The Kansas City Packer

The Kansas City Packer is the strongest and best known produce Journal published in the world. It is issued every Saturday and prints the news of every large market in the U.S. It is an enemy to fraud and has driven more swindling commission houses out of business than even the law itself. It protects the shipper and tells him who is and who is not reliable. The watch we guarantee for one year. Subscribe now.

THE LAST CHANCE

The present price of the complete course of instruction as given in the Nebraska School of Magnetism by Prof. Kharas and his able assistants is to be advanced from $100 to $200 April 2nd. A new class will be organized April 1st, and this will be positively the last at the low rate for tuition. And why not advance the price? All schools of Osteopathy charge from $300 to $500 for the course in that science alone, and all reputable schools of Magnetic Healing charge at least $100 for that instruction alone, but Prof. Kharas gives both courses for $100 up to April 1, 1900. The wonderful success of his method and the demand for his graduates has made the increase in price necessary. made the increase in price necessary. Why, his graduates are able to cure all old chronic, and many so-called incur-able diseases as soon as they complete his six-weeks' course in drugless healing, and are enabled to earn from $60 to $100 a week. He makes a standing offer to anyone who will enter his school be-fore the 1st of April that he will em-ploy him or her to work for him in his institutions at from $50 to $65 a month for the start and $65 to $125 a month later on, and will give employment for years, or will forfelt 4500. This is a business proposition and will bear closest investigation.

When a man can do what Prof. Kharas has demonstrated that he and his followers can do, that man has a fortune in his grasp. Why plod along in the old ruts of misfortune. Learn to master "Fate" and conquer disease and poverty. Write today for literature and proofs of the second s poverty. Write today for literature and proofs of his wonderful cures. Kharas is a scientist, and his life is devoted to doing good for his fellow men, but he has no connection with any church or creed or sect of religious fanatics. MY MASTERLY METHOD.

The tone made me homesick. I had rung the bell with dignity and determination, resolved to marry Marie and be a devoted grandson to her grandmamma, but I had not then seen the old lady. When she opened the

"My name is Brown," I ventured in a small voice.

"That is not of the least consequence. Can you beat a carpet?" For a brief moment I hesitated, but the steel of the old lady's eye was pierring my soul; I shivered and said:

"Yes, madam."

"Just step this way." I stepped, and meantime, in a sort of which was what one might call a owing it, all remnants of dignity leaked out at my heels.

In the rear door she paused and spread upon the grass plot. A couple of old broomsticks lay ready beside it. The labors of Herenles returned to me, and Argonautic expeditions, trips to darker Africa and colder pole, but nowhere in my brain could I conjure any memory of a fellow's beating car-adventure as became my name. "You will allow me," in a firm, busi- arms, W. M. Desmond of Clinton. ness manner, "to take off my coat." She sniffed and grew sterner eyeing

it. "That is a sensible gray," she said, but the material is much too fine for one in your business." "It was a Christmas present, mad-ım," handling it tenderly, "from my my grand-mother,"

"You would better prove your affecion by keeping it for Sundays." "Yes, madam," and then I hurried to the broomsticks, for her glance was turned on my shirt, and what to say shout fine linen, I didn't know. An August coaching party is where beside the dust and heat of carpet beating. I grit my teeth and went

"Young man." "

"Yes, madam." "Don't punch."

"No, madam." "And shake well."

"Yes, madam."

"I am going out." "Yes, madam."

"But my granddaughter will settle with you."

She should: from the beginning I had so decided. I was shaking violently a corner of the carpet much as a dog might worry an elephant's hide if he had it by the tail, when a gurgle of laughter drew my attention to a near window, and I looked into the eyes of Marie. At the sparkle of them somewhere within me Stath sprouted. "She took you for the man from Simpson's, the man who does the chores," ripples of laughter; "she gave me a quarter for you. She oh, dear me she told me to keep an eye

"Grandma is very near sighted," aid Marie, softly, "but even she could see that you are distinguished-look-

To this day I believe that was a fib: the old lady never said anything of the kind; but Marie looked distinctly pretty while she told it.

"Are you really going to finish?" she asked, when I beat on.

"Certainly." "What then?"

"My pay."

"Oh, yes, the quarter." "No, not the quarter."

"Grandma will not pay," saucily shaking her bright head, more than a quarter.

Some one shall. I seldom beat carpets, but when I do I charge. "Oh, demurely.

Here an interruption made me jump. Young man."

"Yes, madam."

she went. "Of course, Marie has mentioned

I did not notice; and I was expecting a man from Simpson's. Down the street your shirt set me thinking." "I was oneasy," I meekly said, about

She wheeled on me in the middle of her parlor, and I caught a twinkle n the steel of her eye.

You wanted to see me?" she said Marie came in, bringing my coat, A bit of anxiety in her face steadled me. I even chuckled as I got into the forgotten garment.

"My bill," I began, "is-but with a half-smile on her lips madame interrupted. "That is of no consequence; the question is your income." And I could never decide what so melted the old lady, whether it was the mention of my small per annum, or the masterly method of my work, Buffalo Evening News.

How the Germs are Nurtured and the Disease is Spread.

It would seem that people will never learn to be careful. The recent alarming spread of that dire epidemic, smallpox, throughout different sections of the country has been traced by physicians She stalked ahead of me, talking as and sanitarians in many instances directly to the moldy and rotting layers of paper and paste which cover the you, but the name is so common that wails of many houses. The practice of taying layer after layer of paper on a wall, using common flour paste, is especially calculated to create homes for lisease germs. People could not do more to effect such a result of they tried. The rotting vegetable matter afdart forth the infection at every opportunity. There is no excuse for this practice, as walls and ceilings can be coated with a pure, cleanly and santtary material like Alabastine, for instance, at no greater expense. Alabastine is a rock-base cement, which incorporates itself with the wall or ceiling. It is easily applied, comes ready to mix with cold water, requires no washing or scraping before renewing or retinting, is beautiful, long-lasting and safe, For walls that have been intected. nothing is equal to Alabastine as a disinfectant to render them pure and clear and the rooms once more habitable,
