The Coming Corn Exhibit, With Schedule of

The Nebraska state board of agriculture holds its annual winter meeting at Lincoln, the capital of the state, under provision of law, commencing on the third Tuesday, January 15th, 1889. At this meeting the annual corn exhibit is made. The past season having been propitious throughout the state for great staple product, the board desire and aim to present the best showing ever made anywhere. This circular is issued early that the public may be fully advised, and that all interested may make the best selections as they harvest their crop. This they are urgently requested to do, and come to the front with their offerings. As has been said before, we repeat: At our annual fair it is too early to show corn to an advantage. At the season of the year the winter meeting is held, corn is dry and in position to be submitted to scientific tests by which the actual per cent yield can be obtained and shown. This plan of judging corn, inaugurated last year, was productive of best and most satisfactory results. It will be seen pre-miums are liberal and quantity small. While a minimum is fixed, no maximum is given. Exhibitors will be allowed space for all they desire to exhibit. I is desirable that the secretary be in-formed early, as to entries and space wished for, that accommodating pro-visions may be made. The exhibit will be held in one of the state university buildings. Exhibits sent to the secre-tary will be put in place and cared for when parties can not attend in person All exhibits should be in place on the 14th if possible, or the morning of the 15th at farthest. The superintendent and judges of exhibits will be appointed and announced in due time. Each county and section of the state should be represented at this corn show.

This rule while it would be advantageous and desirable to both the exhibitors and the general exhibit, does not, of obligation, apply to the collective exhibits. Collective exhibits must be separate and distinct from individual exhibits. Parties making collective exhibits can enter and compete for minor individual premiums with same varieties of corn, but not the same specimens It will be seen that in collective exhibits a scientific test is not resorted to. It is simply "the largest number of varieties and best display." Professional commercial seed growers or dealers are not permitted to compete for premiums. Every facility for exhibiting will, however, be provided them, free of charge, and they are invited to make exhibits.

SENATE.—The senate was called to order at noon on the 2d by President Pro Tem Ingalls, and Chaplain Butler opened the proceedings with prayer. He returned thanks for the bountiful blessings vouchsafed the land in its material interests, and remembered Presi-dent-elect Harrison in his petition. A ators, and then Senator Sherman offered the usual resolution, that the secretary notify the house that the senate is ready to proceed to business. At 12:47 the senate took a recess, at the conclusion of which the usual message from the house announcing the fact of its being in session and of its being lew minutes were spent in greeting sen in session and of its having appointed committee to wait upon the president, was delivered. That was followed by was delivered. That was followed by a report from the committee to wait on the president to the effect that it had performed that duty and that the president would communicate with the sentent immediately, and then the president's message was delivered and Mr. McCook, secretary of the senate, proceeded to read it. The reading of the ceeded to read it. The reading of the message occupied an hour and twenty minutes. Those portions of it which discussed questions of tariff revision, treasury surplus, fishery troubles and the West incident, were listened to with very close attention and apparent interest by fourteen republican senators and about an equal number of democrats. When the reading was finished the messengers ceeded to read it. When the reading was finished the mes sage was laid on the table and ordered to be printed. The presiding officer an-nounced that unfinished business for tomorrow was the bill to reduce taxation (the tariff.) Adjourned.

House.-At precisely 12 o'clock the fall of the gavel stilled the tumult which existed in the hall, and silence reigned while Dr. Milburn, chaplain, offered a prayer. The roll of members was then called, and the hum of conversation broke out afresh. During the progress of the call Mrs. Cleveland entered the executive gallery and became an atten-tive spectator. The call developed the presence of 236 members, there 88 absentees. A recess was taken, at the conclusion of which Mr. Holman announced that the committee appointed to wait upon the president had per-formed its duty and that the president would communicate with congress forth-with. The president's annual message was then read by the clerk. That por-tion of the message in which the presi-dent treats of the tariff question was listened to attentively by the members on both sides of the house. The presi-dent's reference to the Sackville-West incidect provoked laughter from the republican side of the house, but no demonstration was made by the demo crata. When, at 3:15, the reading was completed, Mr. Mills offered a resolution, which was agreed to, referring the message to the committee of the whole and providing for its printing. The house then adjourned. SENATE .- In the senate on the 4th the various annual reports, including that of the secretary of the treasury, were presented and appropriately referred. Sumerous bills were also introduced and referred, including one for the construction of two steel rams, to be armed with heavy rifled guns, and one for the construction of two steel cruisers, to be armed with dynamite guas. The mo-tion to take up the Union Pacific bill was not pressed by Frve, who said he would ask to have it made the special order for next Tuesday. The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the tariff bill. House,—In the house on the 4th the speaker presented the annual reports of the secretary of the treasury and comptroller of currency, which were approprintely referred. MacDonald, of Minnesota, presented petitions of people of North Dakota, for the immediate ad-mission into the union of South Dakota and Montana and for constitutional con-ventions in North Dakota, Washington and New Mexico. A bill to allow persons who have abandoned or relinquished their homestead entries to make another entry, was introduced and referred. Dingley called up the bill made the special order last session, providing for erecting a monument to Gen. Henry Knov. at Thomaston. Ma. Adjourn. Knox, at Thomaston, Me. Adjourn-ment was taken without final action on Knox, at the bill.

SENATE. -In the senate on the 5th Mr. Plumb offered a resolution, which was agreed to, instructing the committee on epidemic diseases to inquire as to the causes of the introduction of yellow fecauses of the introduction of yellow fever during the past season; whether the instrumentalities of such introduction are still in force, and what legislation, if any, is necessary to prevent a similar introduction of yellow fever. Mr. Dawes offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the secretary of the interior for information as to the alleged outrages and restraint of liberty committed in Alaska on Indian females and other persons, and what steps, if any, had been taken by the department to protect the persons of females in Alaska from such outrages. The tariff bill was then considered until adjournment.

House .- In the house on the 5th bills were introduced and referred, as follogs: A bill to regulate immigration a bill to divide the state of California into two states; a resolution calling on the secretary of the treasury for information concerning the relief of American whaling and fishing vessels in Behring sea and the Arctic ocean; a bill to establish a graduated income tax, the proceeds of which shall be applied to the payment of pensions; a resolution directing the interstate commerce commission to inform the house, after prompt and due investigation, in what ways and to what extent railway companies, carrying interstate traffic, may be or are evaling, or by clearing house or other form of combination, may be seeking to evade, those provisions of the interstate commerce act which were intended to secure to the people the benefits of low freight rates as a result of competition among carriers. The resolution for the continuing of the select committee on meat products, and on the relations with Canada were reported back from the committee on contingent expenses with amendments. The senste then considered, until adjournment, the tariff bill.

House. -In the house on the 6th, the speaker stated he had received a communication from the Hon. Perry Belmont informing him he had sent to the governor of New York his resignation so a member of congress from the First congressional district of New York. The speaker directed the clerk to drop Bel-mont's name from the roll of the house. The usual resolution for the distributing of the president's message to the appropriate committees was reported from the committee on ways and means, and adopted. The remainder of the session was consumed in consideration of the direct tax bill.

Horse.-In the house on the 7th, the committee on appropriations reported the invalid pension appropriation bill and it was referred to the committee of the whole. The committee on elections submitted a report in the South Carolina contested election case of Smalls against Elliott, and it was placed upon the calendar. It was in favor of the the calendar. It was in favor of the contestee, Elliott. The minority reso-lution, presented by Rowell, of Illinois, and placed upon the calendar, provides for the seating of Smalls. The house then went into committee of the whole on the private calendar, the pending business being the senate bill to incorporate the Nicaranga canal company. The matter was not finally disposed of at the hour of adjournment.
