

Romanists in Wales.

CARDIFF, Wales, November 14, 1894. —EDITOR THE AMERICAN: Your valuable paper reaches me regularly in good shape and encourages me greatly in the work of placing before Britisheers the merits of the A. P. A. Judging from the following item clipped from the Cardiff Evening Express, of November 10th, this town above all others needs the establishment of councils and I am preparing to send my first shot into the enemies camp.

The following is a brief biography of a new mayor of a South Wales borough who came into office on Friday, November 9th:

"CARDIFF.—Alderman P. W. Carey was born near the Rock of Cashel, County Tipperary, on the 26th of May, 1850, but his parents removed to Cardiff two years afterwards, and here, at St. David's Catholic school, the future mayor received his education, under the tuition of Fathers Caccia and Signini. For eighteen years Mr. Carey was in the consular service, and was for some time vice and deputy consul for the United States. He is at the head of a large wholesale and retail wine and spirit undertaking. He was elected to the council in 1880 for the West Ward, was re-elected in 1883, and made an alderman in 1886, and is a justice of the peace for the borough. The new mayor is a prominent member of the Irish and Roman Catholic party in Cardiff, and is the first Irish Roman Catholic to fill the position of mayor, alderman, and magistrate in the town."

The above biography is self-explanatory, and should serve to bring the Protestants of Cardiff to a realization of the dangers which threaten them in allowing the Roman hierarchy a foothold in their municipal government. It is a peculiar coincidence that I should leave the Chicago of America, ruled by a Romanist mayor, and come to the "Chicago of Wales" and find it selecting a Romanist mayor, and as Mayor Hopkins, of Chicago, Ill., is a prominent member of the Irish Roman Catholic party (Clan-na-Gael) so is Mayor Carey a prominent member of the Irish Roman Catholic party here.

Cardiff, some years ago was given a severe lesson by the Roman Catholic Irish, which she ought to have profited by, but in allowing her city fathers to select, above all others, an "Irish Romanist," and that too when the rest of the aldermen were English and Welsh Protestants, is proof that there is something radically wrong and ought to be seen to, otherwise the lethargy of the people might add still more power to the Roman hierarchy. But the principles of the B. P. A. (British Protective Association) are being circulated and will thwart the evil designs of Pope Leo and his hirelings. May the good work continue in the prayer of PAST PRESIDENT, Council No. 72, Chicago.

Which!

The letter of J. G. Birchfield, Washington, D. C., is an important one. Mr. Traynor's articles is an important one, but not as important as Mr. Birchfield's I mean by that that Mr. Birchfield is on the right track. Mr. Traynor is evidently in the smoke of the battle and cannot tell where he is (at). I tell you, Mr. Editor, Mr. Birchfield is right. "Discretion is the better part of virtue," and I want you to fight on the same line. And if Mr. Traynor is not careful he will be elected to stay at home next time. The men who are sought for as leaders are cool-headed fellows; and as soon as one begins to show too many departures he is in danger. So I advise Mr. Traynor, for the good of the order and his own good, to be more conservative.

My grandfather once was walking through a part of the country where he was not acquainted. He stopped at a house and inquired the way. The woman at the house said, "You go to the barn and take the barn on your pack till you come to two roads and take the one to the right." That is exactly what the policy of the A. P. A. should be regarding the two old parties, and nothing short of it.

If the A. P. A. were to become an independent party, there would be danger of one of two things. One would be to "fizzle out," the other would be a bloody war. And I would not be surprised if it were the latter. The A. P. A. has a big work to do, and let her do it. The mills of the gods grind slow but exceedingly fine, so do not hurry too much. There are many forces at work beside the ballot box, and they are working all the time. Give them a little time, and in a quiet but effective way they will shake the pillars of the vatican.

A Move in the Right Direction.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sunday, Dec. 2nd, 1894. —The Protestant Protective Union was organized today at Masonic Temple, 144 Twenty-second street, at 2:30 P. M. The meeting was made up of Protestant denominations, and included members of many patriotic and benevolent orders, as well as freethinkers and liberal minded people, both male and female. After vocal music the principal speech was delivered by Rev. O. E. Murray, on the "Little Red School House," which was frequently interrupted by applause. After the speech, a collection was taken up to pay for 120 song books—The Singing Patriot—and a motion was made declaring the organization permanent.

It is to be strictly non-sectarian and patriotic, inculcating practical and useful lessons in good citizenship for young and old, and to hold regular meetings every Sunday afternoon, at the same time and place.

John Woodard was elected president, Charles A. Story, secretary, and Chas. Bolander, treasurer. An executive committee was elected, composed of representatives from the several Protestant churches, the G. A. R., the Orangemen, Daughters of America, W. A. P. A., P. O. S. of A., Jr. O. U. A. M., A. P. A. and many other patriotic, religious and fraternal societies.

The meetings are to be open to the public, and all people who love their country, its schools and its flag, male and female, young and old, are invited. Seats free, and a collection will be taken to defray expenses. Rev. O. E. Murray will be present at every meeting, without pay. There will be congregational singing from the song book, and a choir is being organized.

ANOTHER PRIEST GONE WRONG.

Priest Noonan of Los Angeles Lives a Double Life—His Escapades Become so Public That he Has to Get Out.

The Los Angeles Times, of November 24, is responsible for the story that Joseph Noonan, who for some years past has been a priest of the church of Our Lady of the Angels, Los Angeles, has suddenly made up his mind to take a trip to Europe. The Times goes on to state that Mr. Noonan, during his stay at Los Angeles, has been leading a double life, his days and nights being spent—when not in the execution of priestly offices—in company with prostitutes and drunkards in his own private apartments. He was a great friend of the prize fighter, Corbett. The scandal at last became so open and well known that the bishop was compelled to interfere, and the gay young priest was removed. It is asserted that he has gone to a European monastery to do penance, and so, for the present, the story is ended.

Could it be ascertained how many pure young minds the debauched rascal has filled with impurity in the secrecy of the confession box; how many young women have been started down the road to social and moral ruin by this wolf in disguise, there would doubtless be a great flutter in Los Angeles society. Yet the priest is less to blame than the system which brings a healthy, robust priest into contact and seclusion with womanly innocence and purity, and yet denies to him the rights of legitimate matrimony. Finally, is it true that Noonan has been sent to a monastery, or has he merely been transferred to another diocese, there to duplicate his Los Angeles infamy, as was the case in the matter of the rapist, Priest Connelly, of Two Harbors, Minn.? The Times will confer a favor upon Protestants and papists alike by looking into this matter.

Lost His Job.

JOPLIN, Mo., November 25, 1894.—EDITOR AMERICAN: Robert Shreve, of this city, till recently was an employee of the postal department here, being a substitute letter carrier. Since the last election, charges were preferred against him at Washington, the postmaster here being a Catholic, or a tool of Rome. It was alleged that Shreve (being an American) used his influence against C. H. Morgan, Democratic candidate for congress in this district—because Morgan voted for the Indian Appropriation bill, etc. Shreve did not deny, and so he lost his job. So it goes. TIM NIXON.

LITERARY NOTES.

We are in receipt of a neat volume entitled "Nehushtan," by Dr. J. R. Roe, of Kansas City. It represents the acts of Romanism when they are rebuffed by education, telling in an interesting story many facts which would be less entertaining if written historically. It is a volume which every one should read and study well.
