Grain and chopped coal for sale by E. Rohwer.

A musical treat is promised at the ball on Washington's birthday.

H. A. Priddy has moved into a house formerly occupied by W. O. Peterson.

Rev. C. E. Connell went to Manly, Wyo., on Monday to assist in revival work.

W. O. Patterson is building a new shop a short distance south of the one formerly occupied by him.

P. N. Kirkpatrick and P. A. Myrard each have a house nearly completed on their claims at Highland.

Homebound compound cough syrup, the great remedy for coughs and colds at the Pioneer Pharmacy.

The house has been moved from D. H. Griswold's farm to the lot south of Postmaster Marsteller's residence.

Preparations are being made for a good time at the social to-morrow evening. All are invited to come and participate.

I. Richsten received some pictures a few days ago of his relatives and the family home in the old country which he left fourteen years ago.

Thin or gray hair and bald heads so displeasing to many people as marks of age, may be averted for a long time by using Hall's Hair Renewer.

Some children and matches are reported to have nearly caused a conflagration last Saturday morning. Too much care cannot be exercised in such matters.

"Old, yet ever new, and simple and beautiful ever," sings the poet, in words which might well apply to Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the most efficient and scientific blood-purifier ever offered to suffering humanity. Nothing but superior merit can do it so long at the front.

So far no complaint can be made of the quality of weather enjoyed in this locality. It has been quite cold, but as it has been clear and still, the settlers have plenty of fuel the cold has hardly been felt.

The best anodyne and expectorant for the cure of colds, coughs, and influenza, lung and bronchial troubles is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the only specific for colds and coughs admitted on exhibition at the Chicago World's Fair.

County Treasurer Woodruff started for Lincoln last evening. He will make his annual settlement with the state treasurer, take in the sights at the legislature and attend the meeting of the state board of agriculture as president of the Sioux county agricultural society.

The Bodare Sunday school has recently obtained a library of about fifty volumes and this number will be increased in the near future. There are a few things that will do more good in a community than a library of interesting and instructive books and the people of Bodare are to be congratulated on their latest acquisition.

The board of commissioners met in regular session on Tuesday and will complete their work today. They contemplate some repairs on the court house and other necessary work. In their estimate of expenses for the ensuing year they will have to provide more liberally for district court expenses if attention is to be paid to the cattle rustlers. As there is no new member the only change is that Commissioner Johnson is now chairman and Commissioner Weber is only a private.

Joe Konrath was in town a few days ago and called at this office. He has been working the past season with an artesian well outfit and is quite enthusiastic on that subject. He said that his father and others in the vicinity of Montrose were going to construct dams and hold the water which has been allowed to go to waste in the past and put it on their land. There is doubt that such work will give good returns to any of our farmers.

If you have any business to transact with County Superintendent Davis it would be a good plan if you took up a position on some elevation, and when you see him coming down the street, stepping over two-story buildings, you may attract his attention by making a loud noise. He has only been so since last Sunday morning, and as Mrs. Davis and the boys are getting along nicely it is expected that Will will soon come home among common folks again.

The decision of the committee who are getting up the ball for February 22d to charge an admission fee for spectators will be endorsed by all who participate in the dances. In the past it has frequently been the case that so many spectators have been present that the dancers could not find seats, and that is not just. In addition to that there are some "kids" who do not know enough to behave themselves at such places and if they have to "dig up" they will either stay away or keep their place.

BUSINESS NOTICE.

The JOURNAL has a large number of accounts on its books, making in the aggregate hundreds of dollars. Much of this is owed by men who are much better fixed financially than is the publisher. It is therefore urged that every person indebted to this office settle the same at once. It costs money to conduct a newspaper and what is due has been earned and is due just as much as any other debt, so it is desired that prompt settlements be made by all.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Every Nebraskan is interested in what it does.

The coming session of the legislature will be especially interesting. After six years the republicans are again in control of both houses. A United States senator will be elected and a host of other good things could be done. No matter what your politics, you will want to read about the legislature. No matter what paper you read at other times you should read the Lincoln State Journal during the legislature. It is printed at the state capital and devotes more space to legislative doings than all the other state dailies combined. The Journal has jumped away up the lead, having the largest circulation in Nebraska. It is spending more money for news than its competitors. Its Bixby is its daily poet. It also has Walt Mason, Wm. E. Annis, its Washington correspondent, serves up Washington stuff as no other correspondent enjoyed by Nebraska papers has ever done it. Annis knows Nebraska people and Nebraska politicians like a book; his letters are a great feature. Stories are furnished by Conan Doyle, Rudyard Kipling, and a host of others, who are regular contributors to the world's great magazines. The Journal's price has been cut to 50 cents per month without Sunday, and 65 cents with Sunday. You could try it awhile. The Semi-Weekly Journal is only $1.00 per year and is a great family paper almost as good as a day for a large class of people. The Journal's phenomenal growth is due largely to the reduction in price and the policy attending to its own business, and not presuming to be a mediator.

Rustled Rustlers.

A ripple of excitement was raised in town on Monday when it was reported that Sheriff Dew had just come in with three men and two horses which he had captured under circumstances which seemed to warrant the arrest. The men were Jim, Pat and Will Blattery, and they are charged with having killed two steers branded with the state brand.

They were taken before Justice Smith and waived examination and their bond was fixed at $500 each. As no evidence was given by either side the facts which will develop at the trial cannot be given. From reports it seems that the men had been watched by Sam Moses and Jeff DeFrance and had got to a point where it was deemed best to have an officer on Sunday evening the latter came to town and got the sheriff to accompany him to the place. They captured the men with one of the animals dressed, having been quartered and hung up with the hide still on, and the other one dead and partly dressed. No attempt had been made to destroy the brands on either side.

THE JOURNAL does not pass judgment as to the guilt or innocence of the men arrested nor does it desire to see any man persecuted, but it does believe that the laws in regard to the protection of property should be respected. It is said by those who claim to be in a position to know that since the acquittal of Cobb the number of cattle unlawfully killed in Sioux county has very largely increased, showing that his acquittal has been taken to mean that no conviction can be had for such doings in Sioux county. In regard to the cost of prosecution the sentiment of the taxpayers so far as we have been able to learn, seems to be that they do not object to having offenders called to account, but they do object to legal farces which tend only to increase the number of crimes and increase the taxes, and it is hoped that the men who caused the arrest of the parties now in custody were in possession of evidence sufficient to warrant the action. It is to the interest of all that the rustling of cattle be stopped and the conviction and punishment of those engaged in such work is the only way to check it. Will offered a bond on Tuesday which was accepted by the court and was released. The other two had failed to secure bond up to last evening so Sheriff Dew took them to Hudson for safe-keeping. The prisoners were somewhat worried Tuesday night, lest an attempt be made to do them violence but no move toward any such action was made, for, while every law-abiding citizen desires to see rustling stopped they seem inclined to let the law take its course.

Washington Ball.

Arrangements have been made for holding a grand ball on the anniversary of Washington's birth, February 22d, at the court house. The Fort Robinson orchestra has been secured and everything will be done to make it the most enjoyable ball of the season. Super will be served at the railroad eating house and that is also to be first-class. Spectators will be charged 25 cents children the same as adults. Tickets for the dance will be one dollar, and the supper will cost seventy-five cents a couple. All are invited to come and have a good time. By Order of Committee.
