The Lodge Immigration Bill.

On last Monday the United States Senate passed the Lodge immigration bill by a vote of 45 to 28. The following is the full text of the bill:

Be it enacted, etc. That section 1 of the act of March 3, 1891, in amendment of the immigration and contract labor acts, be, and hereby is, amended by adding to the classes of aliens thereby excluded from admission to the United States the following:

'All persons physically capable and over 16 years of age who cannot read and write the English language or some other language; but a person not so able to read and write who is over 50 years of age and is the parent or grandparent of a qualified immigrant over 21 years of age and capable of supporting such parent or grandparent may accompany such immigrant, or such a parent or grandparent may be sent for and come to join the family of a child or grandchild over 21 years of age similarly qualified and capable, and a wife or minor child not so able to read and write may accompany or be sent for and come to join the husband or parent similarly qualified and capable.

Sec. 2. That for the purpose of testing the ability of the immigrant to read and write, as required by the foregoing section, the inspection officers shall be furnished with copies of the constitution of the United States printed on numbered uniform pasteboard slips, each containing not less than twenty nor more than twentyfive words of said constitution printed in the various languages of the immigrants in double and small pica type. These slips shall be kept in boxes made for that purpose, and so constructed as to conceal the slip from view, each box to contain slips of but one language, and the immigrant may designate the language in which he prefers the test shall be made. Each immigrant shall be required to draw one of said slips from the box and read, and afterwards write out, in full view of the immigration officers, the words printed thereon. Each slip shall be returned to the box immediately after the test is finished, and the contents of the box shall be shaken up by an inspection officer before another drawing is made. No immigrant failing to read and write out the slip thus drawn by him shall be admitted, but he shall be returned to the country from which he came at the expense of the steamship or railroad company which brought him, as now provided y law. The inspection officers shall keep in each box at all times a full number of said printed pasteboard slips, and in the case of each excluded immigrant shall keep a certified memorandum of the number of the slip which the said immigrant failed to read or copy out in writing. If in any case, from any unavoidable cause, the foregoing slips are not at hand for use, the inspection officers shall carefully and thoroughly test the ability of the immigrant to read and write, using the most appropriate and available means at their command, and shall state fully in writing the reasons why the slips are lacking, and describe substitute method adopted for testing the ability of the immigrant.

Sec. 3. That this act shall not apply to persons arriving in the United States from any part or place in the island of Cuba during the continuance of the present disorders there who have heretofore been inhabitants of that island.

Sec. 4. That this act shall take effect three months after its passage.

Is a Papal Coup Intended.

The sentiments of the Civitta Cattolica, the organ of the Vatican at Rome, as given by the Rome correspendent of the London Chronicle will cause a distinct shock to monarchial traditions throughout Europe fact that it is regarded as a mere amplification of the pope's Christmas al-Jesuits in close relation to the Vatican, gives it the character of an inspired document, apparently designed struggle which is to settle the controversy for power between the pope and the Italian monarchy.

The most significant fact in connection with the article is the expression of friendship for a repub lican form of government, especially as represented by Switzerland and their "admirable and glorious constitutions," representing "true unities of nation and state," as contrasted with 'that of Italy, which," it is declared, "has produced nothing but weakness, misery and starvation." In the declaration that without the aid of foreign bayonets the true Italy will find for itself its own way and will rise again from the ignominy in which it now lies prostrate to true greatness," there is an evident allusion to the foreign aid by which the present Italian monarchy was enabled to establish itself as well as an invitation to the Italian people to assert their power.

These utterances are the more remarkable as made in the interest ofif not directly prompted by-a hierhas not only been one of the strongest supports of monarchial governments. but itself a representative of uncompromising despotism. Does it mean that the papacy, in the closing years of the nineteenth century, has been converted to republicanism, or that it has chosen this method for securing the sympathies of the Italian people in bringing to an end the struggle for "temporal power" which it has maintained for over a quarter of a century with the Italian monarchy? If the latter ,the occasion has been adroitly chosen at a time when the Italian government is laboring under an accumulation of financial and economic embarrassments which have threatened its existence. In inviting an alliance with the Italian republicanswho are more likely to be opposed to the restoration of the temporal power of the pope than otherwise-the advisers of the Vatican have taken some uncertain chances, and future developments in that quarter will be awaited with curious interest.-Chi-
