By MELLIFICIA. Thursday, May 8, 1913.

THE heavy damages sustained by the Sacred Heart Academy at Thirty-fourth and Burt streets have awakened the sympathies of all former pupils and generous friends of the institution.

Besides the private donations for refurbishing made by the alumnae for the alma mater, a large benefit recital will be given at the Brandeis theater Monday evening, May 19, by Mr. Max Landow, the well known pianist. Mr. Landow will use for the first time in public here his favorite piano, which a local firm recently imported from Germany for him. Mr. Martin Bush will assist Mr. Landow at a second piano.

More than a score of former pupils are assisting in selling the tickets, and those in charge include Miss Stella Hamilton, Mrs. W. G. Colling and Mrs. MacMillan Harding, and later headquarters for the sale of tickets will be established at Hayden's and Beaton's.

This is the first benefit given for the convent and Mr. Landow will give his services, so the committee expect to realize a large sum, besides giving an entertainment of unusual merit.

At the Country Club.

The largest social affair of the week was the luncheon given by Mrs. C. N. Dietz and Mrs. John Hudson at the Omaha Country club in honor of their house guest, Mrs. D. C. Laws of Nashville, Tenn. Pink sweet peas formed a beautiful decoration and seventeen tables were arranged for the luncheon. About 140 guests were present.

At Fort Omaha.

Captain and Mrs. Holland Rubottom entertained at dinner last evening at their quarters at Fort Omaha. Covers were placed for Major and Mrs. Carl F. Hartmann, Captain and Mrs. Alvin Vortz, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McCune, Miss Katherine Moorhead, Dr. John Trinder, Captain and Mrs. Rubottom.

Prairie Park Dance.

The dance given Thursday evening at the Prairie Park Club House was well attended and greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served during the evening and many expressed themselves as having had an exceptionally pleasant time.

The novel feature of the dance was that it was for "married couples" only. This one being such a success, another will be held soon.

E. O. T. Club Entertained.

BANKERS BOOST FOR SILOS

Say They Will Loan Money to Any Farmer Who Wants On.

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE CROPS

Report Acreage Large and the Prospects Better Than Ever Before in the Month of May in This State.

D. Clem Deaver, head of the Burlington's home-sinking department, is back from McCook, where he attended the meeting of Group 4 of the Nebraska Bankers' association, and where he delivered an address on modern methods employed in farming.

Group 4 of the Nebraska Bankers' association includes all south of the Platte river and west of a point seventy-five miles or so the other side of Lincoln. The meeting was attended by seventy bankers, and according to Mr. Deaver, it was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings he ever attended. Every man present expressed the opinion that there never was a time in the history of Nebraska when early May prospects for an enormous crop were as bright as now. They all reported a large acreage of wheat and a still larger acreage of corn in prospect. Money was reported plentiful, interest rates low and a fairly good demand.

Listening to speeches and talking with bankers from various sections, Mr. Deaver noted that all through the southwest part of the state the farmers are rapidly going into the dairy business, many of them on a large scale. They have doubled the number of cows during the last couple of years and are daily selling large quantities of cream that finds a market in Omaha and elsewhere at prices that bring fairly large profits.

Several of the bankers, while digressing from assigned subjects in making speeches, called attention to the large number of silos being erected and that more attention than ever before is being paid to scientific principles in feeding cattle, especially the dairy cows.

There was a general discussion relative to silos, and while on this subject George F. Sawyer, president of the Nebraska Bankers' association, who was present, announced that wherever farmers were good he would take their notes drawing 6 per cent interest, providing they would use the money borrowed in the building of silos.

Mr. Sawyer told the other bankers that if they would loan the farmers money to build silos and that if they did not feel able to carry the loans he would take the notes off their hands and carry the makers.

Mr. Deaver is of the opinion that this move upon the part of the bankers will result in from 300 to 500 silos being erected in southwest Nebraska within the next ninety days.

Hummel Says He Can't Eat 'Em All

Joe B. Hummel, park commissioner, and his assistant, W. B. Adams, do not share Chief of Police Duggan's optimism in respect to the speedy dissolution of the dandelion pest.

"Eat 'em!" exclaimed Hummel scornfully. "They grow faster than I can cut them down. We run mowers over the grass in the afternoon, dandelion blooms disappear, but next morning they are all there, reinforced by several thousand. There are 1,300 acres in our parks. That means 1,300 acres of dandelions every day. Eat 'em? Huh!"

DAWA W. BARTLETT TO TALK ON CITY BEAUTIFICATION

Dana W. Bartlett, chairman of the City Planning commission of Los Angeles, will be the guest of the University club at the noon luncheon today. Mr. Bartlett is a graduate of the Iowa university and is well posted on city beautification, and he will postulate on the request of the Omaha Civic league and will address the assembly on public improvements.

Saloon Must Have New License When Location Changes

A saloon license granted by the city commission for one location cannot be transferred by the commissioner to another place, if the saloon keeper moves his business, but he must apply for a new license and advertise his intention according to law.

Judge Leslie of the district court so ruled when he granted a writ of mandamus asked by Thomas C. Christianson, ordering the city commission to meet and rescind a resolution allowing Joseph Sineho to move his saloon business from 214 North Sixteenth street to 1981 Cumine street under his 1912 license, secured for the former location.

As a result, the Holy Family Catholic Church, Eighteenth and Isard streets, which has a congregation of 1,900, will have an opportunity to protest against a saloon being conducted a block away.

Christianson, who applied for the writ, manufactures mirrors in an establishment near the saloon. His attorneys told the court that the moving of the saloon to Seventeenth and Cumine streets under the license granted for another location deprived him and other interested persons of the right of protesting against such an establishment in the neighborhood, and the judge took this view.

The resolution which the city council is ordered to rescind was passed March 11.

A special session of the city council was held Friday to rescind a resolution granting Joseph Sineho permission to move.

RESTORES INDIANS' TOBACCO

Melvin R. Gilmore Finds Brand Lost for Quarter Century.

HAS AN INTERESTING EXHIBIT

Indian Botany and Indian Geography Shown in the Lobby of High School at the Historical Meeting.

Melvin R. Gilmore, curator of the museum of the Nebraska State Historical society, has an interesting exhibit of Indian botany and Indian geography in the lobby of the high school building in connection with the meeting of various historical societies here this week. He has the various kinds and grades of corn of maize raised by the Nebraska Indians, the species of tobacco, the squash and pumpkin and many other vegetables. He has spent a great deal of time among the Indians studying their ways and the mode of life in the days before the advent of the white man. He has the honor of having restored to the Omaha Indian tribe the species of tobacco they raised before the whites arrived. In his travels among the Omahas he was frequently told by the older men that the tribe once had a peculiar species of tobacco they raised in Nebraska, which he and the older men liked better than the tobacco they could buy now. The older men of the tribe told him they had entirely lost the strain of this tobacco, as in the confusion of attending the coming of the white man this tobacco was not raised much for a few years, with the result that the seed was entirely lost. Mr. Gilmore, some years afterward, in studying among one of the tribes in North Dakota, discovered the lost species of tobacco and returned with some of the seed to the old men of the Omaha tribe. They were wonderfully pleased, and the tribe is today raising its own tobacco, the kind that it had lost for a quarter of a century or more.

Mr. Gilmore also has exhibits of the kinds of houses and tepees used by the Indians. He shows the mud-covered house built of poles covered over with hay and then coated with a heavy coating of mud and dirt. A hole was left in the center for the escape of smoke and to admit light. The buffalo skin tepee is also shown with its clever flaps for the protection of the smoke opening against adverse winds.

Slashed with a razor wounded with a gun, or pierced by a rusty nail, Bucklen's Arnica Salve soothes the injured part. Guaranteed. For sale by Beaton Drug Co.—Advertisement.
