ONE OF BRAVEST LEGION MEN

Lieut. Col. Joseph Thompson, Past Commander of Pennsylvania Department, Wears Medal,

Lleut, Col. Joseph H. Thompson, past commander of the Pennsylvania department of the American Legion and one of the strongest candldates for national commander at the Legion's last national convention, is now enrolled in the ranks of the "bravest of the brave," the wearers of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Gen Maj. Charles H. Muir, who commanded the Twenty-eighth division, in which Colonel Thompson commanded a battalion, decorated the Pennsylvania Legion leader at Washington. Previous to the ceremony Colonel Thompson was entertained at luncheon by the Pennsylvania delegation in congress.

The citation for the Congressional medal came to Colonel Thompson as a result of an act of valor in action near Apremont. France, October 1, 1918.

Counterattacked by two regiments of Germans, Colonel Thompson, then a major of the One Hundred and Tenth infantry, encouraged his battallon in the front line by constantly braving the hazardous fire of machine guns and artillery. His courage was mainly responsible for the heavy repulse of the enemy.

Later in action, when the advance of his assaulting companies was held up by fire from a hostile machine-gun nest and all but one of the assaulting tanks were disabled, Colonel Thompson, rushed forward on foot three separate times in advance of his line, under heavy machine gun and anti-tank gun fire, and led the one remaining tank to within a few yards of the enemy machine-gun nest. The tank succeeded in reducing the nest, thereby making it possible for the infantry to advance.

WARNING TO EX-SERVICE MEN

Soldiers Having Business With Veterans Bureau Must Deal With District Officers.

Ex-service men who have business with the United States Veterans bureau have been advised to transact their affairs with the district officers. Recently former service men have been going to Washington at the rate of 100 a week with the expectation that they could accomplish more there than they could accomplish through divisional headquarters.

In some cases the former soldiers have walked long distances in order to get to Washington. Recently one man made the trip from Baltimore to Washington on crutches.

Washington posts of the American Legion look out for the veterans who come with small means, or no means at all, but these posts are now finding their resources insufficient to take care of all the demands made on them.

A pathetic feature of the situation is that the former soldiers from outside the Washington district learn that they will have to transact their business in the district in which they live.

The American Legion, the American Red Cross and various other organizations have been trying to impress on the men who have business with the bureau that they must deal with divisional headquarters, but it seems that thousands of veterans do not understand the situation. The bureau has asked the Legion once more to take up the subject.

covers five acres. Not to be outdone in the reports of Legion posts with outstanding records, the Weart Gray post, No. 116, of Drumright, Okla., bought a church building and will convert it into a post home, according to F. P. Schickram, adjutant. The building was paid for out of American Legion funds collected through post activities. The post has sent several standard magazines to the Soldiers' Tubercular sanitarium at Sulphur.

A. J. Fogaly, commander of the Drumright post, recently gave the following report of the post's activities:

"Our post was organized in 1919, and was named for one of the most ropular young men that we had in this city, and who lost his life oversens. We had rough plowing for a couple of years because we had determined that we would not accept any charity from our business men, and that any sum of money we raised would have to be through the effort of the membership only. We held some home talent plays and gave dances and various entertainments during the last three years, and not until 1922 were we able to save enough whereby we could purchase a home. During the last year we had carnivals, home-talent plays, baseball team (Legion Baseball league, originated by our post, composed of six teams); we also had the Babe Ruth-Bob Meusel game, and some boxing, together with some dancing.

"An amendment to our by-laws creating a building committee was enacted and the following named as the committee: Milton Speigle, J. G. Fisher and C. W. Saunders.

"This committee immediately began negotiating for a site for the building and purchased a place 100 by 140, at that time the members of the Christlan church desired another location and placed a proposition before our committee whereby we could deed the church our property and take their lots and building on an even trade plan. This gives us 55 by 120 feet with the building and all other improvements thereon, and with the cost of about $500 we will own one of the finest club rooms in this part of the state. We have our building paid for and about $700 in the bank. We have received no donations. Every penny was raised by the help of the membership of Weart Gray post, No. 116, who are the most enthusiastic and peppery bunch of ex-service men you can find anywhere."

He was commissioned a first lieutenant at the Second Officers' Training camp and served as an artillery officer in the Eighty-fourth division in America and in France.

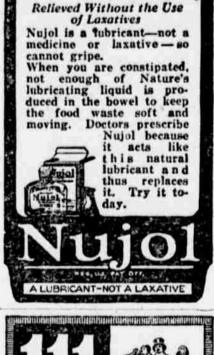

The Legion writer has been of great assistance in advice to his comrades in regard to publicity for Indianapolis posts of the Legion.

Rubber Boots.

Parents are beginning to learn the advantages of rubber boots for children, especially the shorter boots that flare a little at the top. In wet weather or after a heavy snow, it has been found, the boots will hold a great deal more water than shoes, goloshes or rubbers, and will hold it a great deal longer.
