is being invoked in certain quarters in connection with the organization of the next house. While it is not probable that anything of consequence will come of it, there is an effort being made by a number of the old Republican members re-elected to the next congress who do not like Mr. Reed or who fear that their prospects are not bright for committee assignments which they desire to get a western man among the con testants for the speakership against Mr. Reed, They have selected Mr. Hopkins, but it appears that he is not willing to enter the contest, but they may find some other man who will go through the candidacy merely for the precedence it would give him. This movement might have some small chance of success if it were not for the large numbers of new members elected to the next congress. Among the old members there have been some rivalries during the past three or four years which have weakened Mr. Reed's influence. Moreover, the fact of his being prominently mentioned as a presidential candidate leads the friends of other candidates to discourage the disposition to make a hero of the "ex-czar." Among the new members, however, Mr. Reed is greatly admired. He is known to them through his reputation, and none take it for granted Mr. Reed will be elected speaker. This condition of af-

They might sacrifice themselves to propitiate the centaur; but theirs would be an unhallowed martyrdom. We believe these new men would prefer Mr. Cannon for the speakership; at any rate, Mr. Reed should not count upon the symin this country.

Will the A. P. A. Be Equal to Its Golden Opportunity!

Editor THE AMERICAN: There is, as we see it, a magnificent opportunity within the reach of the A. P. A, if it will organize itself into an open political party such as is demanded by the patriotic Americans and the reform forces of the country. Such a party would get to itself great glory, and go down to posterity as the leader in the mightiest political and moral reform of the century. The platform thus demanded, we believe, should include not only the excellent patriotic principles now endorsed by the order, but also equal suffrage, the protection by law in the right of one day in seven for rest and the liquor issue declaring for the entire suppression of the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation and transportation of alcoholic liquors as a beverage by federal and state legislation, and perhaps other planks as might be agreed upon. Such a party, ordered to of them have been put in contact with be organized by the supreme council of him in a manner to excite jealousles or the A. P. A. wisely managed and emulation.
