

CITY AND STATE

Eat Dyball's delicious cream candies, 1518 Douglas street. The Democratic state convention will meet in Omaha on Aug. 22. The next annual session of the commercial lawyers will be held in Omaha in 1896. Judge Covell is attending the national convention of commercial lawyers at Detroit this week. J. M. Macfarland is announced to address the Garfield Swedish Republican Club at Paterson Hall tonight. Hon. Charles J. Greene has gone to Spirit Lake on a vacation. He will remain out of the city about two weeks. Assistant City Attorney Cornish and mother returned Monday evening from a ten-days trip through Yellowstone Park. Next Thursday evening will occur the regular meeting of the Fifth Ward Republican Club, at its hall, Eighteenth and Lake streets. B. F. Thomas will attend the triennial convocation of the Knights Templars at Boston. He starts next Sunday and will be gone about ten days. Receiver E. L. Bierbower, of the American Water-Works Company, left on Wednesday on a business trip to the east. He will be absent for several days. Colonel Howard volunteers to sell a few packages of Howard's Vegetone Blood Purifiers to the Simwater aggregation. He declares that it will build up their shattered constitutions. A picnic will be held at Courtland Beach on Saturday afternoon and evening, Aug. 17, by the Grand Army ladies of Omaha and South Omaha. All are welcome. Good music, dancing and all other amusements. There seems to be a sort of premeditated arrangement on the part of certain attorneys to bring Judge Scott into disrepute before the people. They lose no opportunity to attack him either in court or outside of court. The people thoroughly understand the animosity which prompts these uncalculated demonstrations and slurs. Last week we published an article under the heading: "Rome's Attack Upon Our Schools and Our Youth." That article has been published in leaflet form by the Press and Literature Committee of Boston—an association which has done much to arouse patriotic sentiment. These leaflets can be secured by addressing J. A. Lansing, Box 199, Boston, Mass., at $1 per 1,000.

JUNIORS, TAKE NOTICE!

Come to This Brother's Assistance. Not long since a prominent brother Junior met with an accident which has confined him for the past two months and it will be a long time before he is able to be of much service to himself. This brother is in good standing in Kansas City Council No. 9, Jr. O. U. A. M. True, the council is doing its part, but the brother, by his illness, has been reduced in his finances. He has composed many patriotic songs of much merit, and we withhold his name only because of his desire. We must say, however, to the credit of the brother, that he has not asked this, but we take it upon ourselves as a duty. It is the duty of every Junior to heed the call. If you are a brother, be a brother true. The afflicted brother has a song which he desires to have plates made for and to publish the same. He has not the money to do so. The song is an excellent one, and will be set to music. It is patriotic and will be dedicated to the Jr. O. U. A. M. If you are a patriot, send 45 cents to this office immediately, and as soon as about $100 can be raised the song will be printed and a copy sent to each who subscribes. The amounts received will be printed each week in this paper. Come to the front, boys! Send to Harry E. Hinde (member national council), at 807 Main street, care of THE AMERICAN, Kansas City, Mo.

PAPIST VANDALISM.

Stories of Merchants Lettered A. P. A. by Ignoramuses. The firm of Hettler Bros., tackle block manufacturers, on Commercial street, Boston, is composed of two brothers, R. S. and James. They are quiet American citizens and stand high among the seafaring men of the water front. R. S. Hettler was one of the East Boston Little Red School-house paraders, and both are patriotic men. Last Sunday night their sign was mutilated with what was supposed to be green paint. On one of their window shutters was roughly drawn a skull and crossbones, while the other was decorated with letters nearly a foot long, "A. P. A." They have lost the trade of some of their former Catholic customers. Several stores in this city have been similarly decorated by vandals, the proprietors of which are evidently thought to be members of the A. P. A., by the devotees of the confessional. Lowell Herald. Flannel-Mouth—"If the howly pope of Rome was an Irishman, what wood the cardinals become?" Red-Neck—"Shure, and they'd all be emeralds."

A. P. A. Rule. The city of Baltimore, being under A. P. A. rule, today employs 810 policemen; of this number 712 are Americans, six Protestant-Irish and four Germans; the balance are made up of different nationalities, and in like proportion are distributed the other appointive offices of that city. No one class of people there are held above Americans. No other ties than American patriotism are recognized in that city as the primary qualifications for a position under her administration, but truthfully can it be claimed for the city that here is a truly American administration from one end to the other. We wish every city in the United States would pattern after noble Baltimore. May the good work continue, and may the next election see many other cities following the example set by this municipality is the earnest wish of all true American citizens.—Exchange.
