Our Candidates.

A. D. MILLET, who aspires for the office of county Treasurer, has been a resident of this county for six years and resides on his farm three miles southeast of Hemingford. He is thoroughly competent to manage the duties of the office and should receive a hearty support.

ANNA NEELAND is a teacher in the Intermediate room of the Hemingford High School and is well liked by everyone. She is a graduate of the Chadron Academy and has taught in the Crawford schools. The office of county superintendent is an important one and Miss Neeland would fill the position in a creditable manner.

W. K. HERNICALL, the candidate for sheriff has been a resident of Hemingford for four years during which time he has been engaged in the general merchandise business. He is well qualified for the office he seeks, has not an enemy in the county and his election is conceded by everyone regardless of party affiliations.

P. H. ZOBEL, the candidate for Commissioner of the third district is well known and an introduction is unnecessary. Suffice to say should he be elected he will always work for the best interest of Box Butte county, as he has done in the past, and will be the same Phil Zobel that he is today.

The democratic convention for this Judicial district met in Chadron yesterday.

The Northwest News published at Rushville, has suspended. Bro. Bottenburg tried to run two political parties up there, with the above result.

The campaign is open. Now be honest; do not circulate falsehoods against your fellow man (or woman) nor believe a report until you have satisfied yourself of its truthfulness. Conduct your campaign honorably. It pays.

In county convention a few days ago the pops of Box Butte county had a national bank official as chairman and as a result no resolutions were passed condemning the financial institutions chartered by the government—Sioux County Journal.

The populists held their convention Saturday and placed the following ticket in the field.

- For Treasurer, S. B. Libby.
- For Clerk, B. E. Johnson.
- For Sup't, F. H. Ruhter.
- For Sheriff, E. D. Payne.
- For Judge, L. A. Berry.
- For Surveyor, J. P. Hazard.

MILKED BY A SERPENT.

Eight Kansas Bovines Sucked Dry by a Monster Bull Snake.

A strange snake story comes from Harvey County, Kansas. It is told on the evidence of two reputable citizens—A. L. Bartlebaugh, a prominent grain buyer, of Newton, and J. W. Miller, a Dunkard farmer, of Wanton. Mr. Miller has lost eight fine cows as the result of the strange freak of the monster bull snake that has fattened from the milk he has sucked from the udders of Mr. Miller's herd. For several weeks the farmer has noticed that his cows have come up to the barnyard occasionally in an excited condition. One of them was invariably without milk, and its bag was badly swollen and inflamed. The cow in a few hours would die apparently in great agony. Mr. Miller, after losing eight cows, determined to learn the cause of the trouble. One day he noticed that one of the cows was racing madly about the pasture at a ferribe rate and in a state of great excitement, which was soon felt by all the other cattle in the field. Approaching the cow, Mr. Miller saw a monster bull snake, eight feet in length ganging to the teat of the animal with a grip that was not to be shaken by the frantic efforts of the thoroughly frightened bovine. As the cow plunged on the snake was rapidly absorbing the milk from the udder. When the last drop had been sucked away the snake dropped off, and Mr. Miller killed it. The body of the monster has been preserved in alcohol and will be donated to the museum of the State University at Lawrence. Since he killed the snake Mr. Miller has lost no more cows.

CARRIED ALOFT BY A KITE.

Winona Man Dropped Into the Mississippi and Rescued.

Winona, Minn., Special: C. W. Barber, a young man of this city, is the hero of an adventure which came near resulting in his death. Mr. Barber finished making a gigantic kite, 8 feet in height, and this afternoon was flying it on the river bank. There was a high wind, and after the kite had gotten well up in the air it became unmanageable. In order to handle it better Barber tied the string, brown wrapping, around his body. Just as he did so a gust of wind caught the kite, and it gave a tug which lifted Barber from his feet and pulled him into the air. Higher and higher he went, and in less time than it takes to tell it was over the river, about 200 feet in the air, the kite then being almost over him. Barber's weight was now too much for the kite to sustain, the gust of wind having passed over, and the young man began to drop slowly to the Mississippi, which at this point is nearly a mile wide. He struck the water with a splash, but was kept up by the kite until a boatman could rescue him.

World's Coffee Yield.

The near approach of the end of the coffee crop season, 1894-95, suggests a calculation of the world's yield, which is placed at about 12,000,000 to 12,250,000 bags, say 6,750,000 bags of Rio and Santos (Brazilian), and all other, 5,250,000 to 5,500,000 bags. This is the more striking in view of the fact that while the aggregate exceeds the largest previous yield (1891-92) by about 500,000 bags, prices show a much higher range. The quantity of coffee required from Rio and Santos to meet the world's consumption was well demonstrated in 1893-94, as with a total of only 4,300,000 bags from Rio and Santos, the world's visible was reduced less than 1,000,000 bags, the yield from the outside crops having sufficiently compensated for the apparent shortage. With 5,750,000 bags this season from Rio and Santos, the United States deliveries have so far about equalled those of last year, but in Europe deliveries are 500,000 bags larger, and yet the world's visible increases about 1,000,000 bags. Whether the increase in European deliveries for the past year means a larger consumption or an excess of supplies to the interior remains to be seen. The firm named think that the direct importations for the interior trade in Europe during the period of large receipts is the principal reason for this increase.

How to Mend Lace.

Now that real lace is coming into fashion it is quite an accomplishment to know how to repair the delicate web. Lace mending requires both good eyesight and patience to accomplish it properly. Lace thread, a loose twisted thread which comes especially for the purpose, is used; the groundwork mesh should be imitated as nearly as possible. To keep the lace in place it is best to basto it to a piece of enameled leather, such as is used in embroidery, repairing carefully the damaged portion. If the mesh is badly torn take a scrap of fine Brussels net the size of the tear, lay on it a scrap of the mending tissue, procurable at any of the dry-goods shops, and pass a warm iron over it. If carefully done the mended spot will be scarcely perceptible.

Storage Battery Cars Successful.

Not much has been heard lately of the storage battery car, but it has not been abandoned by any means. The Madison avenue line, in New York, is about to use it in an improved form. In their new cars the battery will not be carried in the cars but on a detachable truck underneath. Three storage battery lines are running in Paris and one in Birmingham, and the system has been found entirely satisfactory in power and economy. One of the European cars runs seventy miles on one charge of the battery and tow an ordinary car, giving in all seats for 100 passengers.

Deadwood Times:
 Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well-told story is a sunbeam in a sick room. Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. The world is to busy to care for your ills and sorrows. Learn to stop croaking. If you cannot see any good in the world, learn to keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your aches and pains under a pleasant smile. No one cares whether you have the earache or the rheumatism. Don't cry. Tears do very well in novels, but they are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. The good humored man or woman is welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and is a nuisance as well.
