Foreign Travel Improves

Successful farmer—"Son George got some sense during that foreign tour anyhow."

Wife—"I ain't seen it."

Friend—"Does the new landlady at your boarding house appear to be getting a living out of it?"

Boarder—"Yes, she is, but we are not."

Every Inch a Duchess.

First Duke—"Why don't you travel incognito, as I do? It's far pleasanter."

Second Duke—"Yes, but my wife always goes with me, and I married an American.—Life.

Indigestible.

Young Farmer Medders (at supper)—"Ouch! Womark! Kah! Jeeminy jee-wax! What in heaven's name is the matter with this cake, Gloriosa?"

Bride (a city girl)—"Why, darling, there can surely be nothing the matter with it. I followed the recipe exactly."

"Tastes as if it was made of clam shells. Kah!"

"Oh, dearest! May be it was the fault of the eggs. I always thought eggs were soft and yellow inside; but these were white and brittle all the way through, and I had to powder them with flat irons, and—"

"Where did you find them?"

"In the hen house darling. There was only one egg in each nest, and—"

"Gloriosa, you have used my new china nest eggs!"—Puck.

A grievance to a man is what a sore heel is to a boy.

There is nothing the devil works harder than to keep a bad man from thinking about his good mother.

When a member of a corporation wanted his picture in an heroic attitude, the artist painted him in the act of refusing a drink.

One day of sickness will do more to convince a young man that his mother is his best friend than seventeen volumes of proverbs.

Before you kill yourself trying to accumulate wealth, go and ask a millionaire how much money it takes to make a man rich.

Get An Envelope Quick

"My wife and I," says a traveling man, "were once in a hotel where we couldn't get any boiling water. After we had discussed the situation my wife asked me if I had an envelope in my satchel. I got one out, when she told me to fill it with water and hold it over the gasjet. I hesitated, but finally did it, and expecting to see the envelope blaze up every moment. But it didn't blaze. The envelope took on a little soot, but that was all. The water boiled in time, and the envelope was as good as never when the experiment was at an end. I don't know the chemistry of the process, but try it yourself and see if it will not work. If you have no gas light a lamp it will do just as well."

Before you kill yourself trying to accumulate wealth, go and ask a millionaire how much money it takes to make a man rich.

"As long as she was merely my wife's mother," said a young husband, "I had her pretty well under control. But now that she is my wife's mother and the baby's grandmother also, she is simply one too many for me."

Police-man—Well, my little dear, if you can't tell me your mother's name, or where she lives, how are you to find her? Little Girl, lost while out shopping—Jee! put me in a store window an' mamma'll be sure to see me.

Curious Wet. etc.

In 1172 the temperature was so high that leaves came out on the trees in January, and birds hatched their broods in February. In 1283 the winter was also very mild, and maidens of Cologne wore wreaths of violets and cornflowers at Christmas and Twelfth Day. In 1421 the trees flowered in the month of March, and the vines in the month of April. Cherries ripened in the same month, and grapes appeared in May. In 1572 the trees were covered with leaves in January, and birds hatched their young in February, as in 1182; and in 1585 the same thing was repeated, and it added that the corn was in the ear at Easter. There was in France neither snow nor frost, throughout the winters of 1538, 1607, 1609, 1617 and 1659; finally, in 1662, even in the north of Germany, the streets were not lighted, and trees flowered in February. Coming to later dates, the winter of 1846-7, when it thundered at Paris on the 28th of January, and that of 1863, the year of the great inundation of the Seine, were very mild.

They Are Lucky.

It is a lucky thing for the natives of Southern Patagonia that the navigation of the Strait of Magellan is dangerous. Vessels often anchor in the strait for the night on this account, and this gives the crooked-legged natives a chance to come out on their canoes and trade with the ship's company. The chief articles offered by the natives are furs of various kinds, especially of the sea otter. These they sell for a trifle, or more often barter for a few things they need. The best otter skins are worth as much as $600 to $700 when brought to civilized markets, but Patagonians offer only poor skins.

A Philadelphia architect contemplates the erection of a building which will be a complete village in itself.

It will include stores, telegraph and telephone offices, a cafe, reading and consultation rooms, wine cellar, Turkish bath, gymnasium, swimming pool, billiard hall, assembly room, public and private parlors, kitchen; laundry and offices.
