Miss Clara Redd is in Harrison to-day.

The graders are said to be at work on the railroad grade near Hat creek, on the Lakota line.

Mr. Green, Mr. Govey and others from the south east part of the county were in town yesterday.

A large party of friends spent a pleasant day and evening at Mr. McGinly's on last Thursday. Plenty to eat and an enjoyable dance was the order of things.

Articles of incorporation of the Grand Island & Eastern Wyoming railroad Co. were filed with the county clerk Monday. This is supposed to be the much talked of Alliance branch.

The brick work on the court is so re-ly completed that the roof can be put on and the frame work for the same is now about finished. Mr. Whitney expects to have the building inclosed by the first of the new year if this fine weather continues until then.

Mr. A. J. Babcock announces in the last Herald that he is the present and probable future, pencil manipulator of that sheet. Then to him perhaps should credit be given for the "noticeable change" which we referred to last week. It is a creditable one.

The first load of copper ore to be shipped from Lusk arrived from Muskrat canon Tuesday, and several more strings of freight wagons have arrived each day since. This is the commencement of a great business which will be of wonderful benefit to Lusk. The ore will be shipped to Pittsburgh.—Lusk Herald.

The social, under the management of the Berean Bible Class, at the school house last evening was a grand success and Mrs. Bassett is entitled to much praise and credit for her generous efforts in inaugurating these plesantries.

After many and laughable games a lap supper was partaken of, after which the many well pleased participants retired to their homes.

The attention of parents is called to the very noticeable fact of late that some of the boys, instead of going to school as they are sent, loaf around town and are occasionally in mischief. The teacher is caused a great inconvenience thereby in either holding the scholars who are regular attendants back, or creating new classes for those who only come occasionally.

In putting down the pump last week, and just as the last part of the pump proper was being placed, the sucker and rod became fastened and could be neither pushed down nor pulled up. The work was delayed several days but it is now prospering again. It is necessary to take out all that is in the well in order to properly adjust it and several days will probably elapse before it is in running order.

How mean to light a match when heads and chairs are close together and a young lady entertaining her best fellow while he is waiting for the train or spending a leisure hour. The person who perpetrated this base act on Thanksgiving night should apologize to the young lady and the young man too if he can be found. When last seen he was making all possible haste to reach the sidewalk to save being identified and left his fair companion to entertain the last arrival.

P. K. Murphy has commenced suit against the F. E. & M. V. R. R. Co. for $5,000 damages, and a criminal action was also commenced against conductor Maloney. Last Thursday morning as Mr. Murphy was returning from Chadron, conductor Maloney stopped the train and put Mr. Murphy off for, as he claims, disorderly conduct and the above litigation is the result. Sheriff Pfost arrested Mr. Maloney and presented him to the court on Tuesday, when he gave bonds for his appearance on Monday the 17th, when an examination will be had.

We shipped, per express, last week a small sample of Nebraska weather securely tied up and enclosed in a reliable collar box, to a friend in California, where the same was released and allowed to mingle for a while with other samples, which had been sent there from various states. This morning The Frontier received the following telegram:

Pacific Coast, Nov. 29, 1888.

I fear Frontier:—Send me twelve car loads like sample. It beats the world.

—O'Neil Frontier.

The guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Thomas on Thanksgiving day were Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Priddy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hester and family, Mr. George Olinger, Mr. B. Barker and the editor. The combined efforts (I speak especially for Mr. Barker and myself when I say it was an effort—we tried to eat it all) of the many hungry ones was scarcely sufficient to even reduce the bountiful supply of eatables. All were supplied and enough was left for as many more. Some of the guests even found their coat pockets filled with turkey and cake on preparing to leave.

All parties knowing themselves to be indebted to the Buffalo Gap Lumber Co. will save costs by calling at this office and settling accounts before January 1st. G. GUTHRIE, Manager.

Wm. Christensen has closed his hardware store here and shipped the stock to Chadron where he will be in business with his brother who is already located there in the hardware business. Mr. Christensen will be missed by his many customers and friends. It is probable that, during the winter at least, two hardware stores would hardly pay in Harrison.

We would Like —To have moonlight nights come again.

—Another month of this weather, and then another.

—To remind every one of the club dance at the hall to-morrow night.

—To see the young people of Harrison form an amateur dramatic society.

—To know if there will be a Christmas tree in Harrison Christmas eve.

—To have everyone see the fine assortment of Christmas presents at Lr. Andrews.

Mr. A. Beemer, an officer of the law from Beemer Neb., was here the first of the week and arrested Walter Marsteller on the charge of forgery. Mr. Marsteller was a resident of Beemer and had only been here a few days, on a hunting expedition. While Mr. Beemer was at dinner Tuesday the prisoner asked permission to step into Mr. Warneke's store where he had left a coat, but instead of getting the coat he went on out the back door and flew for the nearest hollow west of town. Several parties on horse back soon overtook him and the officer again secured him and left on the afternoon train.

The Republican thinks that we were a "little off" last week for printing one of our columns of matter on both pages. It was this wise: We possessed an invitation to eat a Thanksgiving dinner at Mr. Thomas's, and that was press day, and being a little behind with our work it was do as we did or miss the dinner. Did you ever partake of Mrs. Thomas' cooking Mr. Republican? If not you are not competent to judge of our temptation. Thanks, Mr. Republican, for calling our attention to the matter as it might have been a mistake, but it wasn't, it was the thoughts of a dinner prepared by Mrs. Thomas.

One good turn deserves another so we call your attention to the fact that usually a local, or other matter, will do for both the Herald and Republican after it is once set up, as you are wont to do, but that it is occasionally necessary to make a slight change of perhaps a word or two, as, for instance, in the article headed "A Double Wedding" in the last Republican, taken from the Herald. In the part offering congratulations, it might have been well to have changed the word "Herald" to "Republican." This is only a suggestion.
