Hints for the Housewife.

Two pounds of potatoes contain as much nutriment as thirteen pounds of turnips.

Light soups, light desserts and light meats should have the preference in warm weather.

Gravies, sauces and soups, no matter how small the quantity, should be served in warming over meat, fish or vegetables.

If you wish to keep cake fresh, put a saucer of cold water in the cake-box. The water should be renewed every twenty-four hours.

When drops of water stand on the outside of a pitcher the air is full of moisture, and a change of weather for the worse is impending.

Cheese may be kept from getting moldy by wrapping it in a cloth which has been dipped in vinegar and wrung nearly dry.

When the elderdown comforts or pillows lose their elasticity hang them where the air and sunshine can have full sweep at them, and in a few hours they will be fluffy and light as when new.

If a person is overheated and flushed from the sun, it is most judicious to use cold water on the face.

The careful, precautions housewife will always avoid satiety. She will never let any kind of food appear over and over again in the same guise.

A NEBRASKA MAN HONORED

Nebraska Comes to the Front Again in Her General Clarkson.

ELECTED COMMANDER OF THE G. A. R.

His Election is Made by Acclamation and Was Unanimous—A Very Successful Encampment Draws to a Close at St. Paul—All Had a Fine Time.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—Maj. Thad S. Clarkson, of Omaha, commander-in-chief; John H. Mullen, Washburn, Minn., senior commander, Charles W. Buckley, A. E. Johnson, Washington, D. C., sergeant-general; Rev. Mark B. Taylor, Massachusetts, chaplain-in-chief, were the national officers elected at the Grand Army encampment yesterday.

The encampment has not been marked by any political or other sensation, and the mild contests made for the next encampment and commander have taken from the event much of that lively interest which has characterized former encampments.

When nominations were in order the following candidates were presented to the encampment: Maj. Thaddeus S. Clarkson of Nebraska, John C. Linehan of New Hampshire, D. R. Ballou, of Rhode Island, Rear Admiral Richard W. Meade of New York and Sen. or Vice-Commander-in-Chief Hobson of Kentucky.

The election of Clarkson was foretold by the outburst of applause which greeted his nomination. The friends of the other candidates realized the hopelessness of the situation and accepted it with the grace of good comrades.

General Walker appointed Comrades Meade, Linehan and Ballou a committee to escort his successor to the platform, which was done amid demonstrative applause.

IN GRAND REVIEW AGAIN

Old Soldiers at St. Paul Have a Parade Over Two Miles Long.

THOUSANDS LINE THE WIDE STREETS

The Annual Election of Commander Narrowing Down to Clarkson of Nebraska and an Eastern Man—Mrs. John A. Logan Speaks to the Crowd.

St. Paul, Sept. 3.—In recent years it has been thought necessary to shorten the length of the parade of the veterans, but this year's parade was almost two miles long, and as it was over smooth pavement and easy walking, no ill effects were expected from the tramp.

The route was purposely made less than two miles long, and over asphalt pavement all the way but many old soldiers were physically unequal to the task and contented themselves with viewing their comrades along the line.

The start was at Dayton and Western avenues, in the vicinity of which were thronged 10,000 sightseers in all conceivable places from which a view of the marching could be obtained.

A pretty picture at the starting point was made by a lot of little girls stationed at the Kitzson residence, the ladies' headquarters, scattering flowers upon and in the path of the veterans as they passed by.

On the reviewing stand on either side of the commander and behind him were grouped his staff and national officers. All the members of the women's organization were there.

At midnight the commandship fight seemed to be narrowing down to Clarkson of Omaha and Linehan of New Hampshire.

At 10:15 when Sullivan and Sharkey were seen coming down from the dressing room. The big fellow almost hid the ex-salior, who followed behind, robed in a grey bath robe.

Then the gong sounded for the three-minute rounds and Sharkey danced all around the big fellow, whose attempts at agility were pathetic.

A Heathen Among Preachers.

New York, Sept. 2.—Yesterday morning Li Hung Chang received a representation of clergymen representing the various boards of American foreign missions engaged in missionary work in China.

Rev. Dr. Ellenwood, secretary of the Presbyterian board of missions read an address thanking the viceroy for the protection afforded American missionaries in China and for the many kind expressions uttered by Li Hung Chang and others of the appreciation with which the educational work, the services of the missionaries, both men and women in the hospitals and dispensaries and the self-denying efforts put forth by the missionaries in the time of famine were regarded.

To this the ambassador made both a verbal and written reply. Through his interpreter he said he thoroughly appreciated the disinterested motives which prompted the missionaries to engage in missionary work in China.

Christianity and Confucianism have interests in common. Both taught ideal truths, the one being positive, the other negative. He had not words to express his appreciation of the efforts of Americans to improve the souls, the minds and the physique of his countrymen.

In conclusion he observed that the opium trade and its use was the great curse of the Chinese people. He fully appreciated the efforts made by American missionaries to modify the traffic, and pointed with pride to the fact that no converts were accepted until they had abandoned the opium-smoking habit.

TREMLES ON HIS THRONE

Sultan of Turkey in Fear of European Powers Toward Dethroning Him.

EUROPE FACES A CRISIS IN HISTORY.

Mobs and Riots Still Continue Unabated in Constantinople and Other Cities of Turkey.
