Protoction for Settlers. On last Sunday, the news of a battle stween the soldiers and the Indians near lordon got the people pretty badly ex-sided and C. H. Weller, chairman of the CAR illage board, wired the governor for ties of Nebraska National Guarda, and on Wednerday Company D, of the second regiment, of Fairbury ar-rived here and are quartered at the court

The company is composed of forty pri-vates and the following officers: Capit. John Heasty; First lieut. L. W. Goodrich; Second lieut. Ev. Munger. They are well equipped with arms, tents, pro-visions and ammunition. This is one of the finest companies in the state, having won the governar's cup and also the governor's flag at the state encampment and more of the members answered the call to take the field than ever did to at-and the encampment. It is stated that other troops have been stationed along the B. &. M. to prevent any straggling bands of Indians getting across the country, should they get through the regular army in the field. In addition to this kind of defense, J. H. Cook has been sent to the reservation by the citizens of this place for the purpowe of giving the people of Sioux coun-ty warning if any danger should arise. Mr. Cook's long experience with the Indians as a scout gives him the ability to earn things which no one else could get hold of. The fact of his having his family and large property interests in the county also tends to assure the settlers that word will be sent should any danger threaten this locality. The settlers are also preparing to de fend themselves and are building a fort at J. G. Morris' a few miles north of the hills, and altogether the people are geting in pretty good shape. On the reservation the troops have the Iodians surrounded and are closing in on them as fast as practicable and the adications are that in a few days some hard and decisive battles will occur. Gen. Miles states that he is prepared to be master of the situation, and if need be the state troops will assist him, and there are about one thousand of the Nebrasks boys now on duty and they are prepared to do all they are called to do. There does not appear to be any need of the aptilers leaving their homes unless meneogers are sent out. The prepara-tions for the defense of the county are such that all could get warning and seek a place of mafety before any Indians

A telegram was received from J. H. ngles always on hand. First-class $8; Cook to the effect that all was quiet at

The County Attorney Contest.

According to the statute, the county court convened on lass Monday at 9 o'clock a. m., and that was the time set for the Hull-Conley contest over the county attorneyship to come up. There were present at the appointed hour, S. Barker, county judge, and H. T. Conley, contestee. Time rolled by and the contestant did not appear and in order that there will be no grounds for a howl, the hearing of the case was set for Tuesday. at 9 o'clock, a. m., although it would have been legal to have called the case and decided against Hull on account of default. At noon Mr. Hull put in an appearance and the court informed him what had been done in the matter.

On Tuesday morning the parties appeared and Conley filed a demurrer in the case alleging that the contest had not been commenced within the time per-scribed by faw, and also that the petition of Hull did not set up sufficient grounds for contest. The court listened to the arguments and sustained the demurrer arguments and sustained the
