THE NEW YORK WORLD
 THREE A-WEEK EDITION
 Read wherever the English Language is Spoken.
 The tickets are now made up and the most interesting Presidential campaign the United States has known since 1896 has begun. And it is the most important, too.
 Which will it be, Parker and Davis or Roosevelt and Fairbank? Nobody knows it yet, but THE THREE A-WEEK WORLD will tell you positively, fully and truthfully every movement of a hat and thrilling campaign. The read news paper now prints faster than the others, and it has always been the effort of THE THREE A-WEEK WORLD to tell the thing that has happened exactly as it happened. Thus you can judge for your self and form your opinion.
 There is also a great war going on in East, where THE WORLD has a brilliant staff of correspondents in the field, and their reports are found regularly in the columns of THE THREE A-WEEK WORLD. THE THREE A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 136 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and PRESS-JOURNAL together one year for $1.65. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.00.

The Moral Saloon.
 About as good a criticism as we have seen of the Bishop Porter mortal saloon is a series of cartoons in the Chicago Tribune, August 12th. The first represents the Subway Traven room. Its tables are surrounded by drinkers of the ordinary type, interspersed with devout clerical gentlemen, presumably of the Bishop Potter pattern. The walls are decorated with mottoes such as the following: "Every bottle opened with prayer," "Sing a hymn with each drink," "Our drinks are endorsed by Bishop Potter," "Try our moral cocktail," "The latest moral drink in town," "The Subway Tavern endorsed by the pulpit," etc. The cartoon is connected with the following inquiry: "Now that they have started a model and highly moral saloon, endorsed by Bishop Potter, may we not soon expect to see the reform moment carried into other directions?"

Then comes the second cartoon suggesting directions for the applications of the Potter idea. First comes a building bearing a huge sign on the front: "The Moral Poker Club—Moral Cards—Moral Chips." Next comes "The Moral Opium Emporium." A third structure bears the inviting legend, "The Moral Gambling House," with the attractive addition, "Every pot opened with prayer." Adjoining it we have the "Moral Pawn Shop" with a clerical-looking gentleman in front with his hands in the attitude of benediction, while immediately in front of him, in the street, a toper staggers along saying, "Mine is a moral jag, endorsed by the pulpit." Still further on the street a banner floats over a hugh structure, which banner bears the instruction "Moral Dance Hall." The first story of this building is the "Moral Pool Room." The second story is set off as the "Pugilistic Parlor," while at the end of the row of buildings is a lockup, into which the police are ushering a victim of the Potter saloon. The lockup is inscribed, "The Moral Jug for Moral Jags."

The whole cartoon is so pointed in its exposure of the absurdity of attempting to render moral that which is essentially immoral that no further application of sermon is needed. —American Issue.

A PENITENTIARY CANDIDATE.
 If you want to raise your boy for the penitentiary, the recipe is very simple. When he doesn't want to go to school let him loaf; when he gets into some mischief and your neighbors report to you, curse the neighbor in the presence of the boy; when he gets large and urbins something of little value and you find it out, laugh at him and let him go; when he gets into something that calls him into the justice's court and is found guilty and fined, pay his fine, curse the court, the jury and every one connected with the matter, pity the boy and you will soon have a splendid candidate for the penitentiary.—Ex.
