NEBRASKA NEWS.

A hail storm in Cheyenne county did some damage to growing crops. The army worm is carving desolation through grain fields near Hershey.

It was twelve hours after the explosion of dynamite in Lincoln county before the rain. Two editors of Wayne have taken to calling each other names that do not look well in print.

The village board of Lyons is taking heroic measures to crush out the illicit sale of intoxicating liquors. The Methodist church at Walnut Grove organized an Epworth League with a membership of twenty-one.

A Bloomfield paper recommends a "swift kick" as the proper medicine for all men who peddle lightning rods. The hay crop in northern Nebraska is reported much better than usual, and farmers are making full use of it.

Chicken raisers in Nebraska City complain that night prowlers are harvesting the crop before it is fairly ripe. The editor of the Redington Record went fishing and caught a case of ivy poisoning more distressing than dangerous.

Lightning killed three head of cattle for Mark Butler of Filmore county. The insurance expired three days previously. King Corn, says the Wisner Chronicle, is proudly sitting upon his Nebraska throne with a tasseled crown and a sabbian girdle.

All available hay land in the Platte valley is being utilized this year by the thrifty settlers who expect a ready market at prices above the average. Peter Martinson of Burt county was returning home with his corn sheller when the team ran away and he fell under the machine and was crushed to death.

Speaking of a measly contemporary, the Garfield Enterprise says: "He won't last long. The law relating to diffusion of gases will operate to dissolve him in the time. The Pierce State bank has a sample of corn "that takes the case." It is fourteen feet high and strong and rugged; the corn was raised on the farm of Carl Hoffman.

The nine-year-old daughter of J. Strowbridge, living on the Ft. MePherson reservation was killed by lightning. Two other children were rendered insensible, but soon recovered. John Lemasters, who left North Platte between two days for the purpose as some thought of beating numerous creditors, has telegraphed from Indiana that he will return this month.

It seems there is plenty of money in the country to loan at low rates of interest on real estate security. It is only the city borrower who is discriminated against in these troublesome times. Charles Wade, the fellow who stole a gold watch of Mr. Eaton of Plattsmouth, and gave it up under duress as the lawyers say, has been held to the district court on the charge of magnificent larceny.

W. R. Artman of West Point, has begun the collection of Cuming county products to exhibit at the state fair, and desires the co-operation of the farmers, as he is making a special effort to secure first prize. Hastings is soon to be connected telephonically with the rest of the state, the line now being under construction between there and Sutton, the western limit of the present line. It will be quite an advantage to the city and the towns along the line.

M. W. Bruce sent a telegram to friends at Breighton from Pert. Townsend, Wash., saying he was on his way east with a party of Esquimaux. Mr. Bruce has been in Alaska for some months in charge of the reindeer farm under the government. Mrs. Samuel Sapp of Smyrna, was killed by lightning while lying in bed. The infant at her side was unharmed. Mr. Sapp had just arisen to answer the call of parties who were seeking shelter from the storm and was several feet away when the flash came.

The Grant Sentinel has been reduced in size from a five column quarto to a seven column folio. The reason for the change is set forth by the editor as follows: "We are here to make a living, and when the expenses are greater than the income, the former must be reduced." The Sentinel has the right idea of business.

E. N. Bishop, a farmer of Custer county, had on altercation with one of his hands, named Short, which ended in a personal encounter, and Bishop received five distinct wounds from a knife in the hands of Mr. Short. The assailant then skipped the country. It is thought Bishop will recover. The body of Henry Anderson, who met his death by being buried alive in a well at the depth of over one hundred feet on the Rams ottom place south of Harrisonburg, was finally recovered after having been in the ground nearly three weeks. The remains were in a very badly decomposed condition, but were encased at once in a metallic coffin and sent to Illinois for interment.

On the 6th of April, A. H. Smith of this place, planted corn 8 on thereafter the surface of the ground became frozen, snow came, the weather remained cold and the corn did not come up for more than a month. On last Sunday, the 16th inst, just 101 days from the date of planting, his family feasted at dinner on the new corn, in about seventy days from the time the corn sprout emerged from the ground. — Lyons Mirror.
