A striking illustration of the inequality in assessments is that of cattle. In Sioux county the average was $6.14 per head, while in one precinct of Dawes head. It seems that people do not care to cover up crooked work in assessments as was evidenced recently in Omaha. It was desired to get a higher valuation of the city property for city purposes than adidate and after he had declined a the property owners felt like paying state taxes on and in order to gain the desired end an attempt was made to have two valuations made by the assessors, one for state taxation and one for city purposes. It is a well established fact that most people dodge taxes harder when they become well off than they do when they are poor and men of means will stoop to methods to avoid taxation which poor men would scorn. The result of such acts is that the burden of taxes falls heavier in proportion on the poorer classes. The man who will get a law enacted which will provide a just and equitable system of assessment taxation will win everlasting fame.

One more thing is needed. This is a law doubling the tax of a person using a tire narrower than three inches, and reducing it one-fourth when a four-incl tire is used. This is, of course, on heavy vehicles which cut the roads to piece While drouth and consequent short wide tire is a service to the road, acting as a roller. Encouragement of Manufacturing Industries Necessary to the Rapid Growth of Cities.

In the olden times the growth of a city was a thing slow and uncertain, remindof Nature, the elevation of ocean beds and the submersion of continents. London is the greatest city in the world, but it has taken two thousand years to make her what she is today.

This is a country of different men and different methods. "The world moves," said Galileo, and to no department of G. Gutarie human enterprise can the words be more J. W. Scott.... fully applied than to the up-building of cities. The concentration of modern capital is the greatest progressive force the world has ever seen. Let a suitable site be found; let favorable conditions present themselves, let capital recognize the capabilities that exist, and lo!

"A CITY IS BORN IN A DAY." An illustration of this may be seen in the young city of Gothenburg, which is situated in the very heart of this loyal state. A magnificent water power has been created there by utilizing the water of the Platte River, and the ambitious little city is already styling itself the Niagara of the Plains. All our exchanges are full of Gothenburg today, and have much to say of the great eastern manufacturing concerns which are locating there to utilize this cheap power. We welcome all such outside industries to Nebraska, and while manifestly many towns cannot hope to have the same advantages as Gothenburg in respect to its water power, yet all should aim, in so far as possible, to attract manufacturers, so as to create the some market which a diversified industry always brings.
