Gratitude Most Extraordinary.

"A man named Hicks, who lives out in the hills of Arkansas, has on his farm a beautiful stream. He attempted to stock it with trout, but soon discovered the water was too warm. Not discouraged, he proceeded to cool the water. He started an ice factory, and every morning now during the summer he deposits ice in the several pools. Well, sir, it would tickle you to see the fish. When a wagon draws up to the pool the driver yells 'ice!' and the fish come flying out from under the rocks. They get up on the ice and carry on in a perfect flutter of glee. Beats anything I ever saw."

"You know Hicks, do you Dave?" "Know him? Why, he doesn't live more than two miles from my place. "Does he allow anybody to catch

"The fish won't bite for anything but Hicks. They won't?"

"No, sir; you couldn't get a nibble." "How do you account for it?" "Gratitude."

"What?" "Gratitude, I tell you. They know Hick. They know how much he has done for them. Why, sir, he can pull them out as fast as he can throw in. You ought to see them look up in his face and smile. One day I was with him. Two of the biggest trout I ever saw began to fight for the hook. One of them got it, and the other one. determined not to be outdone, came out on the bank and lay down. I never saw such gratitude."—Amateur Sportsman.

An Alabama Ghost.

A ghost has caused a divorce suit and broken up a once happy family in Blount county, Alabama. About five years ago James Martin married a Miss Noel, one of the belles of the county. The young couple went to live at the old Martin home and all went well until about a year ago. Mrs. Martin, naturally very timid, heard a ghost rambling through the old house one night and was badly frightened. She told her husband about it, but he could hear nothing, he said. From that time he became a nightly visitor at the Martin home. Mrs. Martin wanted to leave the old house at once, but her husband objected, declaring the strange noises heard were made by rats. Several times Mrs. Martin, so she says, sawa him again. Martin tried in vain to induce his wife to return to the haunted house to live, but she refused, and he filed a suit for divorce on the ground of abandonment.—Chicago Times.

A Tramp Killed to give Sardou a Lesson.

Boston Journal.

Long before the world knew of his existence Victorien Sardou was passing one winter's night along a street in the Latin quarter. "I was asking myself,"he says, "if life was really worth so much useless labor, and if fare would always be implacable." Sardou was a prey to one of those moods of bitter discouragement, which make any folly possible, more particularly suicide. To escape the rain, which was falling in torrents, he stopped for shelter under a porte-cochere, which he left suddenly, instinctively, without knowing why, and a ragged tramp took his place. Just then there was a terrible noise. Sardou, who was going on, turned and saw that an enormous block ofstone had fallen from a passing dray upon the tramp, killing him instantly.
"I do not know what instinct," says Sardou, "made me quit the place which destiny had marked for some one's death. But it seemed to show me that I was not meant to die poor and unknown-that I must work, struggle and always hope. My star was shining behind a sombre sky!"

Paper from Wood.

The discovery of the value of wood n paper making is credited to Dr. H. H. Hill, of this city. About forty years ago the doctor visited the paper mill at Vassalboro, and after lookng over the machinery suggested the easibility of using wood, and asking why the manufactures did not get a few bales of excelsior from Augusta, where it was made, and try the experiment of making paper from wood.
"It can't be done," said the manufacturers. "Have not you as much gumption as the hornets, whose nests are made of wood paper?" asked the doctor. The result of the conversation was a letter, some time later, from the firm's wholesale agents in Boston, asking what they were putting in their paper to make it so much better than it had been. It was the wood, then first used in this way.-Kennebec (Me.) Journal.

Rapidity of Pulcation.

In a new-born child the pulse beats 159 in a minute; at one year old, 110; at two, 95; from seven to fourteen, 85; in the adult man, 72; and in woman, 80. The frequency of the pulse beat is increased by drinking hot water or tea, diminished by drinking these cold. Adding a warm covering to the clothing of the body increases the pulse by about ten beats a minute. Mental activity diminishes if more or less.

Consumption Among Tailors

Dr. Squire, physician to the North Lendon hospital for consumption, giving evidence before the sweating com-mission, said that one-quarter of the total number of deaths from consumption in London were those of tailors. He attributed this to want of fresh sir, of exercise, and of proper food. The climate was generally supposed to be the cause of a great deal of consumption, but that was nothing compared with the things he had mentioned.

ROBERT A. GUNN, M. D., Dean and Professor of Surgery of the United States Medical college, editor of "Medical Tribune," author of "Gunn's New Improved Handbook of Hygiene and Domestic Medicine," says over his own signature in addressing the proprietors of Warner's Safe Cure: "I cannot be of Warner's Safe Cure; "I cannot be true to my convictions unless I extend a helping hand and endorse all I know to be good and trustworthy. Your graphic descriptions of diseases of the kidneys and liver have awakened the medical profession to the fact of their great increase. Physicians have been experimentally treating this disease, and while casting about for an authorized remedy, their patients have died on their hands."

Contentment Would Have Realized

$15,000. Memphis (Tenu.) Appeal, March 27. Hearing that there was an unlucky man in the city, and several other persons who were smiling in contentment and good fortune, an attache of the Appeal strolled down Front street last evening and stopped at No. 334, where he had the pleasure of meeting Ed Becker, who were a victorious smile of satisfaction and jey on his round smooth face. In response to the suggestion that he seemed quite happy. Mr. Becker laughed and said: "I think I times Mrs. Martin, so she says, sawa white robed figure wandering through the old house, and soon her nerves and health began to give way under the strain. She was finally prostrated by the fear of her ghost, and went to the home of her parents to recover her health and strength. Fear of the ghost overcame love of husband, and Mrs. Martin refused to live with him again. Martin tried in vain to the sold one had. I did so, and then sold one had I to my mother and other and other and other and other and other and other and the sold one had. scription, they have blossomed out into beautiful, plump, hale, hearty, strong young women.

"Favorite Prescription" is an invigorating, restorative tonic and as a regulator and promoter of functional action at that critical period of change from girthood to womanhood, it is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is carefully compounded, by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. It imparts strength to the whole system. For overworked, "wornout," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrappers, and faithfully carried out for many years.
