Too much care cannot be exercised to prevent the spread of any disease among the children of a community.

W. S. Johnson was up from Glen Monday. He says the past season has been quite satisfactory to them in the cheese business.

J. W. Earnest returned the first of the week from the eastern part of the state bringing a carload of cattle. He says Sioux county is the garden of Eden compared to what he saw.

The indications are that the price of potatoes will not be as high as was expected, but still they will pay pretty well.

On account of the funeral services at Bodarc Sunday morning by Rev. Chas. E. Connell there will be no preaching here in the morning, but the regular service will be held in the evening.

Northwest Nebraska all did very well at the state fair but Sioux county was the only one in this part of the state that won a premium. Paste that in your hat.

In three weeks an exhibit was prepared which won for Sioux county fifth place at the state fair. What can be done if the work of preparing for next year is begun now.

Sanford Hill was in town Saturday and called at this office. That being his fifty-second birthday he was in a reminiscent mood and related a number of amusing anecdotes.

Dr. Shafter reports the arrival of a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright on September 23d and another boy put in an appearance at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Corbin Lewis on September 5th.

When you write to your friends in the drouth-stricken east tell them what Sioux county accomplished at the state fair. They will not think you are living in a country where people are likely to starve.

There is no reason why a county fair cannot be held next year and a good time had and the people given an opportunity to see what each other has and how they are doing as compared with those in other parts of the county. All that is needed is the proper effort.

Nearly twenty carloads of fat cattle have been shipped from this locality during the past week. That turns a nice sum of money loose and helps out all lines of business. When it is considered that those cattle were raised and fattened on the grass which grew on government land, the advantage of this country to the stock grower can be appreciated.

The Sioux County Agricultural Society is hereby called to meet in the court house at Harrison, on Saturday, October 13, 1894, at 1 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of hearing reports of committees, election of officers for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such meeting.

There are some people in this locality who evidently think it smart or a great deal of fun to destroy or damage property. Well on farms from which people have removed are found partially filled with rocks and even in town vacant buildings are not safe from petty depredations. Some of those guilty of such contemptible acts may be detected and given an opportunity to answer to the law and in such an event it is hoped that the court before which the trial is had will inflict a penalty severe enough to be a warning to others who have no more principle than to do such acts.

As the time is at hand when the various precincts will make up their local tickets, THE JOURNAL would like to suggest that care be exercised in the selections made. Do not put up a man for assessor simply because he needs what there is in the office, for the public does not want to pay for his blunders; do not put a man on the ticket for any office simply because he is a "good fellow." See that the candidates for all precinct officers are qualified to perform the duties of the position. There are lots of good citizens who are not fitted for office and it is no discredit to them if they are not honored with a nomination. Look to the interest of the public in the matter.

PERSONAL

Found Dead in Bed. On Tuesday night the dead body of Alexander Steele was found in bed at his home near Bodarc. Henry Roush in passing the place noticed that the cow had not been milked for some time and informed J. C. Eberspacher of the fact. The latter went to the place and entered the house and, it having become dark, lighted a lamp and saw Mr. Steele stretched out on the bed dead.

The neighbors were at once notified and word sent to Coroner Phinney, who, accompanied by County Clerk Biewett, went at once to the place. On viewing the remains and the surroundings the coroner decided that no inquest was necessary and he took possession of the papers of the deceased and arrangements were made and the remains interred in the Bodarc cemetery on Wednesday evening, Rev. Chas. E. Connell officiating in a short service.

The deceased was a bachelor, somewhat over fifty years of age, and was one of the first settlers in this part of the country. He had not been in good health for some but when urged to give up his bachelor home and live with a neighbor he declined. On Friday he took supper at the home of Leopold DeBock and spent the evening there. On his way home he called at J. C. Eberspacher's and spoke to him of a pain in his head and a fluttering of his heart but no serious attention was given and that was the last he was seen alive.

When found he was stretched on his back on his bed with a handkerchief held lightly across his breast. The fact that he had on his best clothes indicating that he died on Sunday. A testament lay on the bed beside him and papers near at hand and the position of the body all indicate that he grown tired reading and went peacefully to sleep and death came to him while he slept.

Mr. Steele was a Scotchman, having no relatives in this country, and while outwardly he was somewhat rough he was esteemed by all as being warm-hearted and true, and many sincerely regret his death. He possessed considerable property which he disposed of by will.

The funeral sermon will be preached on Sunday morning at the Bodarc school house, at 11 o'clock, by Rev. Chas. E. Connell.

For a number of years the wild hops of this locality have taken the highest premium at the state fair. It would be well if the people would profit by the lesson thus taught. A failure of the hop crop has never been known and there are many places where they could be grown where nothing of value is now produced. Diversity of crops is what is needed here as elsewhere.

Fred Blomberg and Christ Christensen were at work on the railroad section on White river a few days ago when they discovered a den of rattlesnakes. They succeeded in killing twenty-nine, none of which had less than five rattles on and the rest escaped. Fred said he heard snakes all the next night and he had not been in town either. The reptiles had evidently congregated for the winter.

Quite a little excitement was caused last Friday evening over the wandering away of the little boy of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Tipton. The little fellow had gone to school but at recess in the afternoon had concluded to go home. On arriving there he could not get into the house as his mother had gone to a neighbor's house. He then started for another neighbor's but became sleepy and laid down and went to sleep. When his mother came home and Seth did not arrive at the time he should the mother became anxious and came to town in search of him. Several went out to help hunt him up and one of the party on going to the family residence found that the child had got there all safe. It goes without saying that the mother was greatly pleased to have him restored to her.
