The Dawes Commission Denounces the Present System of Dealing with the Five Civilized Tribes-Narrow-Minded Oligarchies in Complete Control--Treaty Rights Long Volded-Congress Should

The Five Civilized Tribes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 .- By far the most important feature of the annual report of Secretary Smith of the Interior department, so far as the Southwest is concerned, is the report of the Dawes commission in regard to its negotiations with the five civilized tribes of Indians in the Indian Territory. This presents the correspondence of the commissioners with the chiefs of the five tribes and an account of the methods by which the chiefs came to unitedly present an opposing front to any effective negotiations of any sort. The failure of the commission being thus detailed the report proceeds: "In connection with the official interests here briefly outlined the commission availed themselves of every opportunity of conference with private citizens of several nations, men of character and influence among their people. By visits to the various localities they familiarized themselves with the conditions of life and the opinions and prejudices which prevail in the different sections and adapted the methods of their attempt at negotiation to these conditions But thus far they have met with no favorable response among those holding power and controlling the political machinery in the governments existing in the Territory. It is otherwise with those, believed to be a large majority, who in the machinery by which affairs are administered are without voice or participation in the policy or laws by which they are governed. The causes, which thus far have proved unsurmountable in all the efforts at a peaceable solution of the problem by negotiation can only be understood by a thorough knowledge of the conditions into which these peo ple have been permitted to fall by the indifference and non-interference of the national government.

"The present conditions are not treaty conditions. There is not only no treaty obligations on the part of the United States to maintain or even to permit the present conditions of affairs in the Indian Territory, but, on the contrary, the whole structure and tenor of the treaties forbid it. If our government is obliged to maintain the treaties according to their original intent and purpose it is obligated to blot out at once present conditions. It has been most clearly shown that a restoration of the treaty status is not only an impossibility, but, if a possibibity, would be disastrous to this people and against the wishes of all people and governmentalike. The cry, therefore, of those who have brought about this condition of affairs, to be let alone, not only finds no shelter in treaty obligations, but is a plea for permission to further violate those provisions.

"The commission is compelled by the evidence forced upon them during their examination into the administration of the so-called governments in this territory to report that these governments in all their branches wholly corrupt, irresponsible, and unworthy to be longer trusted with the care and control of the money and other property of Indian citizens, much loss their lives, which they scarcely pretend to protect. There can be no higher obligation incumbent on every branch of the general government than to exert its utmost constitutional authority to secure to this people in common with all others within our borders, government in conformity with constitutional audicate or transfer to other shoulders this duty as to any portion of territory or people in the land. It cannot es cape responsibility if the dark record, which has now been brought to light, is permitted to continue. Delay can bring nothing but increased difficulty or darger to peace and good order in the Territory. The situation calls for prompt action.

These considerations lead but to one conclusion. It is in the judgment of commission, the imperative duty of Congress to assume at once political control of the In-They have come dian territory. with great reluctance to this conhave sought by all clusion, and methods that might reach the convictions of those holding power in the territory to induce them by negotiation and mutual agreement to consent to a satisfactory change in their system of government and appropriation of tribal property. These efforts have failed; and the commission is driven to the alternative of recommending abandonment of these people to the spoilation and outrages perpetrated in the name of existing government or the resumption by Congress of the power thus abused.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

Secretary Smith's Report Devotes Much

Space to the Indian Question. WASHINGTON, Nov. 30, -Secretary Hoke Smith, of the interior department has made his annual report to the president. It reviews the varied work of the department, beginning with the Indian service, and calls attention to the strict enforcement which has been given to the civil service reform, both as to the places covered by the classified service, and those to which the rules of this service do not apply. The secretary dwells upon the necessity of eliminating solities from the management of In dian affairs, and of conducting each reservation upon strictly business principles, the object being to make every Indian who remains upon the reservation self-supporting and ready, as soon as possible, to assume the duties of citizenship and be freed from the paternal care of the government. The Secretary is of the opinion that if the resources of each reservaion are treated intelligently and the Indians required to labor in those pursuits which are adapted to particular reservations, in a few years practically all the Indians can be made self-sup-

Allotments should be made long before reservations are opened. Each Indian should be settled upon his homestead and be self-supporting before citizenship is conferred upon him. When citizenship is conferred, the Government ought to let him alone and allow him to take his place, surrounding him with no more restraint and giving him no more help than is accorded to other citizens. Under the present system, Indians to whom alhave been made and upon whom citizenship has been conferred still receive enormous gratuities and need every dollar they receive.

After reviewing in detail the work of the land office during the past twelve months, the secretary takes up the question of the disposition of the arid lands and the preservation of the forests. He urges that these two questions are closely allied, for the quantity of arid lands far exceeds the present water supply, even if it were all utilized for irrigation. The increase of the water supply must depend upon the growth and preservation of the forests. Attention is called to the failure of the Carey bill to accomplish the results expected; the secretary attributes this to the fact the bill intended that money for the irrigation should be raised upon the arid lands given to the States. has been impossible on account of the fact that sufficient control over the lands was not given to the States to make them available as security for the money expended in their reclamation. The secretary suggests the advisability of patenting these lands to the States after it is fully determined that the selections made by them under the Carey act are arid

CLEVELAND WANTS NO THIRD

TERM IN HIS.

All Rumors Set at Rest-The President Has No Desire For Nor Would He Accept Another Nomination-A Tour of the World at the Close of His Present Term Being Arranged.

No Third Term in His.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 .- It was announced last evening by E. C. Bene-dict, the trusted and intimate friend of President Cleveland, that the president will not under any circumstances accept the nomination for a third term. Mr. Benedict has long enjoyed the confidence of Mr. Cleveland and is so close in his relations with him that this statement has a semi-official complexion.

Mr. Benedict said: "I am certain that Mr. Cleveland would decline another nomination if it were offered I am positive that he doesn't want to serve a third term. I am equally positive that he could not be persuaded under any circumstances to accept the nomination if it should be tendered him. I have heard him say that he intended to make a tour of the world at the expiration of his second term; that he wanted to see more of the world than he had seen and that he had his traveling companion already picked out-at least that he had asked a personal friend of his to accompany him on the tour.

In making this statement for publication, Mr. Benedict has so far departed from his previous reticence with regard to Mr. Cleveland's affairs, that it has special significance. To-day Mr. Benedict said further: "Mr. Cleveland does not make me confidant. I can not speak for him with authority, and I don't like to be placed in the position of acting as his mouthpiece. It is not a pleasant position for one to be in by any means. I feel positive that Mr. Cleveland does not want to serve as President for a third He feels that he has done enough for his country and no longer cares for the successes or defeats of politics. I feel certain-mind I don't say I am certain-that he could persuaded to accept not re-nomination. It has not been offered yet. I feel certain, and offered yet. I feel certain, and there are little social matters into which it is not necessary to go, that Mr. Cleveland is anxious to get out of polities. He wishes to enjoy the sovereignty of the citizen rather than the servitude of the State. He is counting the days and hours until he can return to private life.

"There are some who say Mr. Cleveland must accept a renomination, was suggested.

"I feel that he will not." Then he will have to make a declaration to that effect." "I think," was the reply made slowly, "that he will either refute or confirm what I have said at an early

House Chairmanships. WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 .- The contest for the committee chairmanships in the house is being waged with much earnestness. Mr. Reed, who will, as speaker, name these, is keeping his own counsel in this matter. It is generally accepted that he has already made up his mind with regard to the most important chairmanship -that of the ways and means committee. Sereno E. Payne of New York is, it is thought, pretty certain to secure this position, which carries with it the honor of leading the majority on the floor. Mr. Payne and Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania are the leading candidates for the place, but Mr. Dalzell is not on friendly terms with Senator Quay. Mr. Payne, on the other hand, is very close to Platt, the Republican leader of New York, and he is at the same time the ranking Republican member on the committee. Still Interested in New York Affairs-Seven Hundred Thousand Dollars for Charities - What He Thinks of Certain

Everybody knows that the illustrious divine, who made the Brooklyn Taber-Earnestness-The Head of the Ways nacle famous throughout the world, has principally of men T. DEWITT TALMAGE, and women who remained loyal to the old church even though now surrounded largely by business houses. A marvelous change, however, has suddenly come over this time-honored landmark, and to-day the First Presbyterian church of Washington, owing to the wondrous eloquence of its newly installed pastor, is every Sunday besieged by multitudes, many of whom stand there frequently hours in advance of the opening of the service in hopes of being able to wedge their way in somehow or other, and to listen to the matchless eloquence of America's foremost pulpit orator.

People all over the country are wondering whether Dr. Talmage, in moving to the National Capital, and in exchanging his Brooklyn residence for a house in Washington, has actually divorced himself from all connection with the east. Dr. Talmage was recently interviewed on this subject by a reporter of this paper, and the reverend gentleman said that as long as his editorial chair had two legs in New York and two legs in Washington he could never be considered as having severed all his connections with the metropolis. "The Christian Herald," he said, "with its wide circulation, is a tremendous power for good," and as long as the Lord gave him health and strength he would write for that paper-in fact, he would be in his editorial chair at the Bible House more frequently now than ever. Continuing, the genial preacher said: "There is no paper in America that wields a more potential influence for good than The Christian Herald, with a circulation of nearly two hundred thousand copies weekly. Nothing but death shall separate me from it. Dr. Klopsch. its proprietor, is a man of extraordinary enterprise. This year besides printing The Christian Herald every week in beautiful colors, a veritable enchantment for the eye, he offers as a premium a complete library, consisting of ten splendid volumes, full of interest and full of entertainment, with an elegant bookcase, delivered free of all expense, together with the paper itself, fifty-two times, for the moderate sum of $3. Hereafter let no home in America be without a library.

I asked Dr. Talmage whether he could recommend the library to people who contemplated securing It, and he said unhesitatingly, "I know every book. compiled by most eminent literary men, them." "How are the people to secure this great library, and this wonderful paper of yours?"

"Simply by sending $3 to The Christian Herald at 888 to 895 Bible House, New York City, and by return mall they will be delighted with the result. Ever since my boyhood, I've had a passion for books; I love them still-couldn't live unless surrounded by them. So I'm something of a judge of good literature. And in my whole life I have never seen a better selection in small compass than these ten books which Dr. Klopsch has had prepared for his subscribers. It's a perfect library of information, entertainment and amusement, and is the climax of the wonderfully enterprising and far-seeing management that has placed The Christian Herald ahead of all competitors as a Christian home journal. Do you know," continued Dr. Talmage, "that this paper has in less than six years expended nearly $700,000 in various beneficences at home and abroad?"

Just then Miss Talmage came in to call her distinguished father to dinner, and the interview ended.

Remember the address, 888 to 895
