White River News.

The horses at the sale of C. A. Puddy's went from $2.50 to $5.00 ahead. Pretty hard times for money, especially to sell horses.

Mr. J. T. Mason has moved back on his homestead from Flynn's, he thinks pitch one makes just as sweet a fire as the chips in the sand hills.

We have quite an amount of what some people call prosperity, this morning, I mentioned prosperity to the old cow and she shook her head.

Mr. M. J. Weber our county commissioner had to have a bridge put in across White River this week. The old bridge went fishing at the bottom of the river.

Mrs. J. W. Fry and children arrived from Ia., Monday, they will move on their place on Deadman's creek and expect to make it their future home. Miss Carrie Frayer, a sister of Mrs. Fry accompanied them. She expects to stay through the summer and perhaps attend the institute in Sioux county. CAP.

Mr. O. A. Garton came home from Wyoming last Friday. Mr. Garton had the good luck to chop, log and haul into the mill yard one hundred and fifty seven logs in a little more than five weeks time.

A brand new baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Waldez Saturday morning March 27th. Mother and child are reported to be doing well, and Marcus' happy smile occupies the largest portion of his face.

Charles Biehle was home last week from Harrison, and while cleaning out his irrigating ditch he had the misfortune to scratch and blister his hands in several places. Charlie says he thinks it's pretty rough on a county Treasurer to have to do such work.

Lindley Priddy had the misfortune to get thrown from a horse last Thursday. No bones were broken, and Lindley did not know he was hurt until the next morning when he got up he found he was stiff and lame and sore all over from the effects of the jar of the fall.

It is Miss Pearl Hayworth, instead of Mrs. Walker, who has been assisting with the work at Mrs. Daut's. Miss Hayworth has been engaged to teach a term of school near Mr. Coffee's, in the Bodarc settlement, and expects to commence her school about the 5th of April.

So many things happened last Thursday. Among the happenings is an account of Mrs. Garton and little girl and Elsie Merriam, friends of long standing having a falling out. It seems these people started out from home, driving a span of ponies that liked to travel up hill or down just as fast or slow as they pleased. They were going to spend the day with Mrs. Priddy. They had just passed the place where Mr. Keel was taking the wire down, and were driving down into the gulch. The road is wide enough, but none too wide. Mrs. Garton was trying to hold the ponies back from going at a break neck speed, when the horse on the right side crowded over to the left. This caused the two wheels on the left side of the buggy, to run upon a bank. Mrs. Gorton was on the down hill side, and before any of them had time to get scared or to think of danger, over went the boggy snap went the reach and they were all on the ground, and away went the horses on a dead run with a piece of the reach and the two front wheels spinning along after them at a one forty rate. They picked themselves up just as the horses disappeared over the hill on the opposite side of the gulch. They were so glad to find themselves alive and unhurt they just looked from the flying horses to the broken buggy and then at one another and grinned. A minute or two later Mr. Keel came down the hill, after them, leading his horse, and inquired if any one was hurt. No they said but the boggy was broke and the horses gone. "Oh dog on the boggy" Bob said, "If no one is hurt, I'll try and get the horses back for you." So onto his horse and away he went. The ponies had got quite a start, but Mr. Keel cut across Mr. Biehle's pasture and almost succeeded in catching them but missed them. But one of the Zerbat and one of the Wills boys were over that way and saw the horses running and caught them. They had ran about a mile and a half at full speed, and Mr. Keel brought them back on double quick time and they did not seem to want to run any more. They had lost a part of the portion of the boggy they started out with, so the boggy could not be fixed; Mrs. Garton and Miss Merriam were determined not to miss their visit nevertheless. So they left what was left of the boggy down in the gulch and went to Mr. Biehle's and borrowed their buggy which they were kind enough to offer to loan them and went on their way to joining. In the evening as they came home they gathered up the missing pieces of their buggy and after returning the borrowed boggy to Mr. Biehle's, they went down to the scene of the morning smash up and surveyed the wreck. Then the buggy was turned around and fastened securely together once more with the aid of a piece of wire a couple of halter ropes and a green wood pole, then the buggy box was put in place and every thing loaded into it, the horses hitched in their places and away they went home, which place was reached without any further accident.

Just as I finished that last long account of how three friends had a falling out a vision of a waste-basket of enormous size and with wide extended jaws ready to swallow anything and every thing that came near it, loomed up before my startled eyes and gave me such a shock that I dropped my pen in a hurry after subscribing my name and concluded it was the safest not to write any more items for the 1st of April paper. We meant to have sent the Warblings of this precinct in last Tuesday March 30th, but on account of so much rain and snow the mail carrier for this week was detained at home, and so Mr. Editor, I'll just send these along April 3rd by one of our near neighbors, who is obliged to go to town tomorrow for flour, otherwise if this weather should continue, I don't know when the readers of THE JOURNAL would again have the unspicable pleasure of hearing from the Editor. We have managed to gather a few items that came on the wings of the snow.

Lin Ellis thinks Etto must be a woman because of the raking the men got for keeping the roads in such horrible condition in Monroe Canyon. Ha! ha! The roads will soon need working again in the same place. Let those whose duty it is to attend to the working of them, be on hand and see the work is properly done, when it should be, and Etto will give them due praise, and will also warrant that none of the ladies will ever ask them to step down and out and yield the reins to them.

Charlie Schiltz had some cattle vaccinated for th black leg not long ago. J. L. Kay done the vaccinating.

Mr. and Mrs. Tipton and family visited at O. A. Garton's Sunday March 29th.

Last Saturday March 27th Warbonnet was so well represented in Harrison that it would be easier to have told who staid at home than to have mentioned all that were in town. Tomorrow if this weather continues the reverse may be expected. There comes that waste-basket again so we'll stop right here until next time. ECHO.
