HOW SHE RETALIATED.

A Cheeky Seller of Sewing Machines Cured of His Audacity. "When much younger than I am low," said an old newspaper man to a "Near the close of a hot August day I was driving through the little village of G- to the town where I made my of G—to the town where I made my headquarters. Suddenly a big black cloud appeared in the sky, and when my played-out horse had covered half a mile the rain came dancing down. I had two machines on and no blanket. To save myself and machines from getting drenched I drove for the only house within a radius of a mile.

ing to the lady of the house, and she never forgave us for the annoyance of leaving the machine for weeks and asking her every other day if she wouldn't buy, when she had emphatically donclared she would not.

"Now was the turn of the young lady in the old-fashioned house to get square. And although the rain had nearly washed the machine out of the wagen. she slammed the door in my face and then sat by the window enjoying my discomfiture to her heart's content. As I prepared to drive away I turned my head and beheld her pretty face bubbling over with smiles,

"When I reached N- I was a sight to behold. But the experience cured my freshness."

Couldn't Get Rid of Him.

"An Auburn man," says the Lewiston (Me.) Journal, "thinks just twice as much of dog intelligence now as he did a week ago. He owned a dog and has a week ago. He owned a dog and had tired of him, and had agreed to transfer him to a friend who lives in the south part of the city. He took him in his arms, tied a rubber coat over his head and carried him down and de livered him. It was a long distance and he had no idea that the dog would ever show up again about his own premises. That night on realist home the dog lay on his accustomer place on the rug, while the Anhar amusement. Statistics of Muscular Power, Man has the power of imitating almost every motion but that of flight. To effect these he has, in maturity and health, sixty bones in his head, sixty in his thighs and legs, sixty-two in his arms and hands and sixty-seven in his trunk. He has also 434 muscles. His heart makes sixty-four pulsations in a minute, and therefore 3,840 in an hour, 92,160 in a day. There are also three complete circulations of his blood in the short space of an hour.
