When the populists met in the Second district to nominate a supervisor, some one offered a resolution condemning the killing of Barrett Scott. The suddenness with which it was voted down was the means of jarring a few more loose from the populist party.—Atkinson Graphic.

"I have known Judge Kimball for 12 years, and I don't believe any man can truthfully say one word against him," remarked one of Nellie's most ardent pops within hearing of a frontier reporter this week. Golden's chance of election is noticeable on account of its somber hue.—O'Neill Frontier.

In volume No. 43 of the supreme court reports which is just out appears the result of the case of Sioux County vs. C. C. Jameson. This action was brought by H. T. Conley as county attorney to recover from Jameson certain sums allowed to assistants while he was county clerk. The defendant's attorney demurred to the petition and Judge Bartow sustained the demurrer and Conley took the case to the supreme court. There the decision of Judge Bartow was affirmed.

Some one has started a report that Superintendent Davis grants a certificate to teach to a person who had but recently been released from an insane hospital, and that he gave as an excuse that if he did not grant the certificate the individual would again go daft. That is a pretty good sign that the few who are opposed to Mr. Davis are very hard up for something to say against him. The records show that no such person has been granted a certificate and hence there is no foundation in fact for the report. The official acts of a public officer should be discussed when he is before the people and the qualifications of an aspirant for office should be investigated, but there is no use in manufacturing and putting in circulation absolute falsehoods. THE JOURNAL proposes to do what little it can to expose any such which come to its knowledge.

What a Woman Reformer Thinks About Bloomers.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Grannis President of the Social Purity League and Editor of the Church Union.

No body can object to women wearing masculine attire, or clothing that resembles or suggests it, more than I do. Many young women imagine that men's cravats and shirts and hats give them a trim, jaunty appearance, and perhaps they do; but in my opinion they indicate a lack of true-womanly feeling and good taste. I do not believe, however, that the bloomer costume is to be classed with the mock masculine garments, because it answers a real demand and there is a good and sufficient reason for wearing it. I approve of bloomers, although I dislike the name; tourist trousers, or the Syrian or Turkish costume, would be a more appropriate term. But you must not assume my approval of bloomers is unqualified. There are bloomers and bloomers. Some are made so tight that they are practically knickerbockers and are most ungraceful and even immodest, that kind I condemn emphatically. But it is possible to make the bloomer costume tall enough to be inoffensive and pretty. If it may be practically a divided skirt, with leggings meeting it half way between the knee and ankles. If it is a costume of this description I can see no reason why the men should object to it, or why it should not be worn; indeed, all the reasons are on the other side. If we are to be progressive we must adapt ourselves to new conditions. Feminine wheeling is in a sense a new condition and naturally we need a new style of dress for it. A skirt is more or less of a hindrance to a woman riding a wheel. A modest Syrian dress, or bloomer costume, if we must call it so, is more convenient, economical, and sensible. Men object to them in a general way, because they are such an innovation. I have questioned several as to why they object, and they have been unable to put forth a single satisfactory reason. We will soon grow accustomed to the costume, and then women will have made another step forward and away from the dragging skirts, tight bands, and other constituents of unhygienic clothing.—From "Shall Wheelwomen Wear Bloomers?" in Democrats Magazine for October.
