

Pleasant Ridge.

Fine winter weather these days. Mr. Wislan lost a valuable cow this week. Hamilton Hall made a flying trip to Alliance one day last week. Mrs. Fred Taylor and family will leave this week for Deadwood, where her husband is at work. Cery Stracklen and his mother went to Alliance Monday to make final proof on their claims. We learn that Mr. Taylor's little boy, who got kicked by a horse a short time ago, is getting along nicely. Mrs. M. E. Painter, who came here a short time ago, intends leaving shortly for Greeley, Col., her former home. Mr. Joseph Tschacher traded his team of mares for mules last week. Joe, you had better keep your eye on the business end of the mule. W. Whelan has returned from Iowa, where he has been for the past two weeks trying to dispose of his Box Butte county farm. He says that Box Butte is not so bad after all. Our honorable county commissioner, James Hollinrake, accompanied by his two sons, Henry and John, left on Monday for Rockwood, Wyo., where they intend taking a contract, the ties being used on the new branch that runs to Buffalo. There was a good attendance at the literary last Saturday night, and everything went off in good shape. It is the intention to have a supper and Christmas tree Christmas eve. Hemingford was represented by the Misses McCorkle and Parkin and Harvey Goodenough. You are always welcome. Come again, folks. John Elsler has been in town several days. Several of the "representative business men of the city of Alliance" have commenced to "dig up" some hot stuff, since last week's issue of THE HERALD, and one promising attorney, (who is five years behind) writes the treasurer that he will settle up by Saturday. What's your rush, gentlemen? "this tax business is a scare-crow; don't be afraid of it." Professor Fenner of Hemingford, one of the bright, educated men of western Nebraska, took an active part in the Crawford teachers' meeting lately. His work shows him to be one of the instructors that rank first-class in Nebraska, and he is among the leading thought trainers for the young in the west. He is a strong and commanding writer, and is a good newspaper man's friend.—Edgemont Express. The deal the republican senators made with the populists could not be kept secret. Senator Stewart of Nevada, the renegade republican, who now calls himself a populist, made the deal, and he gets the lion's share of the price—the chairmanship of the Pacific railroad's committee, which promises to be one of the most important in the senate at this session. The populists will not vote with the republicans to reorganize the senate, as that would be too hard to explain to their constituents. They will nominate their own officers of the senate, and after voting for them on one ballot they will go out—to get lunch, or for some other purpose—leaving the republicans free to elect their officers on the next ballot.

The Box Butte Sunday School will celebrate Christmas eve. An appropriate program is being prepared. A tree will be procured, and no doubt Santa Claus will look in before the evening closes. You cannot find in these United States the equal of the genuine Round Oak. You may try; you'll get left. Remember it's the combination of good points that makes the perfect stove. The Misses Herrick and Brown are conducting a series of revival meetings at Alliance, which will doubtless prove a big undertaking in the face of the bitter county seat war that has just been declared between that city and Hemingford.—The Hay Springs Leader.
