

Sixty People Rescued.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 1.—At 3 o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in a grocery store at 572 1/2 Elm street, kept by Mrs. Solomon Levi. The fire department responded quickly and after much difficulty succeeded in taking from the building sixty people who were sleeping when the fire was discovered. The fire was a peculiar and dangerous one. After the flames had been extinguished examination was made and developments of a startling character were brought to light. Early last evening Mrs. Levi, left home to attend a ball, leaving her daughter in charge of the store. The young woman left the building about 9 o'clock, after having evidently made careful preparation for burning the house. Waste, saturated with coal oil was found in the drawers and other places about the store, and in each pile of waste was a lighted candle so placed that the flames would reach the oil saturated waste about 2 o'clock. That for the plan was successful, and only the vigilance of a police officer in discovering the fire saved the building and its inhabitants. The daughter cannot be found, but Mrs. Levi has been arrested. She is however too hysterical to talk, although what she has said is confirmatory of these statements.

Typhoid Epidemic.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 1.—The typhoid fever epidemic grows more alarming with each successive day. Though there is a falling off in the number of new cases yesterday the death rate was increased. The last theory advanced is that the scourge is the result of the late overflow a great deal of stagnant water being left in cellars along the river front. The number of new cases yesterday was 118 up to 5 o'clock, against 220 Monday, 115 Sunday and 200 Saturday. It will be seen that there was a falling off Sunday and an increase again Monday. Last evening Chief Sanitary Officer Francis reported that there were from Sunday night up to noon Monday twenty deaths from typhoid. This he says, would make the present death rate from fever eight a day as against five a day for last week. Doctors still believe that the cause lurks in the city water supply or in the sewers. Houses in which the fever has appeared are almost uniformly in a bad way so far as plumbing goes.

A Gladstone Man Gone.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Mr. Gladstone has temporarily at least lost another seat in parliament, Patrick Fullam, the anti-Parnellite, nationalist member for South Meath, was yesterday unseated by the finding of the court and the election declared void. This decision is based upon the charges of clerical intimidation in behalf of the anti-Parnellites and of other illegal practices.

To Succeed Roberts.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Major General Sir George Stuart White has been appointed commander-in-chief of the British forces in India.

A Daring Robbery.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 1.—A most daring bank robbery occurred at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Allentown, Warrmouth county, this state. At that hour two young men entered the Farmers National bank and with drawn revolvers demanded all the cash on hand. Cashier Hutchinson and an assistant were the only employes of the bank present at the time. A weapon was held at the head of each and one of the robbers backed up his forcible demand with the words, "we'll blow both of your heads off if you don't turn all your stuff up at once."

Cashier Hutchinson quickly complied with this request and handed about $2,000 which lay on the table before him. Then one of the robbers compelled the cashier and the clerk to go to the wall and turn their heads while the other robber walked backward out of the door and into the street. His accomplice quickly followed. In a moment the cashier's courage returned and he and the clerk rushed out into the street firing at the fleeing thieves. The noise attracted a crowd and the robbers were captured about two blocks from the bank. They gave their names as J. B. Morris and Frederick Smith and were at once removed to Freshhold jail. The money given to them by Cashier Hutchinson was recovered.

Will Look for Poison.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—The relatives of Baron Reinach, while opposing the disturbance of his body, will, it is said, not offer any vexatious resistance to the authorities should an autopsy be determined upon. His friends claim, however, that even if poison should be discovered it would prove nothing, owing to the baron's habit of experimenting with poison. What the public is most interested in is the papers, some of which it is said, have disappeared, and which would be highly valuable, if reports are true, in showing where much of the money went, and if it was expended in peculiar ways of the Panama canal. There is no doubt that scores of deputies are trembling with fear of exposure, and all of these voted for the overthrow of the government in order, if possible, to cover up their tracks during the ensuing excitement.

Two Noted Outlaws Captured.

MERIDAN Miss., Dec. 2.—The noted Kemper outlaws, Tom and Walter Tolbert, for whom an exciting chase for a month has been made, have been captured. In November Tom Tolbert, an escaped convict, with his brother John, opened fire on Tom Donald and Will Spinks. The fire was returned and John Tolbert killed. The posse next day was attacked by the Tolberts and Tom Cole killed. So enraged did the people become that old man Tolbert was lynched. Since that time the chase has not been relaxed. Yesterday a posse visited the house of Elisha Johnson, in Neshoba county, twenty-six miles from there, where the Tolberts were concealed and commenced searching the house. Tom Tolbert jumped out of the back window and being discovered a battle ensued. Tom received six or eight buckshot, but managed to make his escape. Later, however, realizing his need of attention he decided to surrender, which he did. A desperate attempt was made by the crowd to lynch the prisoners. Tom Tolbert, who is a big burly man of 22, will be delivered to the warden of the Jackson penitentiary to serve out a life sentence. The reward for his capture is $5,000. Walter a slip of a boy 19 years old, will be taken to Kemper county to stand trial for the murder of Tom Cole.

A Notorious Desperado Shot.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Dec. 2.—Oliver Yantiss, a notorious desperado, was shot and fatally wounded by officers twenty miles north of here. He was one of the three men who robbed the bank at Spearville, Kas., several weeks ago. Last night officers tracked him to the house of his sister, near Orland and when he came out they covered him with Winchester and demanded his surrender. He drew his revolver and shot twice and then fell mortally wounded. On his person was found money stolen from the Spearville bank and there is evidence implicating him in the last Wharton train robbery.

The Strike on at Homestead.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Dec. 2.—Amalgamated association members of Homestead held a meeting to vote on the advisability of declaring the strike at the Carnegie mills on again. So few men have been taken back that the members think they should call their brethren out again, even if the strike is lost, and put the brand "black sheep" on the Homestead mills. About 400 men have been taken back since the strike was declared off, and most of these were laborers. Another meeting will be held and definite action will be taken. B. Hollingshead has called a meeting of citizens to investigate the destitution in the borough and arrange to distribute contributions to the needy.

Not Insane.

BOSTON, Dec. 2.—A Fall River, Mass. special to the Journal says that John Morse was seen in reference to the alleged insanity of Lizzie Borden. The government might be acting on the idea that she was insane, but the defendant's uncle was positive that she was not insane. He had known her from childhood and never had she shown the slightest sign of insanity. Moreover there had been no insanity in any branch of her family. Andrew Jennings' counsel for Miss Borden is quoted as saying he put no faith in the insanity story, that the defense did not propose to build up on that idea and that Miss Borden's friends, as far as he knew, had absolute faith in her sanity as well as innocence of murder.

Paper Makers Syn. Icaia.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Dec. 2.—A syndicate of paper makers of Canada has been formed at Montreal to protect their interests under the name of the Straw-beard Wrapping and Building Paper Manufacturers' association of Canada. Over twenty mills, representing several millions of dollars, are interested. This move was brought about to protect the Canadian market in the product manufactured by the mills. For some time past the Canadians have been undersold by American manufacturers, and it is now said that the former have discovered how this is done. Mill board is quoted as under valuation price and much of the duty got rid of. It is this which the new association will seek to break up.

Great Excitement Prevailed.

GOVERNOUR, N. Y., Dec. 2.—Great excitement has prevailed at Tallville since Sunday, caused by an Italian flag being torn down and burned by a number of American miners. The Italians opened fire on the miners at the time and the latter responded in turn, but no one was hurt. The Italians threaten to raise another flag, and if they do another war will be inaugurated by the Americans.

Many are Drowned.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—A dispatch from Hong Kong says that many lives were lost by the wreck of the Japanese dispatch boat Chisimaken, which was sunk in the sea of Japan in a collision with the English steamer Ravenna.

Death of George W. Hensel.

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 2.—George W. Hensel, father of Attorney General Hensel, died yesterday morning at his home at Quarryville, aged 70 years, from a complication of diseases. Mr. Hensel was internal revenue collector of the Ninth district, under Mr. Cleveland's administration and at the time of his death was trustee of the seminary of the German Reformed church of the United States of America and member of the board trustees of Franklin and Marshall college.

JAY GOULD DEAD.

At Last the Strong Will Yield to the Infirmities of a Weak Body.

A WEARY MAN FINDS PEACEFUL REST.

The First Effect on Wall Street The Worst.

At half past 8 o'clock yesterday morning Jay Gould the railroad king, died at his home in New York City. His feeble frame could no longer resist the insidious disease which had preyed upon it so long. Had it not been for the determination and strong will of the great millionaire he would have died long ago.

He fought the disease to the very last with courage but when at last the supreme moment arrived he passed quietly away.

The effect on Wall street, and on the business of the country will be only transient. Mr. Gould was probably second or third in the line of wealthy men in this country, and his fortune which consisted mostly in stocks and bonds depended upon the rise and fall of these uncertain evidences of wealth.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The effect of the news of Mr. Gould's death on the stock exchange yesterday morning was anxiously awaited. There was an interval of nearly an hour between the time that the first news of his death reached the "street" and the opening of the stock exchange, and nothing else but the death of the sage financier and the probable effect of his death on properties with which he was prominently identified was discussed. It was the consensus of opinion among brokers that there would be some selling of these properties, but none would admit that there was any fear of an extensive selling. Some brokers were of the opinion that the properties were well protected and nothing in the shape of a decided break would occur. When the market did open there was a big crowd in the board room, and for some time there was considerable offering of Goulds, notably Missouri Pacific, with Manhattan and Atchison stocks were also sold to considerable activity, but they only broke fractionally. Missouri Pacific made the greatest decline, 1 1/2 per cent to 54, but recovered in the first fifteen minutes to 55. The market steadied somewhat. There was very little excitement at the opening of the market.

From the Earthquake.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 2.—The steamer City of Panama, which arrived Wednesday night, brought further news of the recent earthquake in San Salvador. Signs of activity were noticed about the crater of Conchuqua, the volcano near La Union, in the Gulf of Fonseca, on the 28th. A violent earthquake followed at 10 o'clock that night. The 5,000 inhabitants of La Union fled to the beach. Shock after shock struck the city and the older buildings were tumbled in ruins. The stone cathedral was reduced to a heap, and fifty or sixty other buildings were completely wrecked. Twenty-four persons were injured.

Fullam Unseated.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The unseating of Mr. Fullam, anti-Parnellite M. P., for South Meath on the ground of undue clerical influence in the election, is widely commented upon by the newspapers. The chief ground for declaring the seat vacant was a pastoral of Bishop Nully, advising Catholics to vote against the Parnellite Candidate. The Times says that "this is a point of some importance, for it is the vote of the Irish clericals that the Gladstone government owes its precarious life. The votes of the Irish clericals now dominate the policy of the British empire. The South Meath petition has shown us something of the powers which in turn domina e them."

The Chronicle says: "The result in South Meath may be useful to the Irish party if it teaches them to curb their priests and to imitate O'Connell in repudiating politics from Rome. Bishop Nully tried to aid Mr. Davitt as he aided Mr. Fullam and it is feared that Mr. Davitt will also be unseated. At the same time we must avow that if we begin to tackle the thorny subject of spiritual intimidation we shall find ourselves involved in all the troubles of continental politics. The opinion prevails in Dublin that the McCarthys are certain to regain in the South Meath seat by an increased majority through an election on the new register. Mr. Fullam will be debarred from sitting in parliament for seven years."

Juan Antonio Flores Convicted.

SAN ANTONIA, Tex., Dec. 3.—In the federal court yesterday Juan Antonio Flores, one of Garza's lieutenants, was convicted of setting a military expedition on foot against the government of Mexico. Flores was known to be fully in the revolutionists' band, and for a time was in command of the revolutionary forces. A new trial being asked for, sentence was not passed. Other cases against the revolutionists are pending, one being against Garza, whose whereabouts are not known to the officers.

Much Sympathy Extended.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—There was about a dozen callers at the Gould residence Saturday morning. Most of them left cards in evidence of sympathy.

The casket in which the dead financier will be buried is a severely simple one of plain white oak, covered with black broadcloth and with oxidized silver handles and plates. The inscription on the latter reads as follows: "Jay Gould, Born May 27, 1836; Died December 2, 1892."

A number of telegrams of condolence have been received by the family. The arrangements for the funeral are as follows: The body was placed in the casket Saturday afternoon. After the services to-day the family will be given a last look at the features and the casket will be sealed. This morning the remains were taken to Wood lawn cemetery and interred in the family vault beside those of Gould's wife. In accordance with Gould's wishes everything in connection with the funeral will be plain.

The flags on all the hotels near the Gould residence are at half mast and the engines on the elevated roads and the Western Union building are draped in black.

The directors of the Western Union met this morning and adopted and placed on record a statement setting forth the salient features in his life and the points which contributed to his success. The central point was that he had full faith in the development of this country and risked everything on his judgment. Instead of investing his money in lands and buildings and idly taking the proceeds, he put it into properties which required all his great energies to develop. His industries gave employment to more than 100,000 men. His enterprises contributed more largely to the development and opening of the western and southern western country than those of any other man. The statement further records his modest demeanor in the exercises of almost unlimited power and the warmth and steadfastness of his friendships, and the model character of his deeds of disinterested generosity.

The directors of the Missouri Pacific and Manhattan Elevated roads also met and passed appropriate resolutions.

Killed Her Husband.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 5.—Thomas H. Boyd, editor of the Olympian, at Olympia, was shot last night by his wife who lives here. Boyd came from Olympia yesterday, spent the day in drinking, and went to his wife's house near midnight, when the shooting occurred. The wife says she shot him because he ceased to love her. Boyd is a son of Colonel A. P. Boyd of Philadelphia, formerly president of the Pennsylvania railway.

TACOMA, Wash., 5.—Gypsy Ashton Boyd, the courtesan who last night killed T. H. Boyd, editor of the Olympian, was known in almost every state west of the Missouri. Her mother lives in Butte, Mont. She is known to have attempted to blackmail several Tacoma men within the last few days. It is believed here she killed Boyd because he would not give her all the money she wanted. She is one of the handsomest women on the coast and is highly educated, speaking five different languages.

Boyd got $25,000 from his wealthy Philadelphia father in 1886 and organized a travelling theatrical company in San Francisco, but soon lost his fortune.

Reports Not True.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 5.—The earthquake story as it has been wired from Chattanooga by correspondents who have more regard for the sensational than the truth has been greatly magnified. Early Friday morning some persons experienced a slight sensation as of an earthquake. The tremor was very slight and occasioned no alarm. The cause assigned for the quake is the usual periodical settling of limestone foundation underlying this section. The affair was purely of a local nature and is not regarded seriously by anyone except a few superstitious people. No serious result or damage attended the shaking up of the territory, if a shaking up it may be truthfully called. From Dayton, a small place here, comes a story of the making of a crevice in a small mountain by the same settlement, but it is unauthentic and seems to partake largely of the nature of a fake. The settlement is the same as that which took place at Knoxville some years since, at which time the bottom dropped out of the reservoir, letting millions of gallons of water suddenly disappear to the levels of the earth. Not the slightest damage attended the shake.

Fatal Tenement Fire.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A tenement house in Williamsburg was burned yesterday morning. Many of the occupants were forced to leap from the windows. Michael Doyle and a daughter aged four were killed by jumping. James Murry, his wife and six children and William Grimes and his mother, both crippled, were rescued by fireman, after being severely burned.

As a Sanitary Prevention.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5.—Surgeon General Wyman of the Marine Hospital service, in his annual report will, it is said, recommend as a measure of safety to the country during the Columbian exposition that immigration be suspended for at least one year from January 1 next. This is based on the prediction of sanitary experts that the cholera is almost certain to reappear in Europe next year. It is also almost certain that the secretary of the treasury will adopt the proposition as a part of his general plan for a national quarantine service.

The Empress Josephine was the first to publicly use a pocket-handkerchief. Her teeth were bad, and she gracefully concealed this defect by holding a costly handkerchief before her lips. The ladies of the court followed her example, and the custom was thus inaugurated as a fashion.

Bride No. 2.—"No other women ever wore this ring, did she, darling?" Widower—"No woman on earth ever had it on."

A sad affliction has befallen four of the members of the family of Patrick Shea, of Troy, N. Y. His daughter has just been obliged to give up work because of failing eyesight; six years ago her mother became blind; then her sister lost her sight, and last June her brother also lost the use of his eyes.
