Several Young Women Renounce the World for Life in a Convent.

Impressive ceremony was performed this morning at 7:30 o'clock in the spacious chapel of the Ursuline Academy, at Twelfth street and Russell avenue. It was witnessed by a very large number of guests, who had come from all the adjoining states to attend the reception into the Ursuline order of five young ladies who, until today, have been postulants, and also the solemn professions of four young novices, who received the black veil and pronounced their impressive vows. The altar was brightly decorated with blooming plants and vases of cut flowers, and the sanctuary, was beautified also with plants, which were placed here and there throughout its space. A large number of both the Jesuit and Secular orders occupied the sanctuary, and in front were placed the priedleux occupled by the young ladies who were to be received. These young ladies were all clothed in bridal costumes of white silk trimmed with lace, and they wore flowers on their gowns and in their hair. They also carried large bouquets of hot-house blossoms. They wore long white veils of tulle, reaching to the hem of their dresses and fastened to the S. E. corner of Olive and Broadway their hair with pearl pins. Suggested by Cardinal Gibbons.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24,-Richard C. Kerens of St. Louis, member of the republican national committee, denies the report printed here today that his anti-A. P. A. resolutions, which was sidetracked by the Missouri state convention, was suggested by Roman Catholic ism prelates.

"I know," he said today, "how that report got around about Cardinal Gibbons influencing the resolutions I had ulation. placed before the republican state convention. Cardinal Gibbons and Archbisber Kain visited Elkins, W. Va., just before the convention. Elkins is the summer home of ex-Senator Davis, Stephen B. Elkins and myself, but I was not at Elkins at all this summer.

"The statement that I have been inin anyway is wholly false. Neither state. Cardinal Gibbons nor Archbishop Kain nor any one of the clergy had any knowledge of that resolution before it was offered.

"I did not consult with anyone about of Mr. Rosewater's resignation as naidea. It was true I did see and talk party of Missouri there at the convention, but I consulted no one before that time. These gentleman in the main tumultous rejoicing. heartily approve of the resolution."
