The following are the declarations of principles adopted by the National Council of the A. P. A. at DesMoines:

"Loyalty to true Americanism, which knows neither birth, place, race, creed, nor party, is the first requirement for membership in the American Protective Association.

The American Protective Association is not a political party, and does not control the political affiliations of its members; but it teaches them to be intensely active in the discharge of their political duties in or out of party lines, because it believes that all problems confronting our people will be bound solid by a conscientious discharge of the duties of citizenship by every individual. "While tolerant of all creeds, it holds that subjection and support to any political power not controlled by American citizens, and which claims equal if not greater sovereignty than the government of the United States, is trreconcilable with American citizenship. It is, therefore, opposed to the holding of offices in state or national government by any subject or supporter of such ecclesiastical power.

"We protest against the gross regligence and laxity with which the judiciary of our land administer the present naturalization laws, and against the present naturalization laws, and against the present committees or candidates as the most prolific source of the present prostitution of American citizenship to the basest uses.

"We demand that all hospitals, asylums, reformatories, or other institutions in which people are under restraint, be at all times subject to public inspection, whether they are maintained by the public or by private corporations or individuals.

"We demand that all national or state legislation affecting financial, commercial or industrial interests be general in character and in no instance in favor of any one section of the country, or any one class of the people."

There appears to be a considerable difference of opinion as to the true origin of the A. P. A. Evangelist Leyden, an A. P. A. lecturer, is authority for the statement that the idea of a national patriotic organization was first evolved by Hon. H. P. Bower, of Clinton, Iowa, who, with seven others whose names are not given, established the first A. P. A. council in his native town on March 13th, 1887. He was for six years its supreme president.
