Brief Wooing.

DALTON, TEX., June 17 .- Quite a romantic wedding took place here which, as far as heard from, breaks the record for time. The contracting parties were Lee Anderson of New York and Miss Sallie Mitchell of St. Louis. The parties, who had never seen or heard of each other before, met on the train near Muskogee, I.T., and struck up an acquaintance. The lady intended to stop at Muskogee. The gentleman was billed for Haworth, Tex. He became infatuated with her, and on learning that she was going to stop at the next station he had to make quick work of the wooing and forthwith proposed matrimony to her, provided she would go on with him. He convinced her that he was in earnest and she consented. They came to this point, this being the first place they could obtain a license and an official to perform the ceremony and a marriage certificate.

When the south-bound evening train stopped they alighted and took the 'bus for the court house, obtained the necessary papers and had the nuptial knot ing to the forms of the law. The couple then, seemingly in blissful contentment, took lodging at the May house and will remain in this city for a few days. The groom is a good looking man about thirty years of age. The bride is a beautiful brunette of about twenty four Years.

After the meeting 600 Brules held as prisoners of war since the Indian war were released. The Indians, Captain Baldwin says, are well contented, their rations being liberal and according to specifications.

P Slough, his son-in-law, recently employed by the Cincinnsti, Hamilton & Dayton railroad. Slough has made charges against his wife, which her father recented, and so when they met this afternoon they both drew revolvers. Tan shots were fired. White is perhaps fatally injured, but Slough has only a wound in his right hand.

John Bettersby of Philadelphia is his nephew, Martin Perkins, near Beaver City, having come to Nebraska to recruit his health. Mr. Battersby has wonderful history, and his name, sev eral years ago, was known almost wor.dwind as Barnum's living skeleton. And skeleton he really was weighing only forty-five pounds. Mr. Batteraby was born upon a farm and until the age of sixteen there was nothing to distinguish him from ordinary boys placed in like circumstances. His weight was about one hundred and twenty pounds, health was good and he performed the usual duties on the farm, devolving upon the country boy of his age. But at this point in his existence a wonderful transformation began to change him from the plumpness of a well developed youth to a "living corpse" and animated skeleton. This phenomenon occured in the space of a few years and left him in seemingly as good health as before. Such a freak was at once di-covered and secured by P. Barnnm and Mr. Batters. by's life in the show business began and continued for many years, taking him through every state in the union and across the ocean to the countries beyond. One of the strangest facts concerning the life of this wonderful man was his marriage. His wife was Mrs. Hannah Perkins, the largest fat woman probably the world has ever known and who for years was one of Barnum's attractions. The bond of affection which sprung up between the hearts of these strangely contrasted bodies was soon seeled in hely matrimony. She twenty years old and weighed pounds, while he weighed forty-five pounds and was twenty-three years old. She had amazing strength in her big arms and, when he fell ill, she would lift him up bodily and nurse him as though he were an infant. Some years ago Mr. Batterby received an injury rhigh terminated his show life, but his wife remained a star until her death, shich occurred two years ago. A daughter was born to this strange mar-
