IN THE Clutch of Rome.

BY "GONZALES."

CHAPTER XI-Continued. BETWEEN HUSBAND AND WIFE.

The troubled priest sank back in his chair with his face buried in his hands. and a flood of plous memories of his mother's and his own life came over him. His grace resumed his seat before the writing-desk, and his words thunder-storm.

with the flaming sword of my authority doubt that hung over him. cherish, above all other considerations, the holy mother church, to live for her and her only, to work for her while your life lasts; if needs be, to die for her; to altar, the sacred altar where he had rose to her lips. scruples of yours did not spring into instantaneous life."

"Most reverend sir," said Fablo, with face still bowed, "they were begotten and born in your red reception room upstairs. Yourself and Father Fairfax are responsible for their troublesome Heavenly powers, strangle them in throw down the crook and say: their infancy."

in glory,

sorrowful attitude of the youthful has found rest in a beautiful valley, and he, too, as the young priest before him, temples of stone, her jewels, marble bringing back the straying one. Torn noring the governess. altars, gorgeous robes, vessels of gold God.

Vaguely the ecclesiastic remembered temple of the Lord. Firmly resolved centuries have given birth to a third church. daughter of the horse leach, and she ever cries, "Give, give."

But the prelate had grown to love this luxurious rival of the Master. He and apparently her sickness, and the of these with whom it was connected. arose from his seat resolved to push priest's visit had left no imprint on two Indeed, her sweetest memories of Grathis wavering atom into the mass. of the family; however, the episode had nada were the hours she had passed caught in the toils of the scarlet wo Feeling satisfied that in time it would left a secret mark. merge into and become one with the grand and brilliant whole.

Unlock the temple of the Lord which waking hours of Miss Dillon.

black robe, unlocked a small door in she had disturbed in the act of brushing the Son of the real Mary prayed, when hold, partly on principle, she being in ness had been his object, he would not forced zeal to do his duty to the cause, plighted yows sanctified in the sight of He asked: "If possible, let this cop position of governess and companion, have hatched up a yarn about having elequent and overwhelming in his argue Heaven." pass from me." Man created the church, clothed her smiled sweetly and glided through the well to see him. It's no use, Miss in contrition for her sin-standing ameble-white: in scarlet and jewels, and exalted her balf open door with the undulating Martha, it's on my mind, and I must black and hideous row before here here above all things. Her priests are sworn motion of a snake, and with an apology to sacrifice life, and what the unitiated for hor untimely intrusion, stood before would in their blindness deem a sacri- her unsuspecting victim, who sat enfice of honor. If need be, and she de veloped in heavy masses of her hair. manded it. Father Fablo must drink In a very matter-of-fact tone, she inthe church was broken by the heavy Fabio, paying a visit to herself to learn that day and Father what do-you-call- a fatal prophecy, and I were destined "St. John, you are too great a criminal gasping sobs of mental anguish from 1f she had entirely recovered her to be tried in my court. True, I might the black-robed figure prostrate before health and spirits, had mentioned that take you from your priestly office, and the altar of Mary. For one hour, Fabio he had very recently received news St. John prayed to God the Father, from Spain. "It did not wait to learn drive you forth from your church as God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost; what its nature might be," she added, did the angel of the Lord drive from and the virgin and all the saints to smillingly, "feeling certain, my dear > of mouth." At length he arose, crossed himselt, Mrs. Maxwell flushed hotly and a reand knelt a few minutes before the high fusal to see the priest on any pretext the priest on his first visitation, sus-do what, to the eyes of the unitiated celebrated the sacrifice of the mass, Miss Dillon moved a step nearer, and might appear as evil, for her good and and in his religious ecstasy, had been fastened her yellow eyes on the face of But she said to the maid: "Anna, you welfare? Surely, these duties and false unconscious of his material body, and her mistress, and in a low soft voice are aware of the coudition of your mishad communed in spirit with the saints said: "Let me fasten your hair, Tonight, as he praved, something of Spanish and used that little to adthis feeling had come to him, and he vantage sometimes.) "I am glad of a felt the presence of the "Lord in His chance to handle it," and her white Holy Temple:" yes, the church was the fingers, with light, mesmeric touch, arstronghold of the Lord, the fold where ranged the masses of hair into a coil; existence. But believe me, I will, if in the sheep of the Master were to be and keeping one hand on Mrs Maxmy power, and with the help of the tended and fed till He demanded them. well's forehead, she reached with the virgin (crossing himself) and all the And should he, a trusted shepherd, other to the dressing-table, and selected a high carved comb. As she fastened her, you may be sure it was all but dead

"I will not reclaim this sheep who it in its place, she said, still in a low, Archbishop O'Conor regarded the has strayed from the fold, because she purring tone:

priest before him, and his eyes lost a the wolf may not disturb her at night- deed intended to wear the graceful shade of their metallic luster. Perhaps fall. And in my endeavor to bring her mantilla. By the way, how deeply the the ghosts of long-silenced doubts that back, I shall surely tear her delicate Spanish mother of St. John instilled in had lived in his own sympathetic and fleece and perhaps wound her tender his mind a love for Spain." Then to with horror depicted on her face. ardent youth appeared to him-the body. No; he had pledged himself a the maid: "Anna, I will no longer spring-time of his religious faith, when shepherd of the Lord, and when He de- usury your rights. So dress your mismanded of him His flock, he would tress as quickly as you can." could still hold the church, with her have no idle excuse to offer for not Like a stone image stood Anna. igand silver-plate, waxen candles, and all will heal. But he who lives in a fool's me my house dress, Anna, and Dora, the pomp of worship, separate from his paradise, will die in a wise man's hell." please tell Father St. John I will see Thus soliloquized Father Fablo in the him at once."

his earlier and purer love for this in- to do his avowed, priestly duty, he ex- erness, Mrs. Maxwell stood in reflective satiate, voluptuous Hydra. Verily, the tinguished the tapers and left the silence, while her maid assisted her to change her attire. She did not want land had not been so kind to her that private affairs of families with whom Visions of a golden rose plucked by husband. And joyfully had she left mistress, must help me to keep the the papel hand from the luxuriant gar- that land of poetry and passion, of beast from devouring her and her in-

CHAPTER XIL

WEAVING THE NET.

His august command has given unto No poet ever wore his wreath of laurel domestic life? Why did that black in heart, and as bigoted in their non-

"Well, ma'am, since you ask me, I confessed her was firm in his belief that tian the innocent little ones the great the rear of the church; entering, he her mistress's hair, and who stood be will say it's my epinion that he came his absolution of the dying abb as was Father has given unto you. Ard your fastened the door securely and lit a fore the half-open door, hair brush in to see Mrs. Maxwell over Miss Dillon's void in the sight of God. The sin of beloved hu-band, Senora, husband also, taper on the altar of Mary. Prostrat- hand, with a stony look upon her face, shoulder. You may be sure a Catholic the abbess was unpardonable until the only in the oyes of the world" (Father ing himself on the cold, p dished floor, for Miss Dillon was disliked by all of priest never comes into a house like evil should be in a measure eradicated. St. John's voice faltered at these words), he prayed in anguish of heart, even as the servants of Mrs. Maxwell's house this without an object. If the gover Father St. John had become in his half- "surely he will consent to have your > neither lady nor servant. Miss Dillon news from Spain, to entice Mes. Max- ments. Mrs. Maxwell, pale and tearbil Mrs. Maxwell arese from her chair, with your sister-in-law in the privacy of High for her forgivonese. her chamber, and I see her when it is him got into the house and had speech to be the cause of her undoing." with Mrs. Maxwell, she has been a changed woman. It's my humble opinion that it was a put-up job, Miss, too, as things is turning out.

"I verily believe it was," said Martha, which had been troubling her own Oh, Senora Querida, come back body mind ever since she had encountered and soul into the blessed sanctuary, and be had by sending 2) cents in each to the bring with you to their eternal salva- Ammicas Processies Company. delons which had caused her to forego her walk and hasten back to the house tress. Her low spirits at times are but natural; and after all, you know her belief is the same as Miss Dillon's."

"Miss Martha, excuse me, but I have been maid to your sister in law through two trials, and if anything, she is more serene and happy at those times. As to her being of Miss Dillon's persuasion, I never gave it thought, by any outward sign she gave. If she had any of it in till that female Jesuit got into the house. And what's more, I happened into the nursery the other day, and there sat Miss Jeannie telling her pray-

Miss Martha arose from her chair "I thought the nurse was a Protes-

"So is she, ma'am; least way she is not a R man. But Jeannie, you know, s under the direct management of the governess, and the nurse being young and rather flighty, pays little attention to such things as that. I simply told her that idlots acted like that and passed on about my business."

Then Miss Martha, standing tall and severe, said in impressive tones: "Anna, I hate the principle of outsiders concerning themselves with the Miss Dilion had recovered her health, she should greatly wish to hear of it, or they may be sojourning. Still, in this case, I feel that the Lord will be with us. My brother's wife must not be there with her lover, who was now her man. You, Anna, as you love your fell like cold, cutting hall after a of the cup. The midnight stillness of formed Mrs. Maxwell that Father yellow eyed cat of a governess was sick that night in the convent garden were certainly not by one of ours."

man, placed her in a chair and stood confessional. There hay bare your inbefore her. "My dear daughter," he said in low,

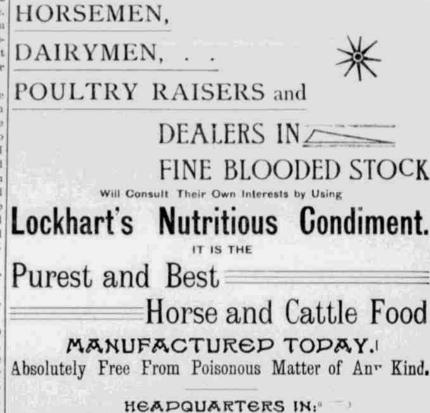

"Ob, Father Fablo, this will be the out with it. I pass a good many hours sought his intercession to the most Most hardest trial of all. My husband will never coment to have our marriage.

"And, oh Father, intercede 'or the which is legal and honorable among not needful for her to keep up appear- unhappy spirit of the abbess. It seems men, renewed by a marriage service ances, and I know that ever since that as if my carcless words of anger to her read over us by a priest of any faith,

> "My daughter, trost me; the Lord will give you grave to overcome this The pricat raised the weeping we- difficulty. Come next Thursday to the most soul to God. If you are truly repentant, he will grant you absolution encaest tones: "Remember, the gates for the past and give you grace for the

(To be Continued.)

"IN THE CLUTCH OF ROME," Is

London, England, New York, Chicago,

Glasgow, Scotland. Omaha.

AVING investigated this Horse and Cattle Food, and having become convinced that it was superior to any preparation on the market today, I have consented to take the general agency for the Middle and Western States. It is now being used by many of the leading horse and cattle men, some of whom testify to its worth and money-saving qualities. Among the number who have endorsed it may be mentioned; Robert Bonner, Esq., of the New York Ledger; William Lockhart, Esq., Veterinery Surgeon; Dan Mace, the famous trainer and driver, and H. E. Bonner, Esq., Veterinary Surgeon, all of New York; H. M. Hosick & Co., Tallow, Hides and Wool; The Lincoln Park Commissioners; you to keep holy. Kneel before the with such pride as a Roman Catholic eyed priest who had spoken to her Catholicism as the Catholics they so John Ford, Metropolitan Market; Armour & Co., Packers; Miller sacred altar and throw open to Him the this golden papal flower. Thus, for words of awful import, hauat her? hated, who, like all bigots could see no & Armour, Packers; J. C. Pennoyer & Co., Teaming; Gen. Tordark recesses of your heart. Be as the one the priest had left the promise Whose image was before her, and atom of good in a creed they were rence; Lincoln Ice Co.; A. H. Revell; William Thompson Ice Co.;

AMERICAN.

Paradise the first great rebels. Oh, give him spiritual strength to do the Mrs Maxwell, that you would like to as she sack in a chair. This plain of Paradise opened to the out cast Port great work of redemption before you." why did you study for and take upon right; prayed that the bright sun of see Father St. John yourself, and hear spoken, humble-tiring woman, though when she brought to the angel at the yourself your priestly vows to love and faith might burst through the clouds of from your dear romantic home by word she was, had confirmed suspicions gate the tear of a repentant sinner.

Senora." (Miss Dillon knew very little

"Ah, Senora mla, this head was in-fleece will grow again and bruised flesh Mrs. Maxwell arose and said: "Bring

When the door closed after the gov-to see this priest again. Her native

"Forgive me, my dear young friend, den of the church, and bestowed upon which today she was about to hear. nocent children." And Miss Martha if in my zeal and loyalty to the cause, I her with his blessing for services done Then, why should she see this priest? extended her hand toward the girl who have spoken harshly. Go to your home. his great cause, filed the sleeping and What was the something which was clasped it with ervor. Thus, these stealing over her hitherto cloudless two women, honest in purpose, and pure

ers on a string of beads." tant, Anna."

glove had again been drawn, but there by since the visit of the priest to the sweet music of her domestic life had a partures from his house. Then, with a ing unusual in the manner of his wife, tions inborn in generations upon gencoldly polite "good-night, your grace," whose first impulse had been to tell her erations, may lie dormant, quiescent, view the book-lined sides of the long away the hours till he had a mind to for confiding to a stranger the details of been born and reared in the faith. pages discoursed cold, scientific sub- knew would embitter it. jects. Books of travel and biography met with no greater favor. At last he in her sister-in-law, but attributing it Mrs. Maxwell resolved to see this paused before a case of folios, whose to her condition, had passed it by, as a priest, and tell him plainly that she made him start, rich red and gold exteriors, like the matter of course. heavy-lidded eyes and scarlet lips of a woman [of pleasure, gave promise of yielding a fascinating, unprofitable and noon, called at the Maxwell mansion, too often cloying sweetness. His grace ostensibly to see Miss Dillon. On his room, Anna sat down with her misselected a volume of Anacreon poetry and tossed the breviary aside to give it Martha and her niece, who were going claimed: "There's somebody rotten in ally." place on the table. Then, unlocking a out for exercise and pleasure. The the state of Denmark, and it's my opincabinet, he took from one of its compartments a bottle and a glass. Filling the glass with a portion of the amber- child, who had often met Father Fabio her sollicquy, and before she was fairly not deceived. The slight emphasis she hued fluid which the bottle held, he carried it carefully to the table and him and extended her hand. placed it beside the book. The sound of distant foot-steps broke the silence. pleasantry with the little girl, as he some one talking, but you seem to be had developed into active life. But he He hastened to the cabinet, re-locked held her dainty little gloved fingers, and alone." it, and stepped quickly to the closed as the child hurried after her aunt, he "Yes, Miss; but I always have my his conversation on the current topics door to listen. The foot-steps died turned and looked after her and thoughts and I sometimes talk aloud to of the day. Insensibly, his at first cold away.

opposite were going to their rooms.

Throwing himself at full length upon means. The lovely mother and her better idea of their propriety. But nationality. Before an hour had passed the couch, and with his senses lulies children must be brought within the where is Mrs. Maxwell?" into accord with the voluptuous theme pale of the church. Miss Dilion had "In the reception room, ma'am, with the religion of her youth, and of genof the poet by occasional slow sips of seen the approach of the priest from a a Catholic priest, which I suppose is crations of ancesters upon her, sat the fragrant wine-the one thing made window, so opened the door with her her affair, not mine." by man which old time has made a own hand ere he could ring for adfavored darling of-Arcabishop O'Conor mittance. She ushered him into a read away the early hours of the night, little ante-room and after a few minutes was greater than her dislike of gossip of the abbess; how she had declared and Father St. John, the young son of of conversation, she left the room and ing with servants, she said: the church who would ask troublesome glided swiftly up the stair-case to the "Do you happen to know, Anna, if young girl entrusted to her care, which questions, walked rapidly to his home, rooms of her employer, knocking at the the priest came to see your mistress, or trust she had betrayed, was back in the and exchanged his street attire for a door. It was opened by the maid whom the governess?"

sured, that He will find the darkness of the blooming of a flower of imperish- whose Martha had noticed a certain change belief they made their life study.

waited a space of time; then, one after- husband. young priest touched his hat to Martha, | ion it's Miss Dillon." who bowed stiffly in return. But the A quick knock at the door interrupted also be seated Father St. John was thought: "It were indeed a work well them."

-the priests attached to the cathedral creature in the true faith." Yes: he verely. "I am inclined to think your presence of the young priest, who with His holy light and all the wretched able beauty, while into the very mouth as her maid brushed her hair? And lo! compact to circumvent, with the Lord's monsters who live and revel in that of the other, he had thrust a sprig of the evil spirit had materialized and she help, whom they firmly believed knew darkness, will five." And he held out worm-wood. But the rose and the was going direct to his hateful press not a papist-the enemy each saw inhis firm white hand. Fablo took the worm-wood both grew in the garden of ence. This hal! Spanish priest had vading the home each in her particular offered hand, over which the velvet the church. Several weeks had gone made the first rift in the lute. The sphere called for a time her own. was no warm, forgiving clasp; simply home of Senator Maxwell. The senator horrid discord to it. Would it become went to her own room to meditate and the deferential, faint pressure due his had made a flying visit to his home at more and more discordent and then for pray, and her humble ally proceeded to superior and thost on taking his de- Christmas time and had observed noth- ever mute? She shuddered; supersti- arrange her mistress's belongings.

Father Fabio went out into the night, husband of the visit of the priest, and in many lives, if happily they never The archbishop increased the light the occasion of it, and all that visit had come in contact with some congenial thoughts grew bitter. "Why am I soof the reading lamp and passed in re- been to her. But intuition told her element and are revived into intense that her husband, not recognizing the life; so what wonder this young, finely would be more than glad to perform room, in search of some bock to read perogative of priests, would chide her organized and sensitive lady who had this service for the church?" sleep. He glanced listlessly over the their troubled courtship, and her hus- should feel its presence awakening labored works of theologians and rows band's visit was short and sweet, and within her, by the subtile medicines adof sober brown volumes whose enfolded she hesitated to say that which she ministered by those pledged to keep representing an oriental feast of flowers. alive and to revivify the germs of the hung.

would abide the consequences of her Father St. John sworn to do his duty, own acts, strong in the support of her and calm, with extended hand He when out with her governess, ran to on her feet, Miss Martha entered the had placed on the word "mentally," toroom.

After Mrs. Maxwell had left the over it, and inquired after her health.

now telt the end would justify the practice is a good one. Gives you a claimed her friendship on the ground of prejudiced against, made this solemn

With a gloomy brow, Miss Martha

St. John, left alone in the large room with its magnificent appointments, sank wearily into the nearest chair, and his lected from all the army of priests who

After a while he arose for the purpose of calming his rebellious thoughts and walked to where a large oil painting

He was listlessly gazing at its varied features, when a light rustle near him,

Mrs. Maxwell stood before him pale took the offered hand, bowed politely

"I am in my usual state of health, way through the grounds, he met Miss tress's cast off dress on her lap, and ex- Father St. John, mentally and physic-

> And, gracefully seating herself, she, with a gesture, invited the priest to gether with the defiant look in her eyes, The priest exchanged a few words of "Well, Anna, I was sure I heard told him that the germ he had planted gave no sign. He artfully commenced listener grew interested, and drawn out drinking in the sophistrics of the priest "You never said a truer word, Anna." before her. By degrees, and very carethat her soul would find no rest till the lirue path. And the father who had

Gen. Newberry; Consumers Pure Ice Co.; E. K. Bond Packing Co.; Thos. J. Lipton & Co., Packers, and others, of Chicago.

This Condiment is recommended by a dairyman who says ais cows gave one-third more milk while he used it during the winter. It is just the stuff to build up all stock, and is a great feed-saver on account of its nutritious qualities.

Price per Barrel (150 pounds)
100 Pounds
50 Pounds
26 Pounds
Sample Package Containing 8 Pounds	1.00

Send in a Trial Order.

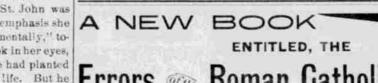

If you use it once you will never be without it. Address.

JOHN C. THOMPSON.

Care American Publishing Co

Sent postpaid on receipt of price,

Errors \infty Roman Gatholic Church. PRICE, IN CLOTH, $2.50.

This is the latest and best books published, being compiled Thank Heaven he was not disturbed done, if I can train this bright young "H'm." said Miss Martha, a little se- of herself, by the handsome, magnetic and edited by some of the best known writers and ministers. It contains nothing of a sensational character, but is a clear and concise statement of facts which are matters of history. It points by, Mrs. Maxwell with the glamour of out the causes which have led to the formation of patriotic organizations and their fight against Romanism. It is profusely

ILLUSTRATED,

Then, as her dislike of Roman priests fully, he told her of the sad death-bed Elegantly bound in cloth and printed in good, clear type and on good paper. In fact it is worthy of a place in any library. For sale by the

AMERICAN PUBLISHING CO.