A CURIOUS state of affairs, says the Rushville Democrat, exists in a great many counties of the state in regard to the work of destroying Russian thistles, which falls to the lot of road overseers. He offered a bonus to any one procuring one for him, and as he was worth about $50,000 he was successful, marrying a woman named Delaney. It is said he presented her with a large sum of money prior to and after the marriage yesterday. James Brown, a son-in-law, came to the city to investigate. He claims that the woman was never divorced from her first husband and is consequently guilty of bigamy. He also claims that there is a big conspiracy to fleece the old man, who is over 80 years old, out of his wealth, and he proposes to cause several arrests as soon as he procures some additional evidence. Mr. Howard is well known in this county.

Suggestions to Teachers. State Superintendent Corbett commends to the careful attention of all persons interested in educational matters a circular on the subject of Library day. For Nebraska public schools Library day has been set for Monday, October 21. A suggestion is made for the teachers: "One of the ways is to prepare a program in which teacher, children and some of the patrons take part. Another is a program in which every family represented in the school presents a story, an essay, a recitation, a declamation, or something for the entertainment of the people of the community who are invited for the evening. A third is for the teacher to prepare a talk or lecture on the books selected for the pupils' reading course by the Reading Circle board and give this on the evening of Library day to as many old and young as can be induced to come. A fourth plan is to give out five or six of the pupils' reading circle books to a number of the most earnest and intelligent men and women (one to each) in the district on educational matters and ask each to make an eight or ten minute talk on 'What I found in the book for children.' These talks with music by the school, or by some of the people of the community, in connection with the talk of the teacher, would form a pleasant and profitable evening. Ask the school authorities to buy a part or all of the set selected by the Reading Circle board for the pupils, as the needs of the school and the ability of the district may demand."

Wanted for Seventeen Years. Sheriff J. P. Wetherford of Oskaloosa, Kan., was in Lincoln last week to procure requisition papers for Jim Daugherty, who is wanted in the Sandhopper state for assisting in robbing a bank at Nortonville, Kan., in 1882. Governor Holcomb granted the papers, and the sheriff left yesterday afternoon for Falls City, Neb., where he has located Daugherty. The crime for which Daugherty was wanted was committed by him, Poke Wells and another pal. Wells was shot dead by a watchman. Daugherty and his other pal were captured. While in jail Daugherty got possession of two revolvers with which he held up the Sandhopper train.

Since that time the officers have been following him to get the $2,000 reward offered for his apprehension. He was located in Kansas City once, but he got wind of the pursuit and escaped before the officers could land him. He was tracked to Falls City by Sheriff Wetherford. Daugherty is a desperate criminal, and the sheriff expected trouble in arresting him.

CHANDLER ON SILVER. THE NEW HAMPSHIRE SENATOR MAKES BIMETALLIC PROMISES.

COMES OUT IN A LETTER.

Republicans Declared to Be Pledged to the Use of Both Gold and Silver.—The Democratic Leaders Cited as Uncompromising Gold Standard Men—Wanted a Conference Called.

NEW HAMPSHIRE, Oct. 14.—In a letter to T. C. Clayton, secretary of the Republican state League of Colorado, urging Republicans of this state to stand firmly with the national organization, Senator Chandler of New Hampshire says: "The Republican party will go into the presidential battle pledged to bimetalism which I believe, as sure as air is right, will win. On the other hand the Democratic leaders—the men who dominate and control its national influence, patronage and organization—are gold monometallists. President Cleveland and his administration are absolutely in the hands of Mr. Pierpont Morgan and his syndicate of foreign bankers; they are against silver as a money metal and they are committed to gold monometallism. With the patronage of the government, with money manipulated by William C. Whitney and Calvin S. Brice the Democracy are hopelessly subjugated; and their next national convention will be as hostile to the principles of bimetalism as any that English creditors who propose to exact the pound of flesh from their debtors in all parts of the world. It is the height of folly for any bimetalist to conceive that anything but gold monometallism can come from another Democratic national victory. We bimetalists outnumber the gold monometallists of the world 100 to 1, and need not fear that we will not eventually succeed. With a practical suggestion I close. A bimetallic convention held in the United States will be attended by representatives from all Western hemisphere governments and from the governments of Russia, France, Japan and China. Bimetallic organizations in Canada, India and every other country will send delegates. The decision of the conference that the nations should coin silver without limit at the ratio of 16 to 1 will be irresistible, even by England and Germany. Our congress should call a conference and provide for paying its expenses."

PARKHURST'S POSITION.

Although Sadly Disappointed He Will Support the Fusion Ticket. NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Rev. Dr. Parkhurst yesterday broke the silence which he has maintained on politics since the fusion ticket was formed and stated his views on the situation. In his statement Dr. Parkhurst said: "With the outcome of the efforts that have been made at fusion I am sadly disappointed. We are not satisfied to be told of a candidate that there is nothing in particular that can be said against him. Negation and colorlessness does not level up to the grade of popular demand. "Whatever there may be in the situation that is faulty or deplorable we are not thereby absolved from the obligation resting upon us as citizens to get our selves up from any perplexity into which we may have been thrown from the unexpected to remember that altered contingencies have not modified the essential elements in the case, and that whatever other enemies there may be that will be required to be knocked down when their turn comes, it is neither robust citizenship or good strategy to concentrate this year upon any other enemy than the one we all combined to paralyze last year—Tammany hall. Interesting as it would be to get all the birds of prey onto one branch and aim at general effects, yet blundering fighting is a mode of musketry that is neither the most economical nor the most effective. One enemy killed is better than half a dozen enemies scorched. Though I repudiate a portion of the fusion platform and though I shall not neglect to scratch one or more names on the fusion ticket, yet that fact is no seaboard into which I shall thrust my sword that is already red with the tiger's blood."

TORCH AND DYNAMITE.

Cuban Insurgents Destroying Plantations and Wrecking Bridges. KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 14.—Anarchy practically prevails on the island of Cuba according to letters received here. The Spanish are powerless, and outside of large cities, like Havana, there is not even a pretense of government. Bands of insurgents roam at will, destroying sugar plantations and dynamiting railroad bridges. It seems to be the determination of the insurgents to destroy everything that would aid Spain in sustaining her army. In carrying out this policy the torch is being applied to the sugar plantations. In Santa Clara province alone six of the largest plantations have been burned. The torch has also been applied to the tobacco fields in certain districts.

If the insurgents continue this policy, it will be but a short time until there will be nothing left in Cuba on which to sustain an army. The mail service is completely demoralized. The insurgents have waylaid and taken many mail carriers, hoping to capture important dispatches. The carriers have become terrorized, and scores have resigned. Recently two Spanish mail carriers were captured by insurgents under Maceo and hanged. So great is the fear of the carriers that none will venture forth unless accompanied by armed guards. Whenever a carrier starts with an important dispatch he is escorted by a company of soldiers.

From the penal colonies in Southern Spain a battalion of criminals has been organized and placed under the command of Colonel Garrido, who butchered the sick insurgents a few weeks ago. This battalion is known as the "squadron of death," because it has earned the title by killing women and children as well as the inmates of hospitals. Garrido, with his force will enter a village and place the women and children in front of them as a breasting force, when the Cubans come they will dare them to fire, but will themselves shoot over the women's heads.

CUBA'S INSURRECTION.

SPAIN TO ACT PROMPTLY IN CRUSHING IT. Sensational Rumor Concerning Warnings of Uncle Sam.—The Spanish Minister at Washington Said to Have Notified His Government that This Country Will Act Unless the Cuban Rebellion is Soon Suppressed.

Madrid Much Excited. WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—A cable message from Madrid received here early this morning said that it was reported there on the best of authority that the American government had notified the Spanish minister at Washington that it was necessary for Spain to act promptly in crushing the Cuban insurrection, and that the report caused a profound sensation in Madrid.

The truth of the report cannot be confirmed at the state department. The officials, when approached, would neither affirm nor deny the story, though their manner would indicate disapproval of its accuracy. It is believed quite probable that representations may have been made to Spain of the wisdom of aggressive and active operations against the Cuban insurgents, but it is thought that the United States government did not make these suggestions, and that, if made, they came from Minister DeLome and were based on his personal views of the situation and on his observation of the trend of sentiment in the United States and his knowledge of the purpose of the friends of the insurgents to press their cause vigorously soon after the assembling of congress.

Daily events point strongly to a determination to force the question on the attention of congress in the belief that the legislative channel affords the most practicable route to the accomplishment of something in behalf of Cuban independence, the executive branch of the government, in the very nature of things, being more constrained in its action than the legislative department.

Senator DeLome left here to-day on a very early train, and therefore no information could be gained from him concerning the Madrid dispatch. THE POLICY OF THIS COUNTRY. Senator DeLome, the Spanish minister, had a short interview with Secretary Olney yesterday, and in the course of their conversation the minister, perhaps in answer to the secretary's inquiry, made a statement that operations in Cuba would be conducted with greater vigor hereafter. As the president must certainly make some reference to the insurrection in his annual message to congress when it meets in December, it would be but natural that Secretary Olney, upon whom he must rely for his information, should take steps to gather data upon which to base a judgment of probable future events.

While it is true that President Grant did, as indicated in his messages to congress, entertain a belief that intervention in the then progressing rebellion in Cuba would be justifiable, this view was never acceptable to Secretary Fish, and it has not secured the adherence of international lawyers. The whole weight of authority is decidedly adverse to the assertion by a neutral nation of a right to say when war between two combatants has progressed to a point where it must be stopped. It may be recalled that some such proposition was made during the last stages of the China-Japanese war, but it never went further than the exercise of the good offices of the interested nations to bring about peace, which function is entirely distinct from direct intervention. The question is also separate from that of the recognition of the belligerence of the insurgents, which according to American policy and practice, must be determined purely by the facts in each case.

DEBS CONTRADICTED. The Illinois Federation of Labor Not Against Railway Brotherhoods. PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 12.—At the meeting of the Illinois Federation of Labor this morning the resolutions committee reported adversely a resolution declaring the convention is in entire sympathy with the action of E. V. Debs in his work of the strike of the American Railway union against Pullman and the Railroad Managers' association, but issuing a protest against any expression by him declaring that trades unions were inadequate.

This elicited a stormy debate, lasting two hours, and finally the following was adopted as a substitute: Whereas, Eugene V. Debs has stated that the railway brotherhoods had been repudiated by organized labor, be it Resolved, That the Illinois Federation of Labor deny such assertion, and extend to the railway brotherhoods our approval and assurance of continued esteem. Resolutions were adopted boycotting the Washburn-Crosby Milling company of Minneapolis and the Werner Printing company of Akron, Ohio, and unanimously and heartily endorsing Governor Altgeld and his administration.

FORTUNE IN A ROOM.

Over a Million Dollars Left Behind by a Recluse. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 12.—Mrs. Sarah Coolidge, for thirty years a recluse in a secluded house here, died of apoplexy Wednesday. She always passed as a woman of moderate circumstances. When the undertaker disrobed the body preparatory to embalming it, he found various assortments of gold coins tucked away in concealed pockets in her clothing.

This led to a search of the room and it proved to be a veritable gold mine. In vases and in other pieces of bric-a-brac, in shoes, in bureau drawers, and in every conceivable nook and cranny the searchers found $250,000 in cash, mostly in gold coin. In one dilapidated handbag was a roll of bills aggregating $3,800. On the shelf in her closet were bank books representing scores of thousands more, with securities and deeds showing a valuation of over a million dollars. One document showed her to be the owner of property at the corner of Washington and Ave. streets, Boston, which pays a rental of $1,000 a month.

In addition to the money and the bank books there were dresses of the most stylish and expensive goods, covered with jewels and old fads. Many of these gowns would easily reach a valuation of $1,000 each. All the chamber closets and wardrobes were filled with these expensive gowns and none of them have ever been worn.

The servants were never permitted to enter the room in which the treasure was found, though there was no special effort to secure protection from thieves. There were over $300,000 of negotiable securities in that room guarded only by an old woman and four women servants. Nobody dreamed that it was there, so the vast sum was secure.

MRS. JAMES BROWN POTTER

She Als Her Domestic Difficulties in the Newspapers. NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Mrs. James Brown Potter has made public her reasons for leaving her home for a life on the stage. In an interview she said:

"I have never for one moment regretted going upon the stage; neither have I ever cast one longing look back at the old society days. Not even thought with pleasure of the so-called social triumph I was said to have made. I look upon those things as hollow and utterly void; they mean absolutely nothing. It is nine years since I left New York, and I have lost all interest in the city's social set. Indeed, I care as little for them as they care for me. First of all, let me say that I was much amused at something said in the papers a few days ago about Mr. James Brown Potter's posing as a saint. Knowing his home rising as my return at any time I chose to come back. It is very nice of Mr. Potter to express such nice sentiment. That home and home happens to be mine, as well as everything in the house. It was given to me by Pierre Lorillard for the successful work I did in getting people to join the Theosophical club.

"My ideas of life and those of the Potters were at variance. I was brought up to think that life was real and that love ruled the world. The Potters lived only for outside show, always seemed to be afraid to appear natural and were always at swords' points with one another. There was nothing natural, nothing genuine in this new life I was leading. All was conventional, artificial. My enthusiasm and naturalness were chilled by the Potters. My success in private theatricals paved the way to something better, and one day, sick and weary of all the mockery, tired of the constant fault-finding to which I was compelled to submit, tired of going out with a smiling face and a breaking heart, tired of the snubs of the Potters, who are always jealous of each other, tired of genteel poverty, I walked out of that home Mr. Potter is keeping for me and left everything behind me. I have never been permitted to go back to get my belongings, and not even as much as a pair of sleeve buttons has ever been sent me. I sacrificed little to gain the glorious heritage of honest independence."

DURRANT'S GREAT NERVE.

Gets Back On Him Just Once During Cross-Examination. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—Under the rigid cross-examination of District Attorney Barnes, Theodore Durrant made a number of answers that are regarded as decidedly incriminating, inasmuch as they appear to be in direct conflict with well established facts.

He gave an explanation of a clue regarding Blanche Lamont's disappearance, said to have been received by him, that was so palpably a falsehood that everybody in the room laughed aloud. The stifling atmosphere of the overcrowded court room came to Durrant's rescue and he was enabled to recover from his confusion during the short recess that followed. When he again came to the stand he remained calm during the most trying ordeals. The prosecution was, nevertheless, well satisfied with the day's work, for it had accomplished what had never been done before—Durrant for a moment had lost his wonderful self-possession, and had been caught in a number of barefaced untruths.

JUDGE COOK FALLS DEAD.
