Lucille Rickson

"The youngest leading lady on the screen," is the title that has been given to the charming "movie" star, Lucille Rickson. When she was four years old she was acting in pictures; she is only twelve now, thus she has been on the screen the past eight years. Lucille has a wealth of blonde hair and big brown eyes. She possesses a good singing voice and frequently makes personal appearances in Los Angeles. She lives with her mother and brother in Culver City, Calif.

GIVES UP BABY!

Omaha.—A mother—just a slip of a girl—carrying a poorly dressed baby, walked 16 blocks today from her room in a cheap rooming house to campaign headquarters of the Nebraska Children's Home Society "to give up her baby."

"I love my baby as much as any mother," she said, "but my husband died and I can't give her the right kind of a home. Won't you please find a good home for her?"

R. B. Ralls, secretary of the society, has furnished aid for the child and mother until a suitable home is found.

"This is a frequent occurrence in our office," said Mr. Ralls. "In many cases we make arrangements so the mother can keep the child. If this is not possible we take the child to our receiving home and care for it until good foster parents can be located."

Preparations are now being made to carry on a campaign for $10,000 with which to build a new receiving home.

The campaign in this county will be launched March 15.

"The present receiving home is inadequate," said Dr. Max Emmert, chairman of the campaign committee. "Unless a new home is constructed some activities of the society will have to be curtailed. This would be a real tragedy."

TRUST

I'D RATHER trust a man than bet.
Each dark suspicion all forgot,
And if it be that all my trust
Hath gone into unworthy dust,
I'll still be glad I trusted him—
THOUGH my reward be harvest
KRM.
Since I'll have done my best to
who him,
And grieve what good he holds
against him,

Helen Mitchell Becomes Bride of Glen Foe

A charming home wedding took place last evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Mitchell, 1606 L street, when their daughter, Helene, became the bride of Glen Foe. The guests who numbered nearly 150 were old family friends and young friends of the bride and groom.

The end of the long living room was screened by a gold and jeweled hanging at the side of which stood tall iron-crazers filled with ascension lilies. At both sides of the room pine covered gold lattices completed the background. Forming a screen in front like a chance rail cathedral canopies in tall gold candlesticks gave the only light in the room. An aisle of white pedestals festooned with white satin cords covered with smilax was formed from the stairs through the living room, down which the bridal procession passed to the music of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. Lynn Lloyd which had been preceded by "My Beloved Spunk" from Gounod's "Song of Solomon" sung by Madame Gilderoy Scott. Mrs. Gertrude Culbertson Bell was at the piano and the violin obligato was played by Sarah Sheffield.

Miss Dorothy Raymond entered first in a lovely beaded gown of yellow and gold. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses. She was followed by the bride on the arm of her father. Miss Mitchell was dressed in a gown of broad crepe made with Greek simplicity, but trimmed with a girle of pearl, crystal and blue. The headdress was a high Russian coronet of pearls from which hung a straight lace veil. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

As the procession moved up the aisle it was met at the altar by the officiating clergyman, the Reverend Mr. Bates of Red Cloud, the groom and the best man, Harry Hubbel of Lincoln. The Episcopal ring service was used. During the ceremony Mrs. Lloyd played Greg's Nocturne in C.

In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Foe during the reception which immediately followed the ceremony were Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Miss Raymond, Mr. Hubbell and the bride's uncle, Maurice Deutsch. The bride's mother wore grey crepe romaine with silver lace and bandings. Mrs. A. S. Raymond, Mrs. W. C. Wilson and Miss Marie Kuhn assisted in the living room. Mrs. Maurice Deutsch and Mrs. J. E. Gavin were in charge of the dining room where a two course supper was served. Mrs. Arthur Raymond and Mrs. Victor Krause presided at the table during the first hour and for the second hour their places were taken by Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Charles Roberts. They were assisted by Mrs. Helen Avery and the Misses Alma Herminghaus, Dorothy Brown, Margaret Watties, Barbara Wiggenshorn, Isabelle Evans, Lorraine McCreary and Louise Walthers. A large bowl of jonquils, lavender tulips and lavender hyacinths graced the center of the supper table which was lightened in yellow tapets in beautiful old-fashioned candlesticks. Mrs. Harvey Rathbone and Mrs. F. B. Baylor were in charge of the gift room.

Mr. and Mrs. Foe will live in "Lincoln" where Mr. Foe is practicing law, being a member of the firm of Anderson & Foe. Mrs. Foe will continue her work as an interior decorator. They have taken an apartment in the Milburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Foe are both graduates of the university. Mrs. Foe is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and Mr. Foe of Acacia Fraternity.—Friday's Lincoln Star.
