked Canuska pointing to Kinney. "No, there he is over there," said Canuska, indicating the deputy sheriff. The court gave the spectators permission to laugh by indulging in a smile after which Canuska was reinstated in the jurors' box.

Mrs. George Hope Suing for Divorce in New York Court

NEW YORK, May 7.—(Special Telegram)—George N. Hope, one of the young men whom the late E. H. Harriman recruited from the ranks and placed in responsible positions, was sued today by his wife, Gartha Miller Hope, for a separation. Until Hope and his wife parted in July, 1912, they lived at 237 Adelphi street, Brooklyn. Hope is the controller of the Harriman lines at 105 Broadway. He was wedded to Miss Miller in Omaha, May 12, 1906, after a short and ardent courtship and has lived in various cities where his duties as statistician for Mr. Harriman called him. Mrs. Hope alleges the railroad man's temper reached such ungovernable heights as frequently to endanger her life. The complaint was submitted to Supreme Court Justice Page in a motion made by Mrs. Hope for alimony and counsel fees pending her suit. Hope denied his wife's accusations and set up as a defense a separation agreement entered into shortly after the couple parted last July. Justice Page refused Mrs. Hope alimony. Mrs. Hope is receiving $12 a week from her husband under their agreement. Mrs. Hope before her marriage to Hope was well known in society of Omaha, her home town.

ALL DOGS LOOK ALIKE TO JANITOR; "BOOB'S" DEAD

After Police Surgeons Clarence Foltz and Lloyd Fochtman had performed a delicate operation upon a vagrant canine to relieve it from an unsightly gopher, a negro janitor found the animal still under the influence of the anesthetic and thinking it dead, picked it up by a leg and threw it into the alley. The dog subsequently died. The operation was performed with all the care usually given a human being, and according to the doctors, it was just as much trouble. Because of the interest aroused in the case of "Boob," the vagrant dog, police officers gave it a decent burial yesterday in the jail yard.
