One thousand such writers are called for.

THE state military board has passed resolution recommending a brigade encampment of the national guard, notwithstanding an apparent lack of funds with which to meet expenses. The last annual encampment cost $12,-000, much less than previous ones. There is said to be $12,000 of state funds available for the next year's work, and out of that sum there is to be taken $3,000 for armory rent and about $3,000 for contingent expenses. This leaves about $6,000 for encampment expenses.

Ar a meeting of the state board of ounty bonds to the amount of $25,000 were bought as an investment for the permanent school fund. The bonds bear 5 per cent interest and run for twenty years. State Treasurer Bartley contended that the board could not take money from the general fund to pay a premium for bonds. Fourteen $50 coupons were ordered clipped from the bonds in order to comply with the treasurer's theory.

A young man was sent to his assistance immediately and Stamm was drawn out unconscious. A messenger was sent to Benkelman for a doctor. Stamm's chances for recovery are slim.

THE Nebraska Club is now organizing its Home Newspaper Correspondents' Bureau, to be made up of a large corps of reliable and successful Nebraska people who will volunteer to write short letters of news and general information (outline of same to be furnished by the Club) to the leading papers in the cities, towns and villages where they formerly lived in the east. One thousand such writers are called for. They will be expected to send an average of one letter to the home paper per month. None but persons thoroughly reliable are solicited, as the Nebraska Club particularly requires that any and all matter sent out shall be thoroughly accurate and trustworthy. The busiest man should not of trainmen and the most extensive hesitate to offer this service, as an outmonth if desired, leaving him very little to do but copy it and add a few personal news items. The letters will be brief and of general interest, so that the eastern papers will be glad to publish them, particularly if the correspondent is personally known to the editor. By this method the Nebroska Club expects to reach 5,000,000 eastern readers once per month with at least one paragraph, short and pithy, sandwiched in among the news items, calling attention to some attractive feature of Nebraska, such as a recent general rainfall, alfalfa, irrigation, beet sugar, the chicory and other industries, etc., etc. Send your name and address to the Secretary of the Club, Omaha, Neb., and you will be furnished with full information and instructions.

BALLOTING FOR BISHOPS.

Committee of the State of the Church Recommends Some Radical Changes -Another Measure Brought Up Calculated to Lessen the Authority of Bishops-Conference Work.

CLEVELAND, Obio, May 18 .- When the Methodist Episcopal general conference was called to order the third ballot for bishop was announced to the great audience. It showed that 510 votes had been cast. The follow ing six candidates lead: C. C. Me Cabe, 242; Earl Cranston, 191; J. W. E. Bowen, 165; H. A. Buttz, 154; J. W. Hamilton, 138; E. B. Neely, 42.

A fourth ballot was ordered, It showed that 512 votes were cast and no choice made, 342 vetes being necessary to a choice. The leaders were: McCabe, 243; Buttz, 233; Cranston, 214; Hamilton, 141; Bowen, 109.

There are two bishops to be elected and the 512 votes which were cast on the fourth ballot indicate the vote for one bishop only and in reality represent 1,024 votes. The apparent discrepancy of only 522 votes being announced caused some confusion when in the report of the ballot it was shown that over 1,000 ballots had was made by a delegate to the satisfaction of the conference.

While the fifth ballot was being counted, the death of J. W. Reed was announced, and a committee on resolutions appointed. The Rev. Mr. William Martindale of Kansas presented a memorial requesting congress to prohibit the licensing of the sale of liquor in states where prohibition was in effect. It was adopted and ordered

The proceedings were interrupted by great applause next door, and soon Major William McKinley appeared on the platform. Bishop Joyce presented him and the air was white with handkerchiefs. Three times the applause died away and three times it was renewed. It was the greatest ovation of the conference. Dr. Kynett wanted to take a recess at once, but the motion was defeated and the business was continued, but the regular recess was made fifteen minutes instead of ten, and nearly every delegate in the house took advantage of the opportunity to greet Governor McKipley. DAfter recess the chair announced the fifth ballot. It resulted in no choice, but revealed some remarkable surprises. The vote on the six leading candidates was as follows: H. A. Buttz, 266, Earl Cranston 245, C. C. McCabe 236, J. W. Hamilton 137, J. W. educational lands and funds, Boone E Bowen 75, T. B. Neeley 21. Another ballot w

The committee took up the question that the term of probation be shortened, but decided in favor of retaining the present term of six months. A subcommittee was instructed to prepare a ritual form to be used in the admission of probationers to full membership.

The committee on itineracy considered another measure calculated to lessen the authority of the bishops, It was that the consent of the cabinet of presiding elders should be secured before a bishop could transfer a minister from one conference to another. The committee declined to recommend the change.

Governor Respites Pollard and Harris Once Again.

KANSAS CITY, May 18 .- Governor Stone granted a respite yesterday to Foster Poltard and Frank Harris and ordered that they be hanged May 29. This was done in order to prevent fur-ther legal complications. Judge Dobson did not have an opportunity to hear evidence and arguments this morning on the writ of habens corpus for the release of Pollard and Harris. Before the proceedings were called Judge Dobson was served with a writ of certiorari ssued by the supreme court. A writ of certiorari is an order issued by a superior court to a court of inferior jurisdiction and powers, requiring it to send up the proceedings in a case It is simply the lifting of a case from a lower court to a higher one.

At 9 o'clock this forenoon Marshal Keshlear took Pollard and Harris before Judge Dobson, in answer to the habeas corpus writ. Judge Dobson then notified the marshal officially of the writ of certiorari and remanded the prisoners to the marshal's custody Judge Dobson then ordered Clerk Stonestreet to certify the records of the proceedings to the supreme court, as directed in the writ, and that ended the case for to-day.

If the supreme court decides Monday that Judge Dobson had jurisdiction to issue the writ as he did, it will send the case back to him. If it decides otherwise, Pollard and Harris will be hanged, unless respited by the

A WAR REMINISCENCE.

SCENES AT HATCHER'S CREEK AND PETERSBURG RECALLED.

John A. Seace Speaks to a Reporter of Stirring Scenes - Escaped With a Slight Wound, But, Like Other Veterans, Has Suffered Since-A Story that Reads Likea Page from History.

From the Albany (N. Y.) Journal. John B. Scace, the widely known contractor and building mover of Albany, N. Y., has had an unusually interesting life, and when seen by a reporter recently at his home, No. 15-Bradford street, told of his many experiences and adventures while serving under the old flag in the late war. Although having endured all the hardships and privations of life in the ranks, Mr. Scace bears his more than half a century of years with an elastic step and a keen mind, taking an active interest in private and public affairs.

Mr. Scace is a member of Berkshire Lodge, No. 52, I. O. O. F. He enlisted Lodge, No. 52, I. O. O. F. He enlisted in the army in 1862, in Company A, Forty-ninth Massachusetts Voluntear Infantry, serving under Col. W. F. Bartlett, First Brigade, First Division, Nineteenth Corps, with which he participated in some of the hottest hattles of the war, including Port Hudson, Donaldsonville and Plain Store, where he was wounded. His time being out, he was discharged, but soon re-calisted as was discharged, but soon re-enlisted as sergeant in Company A. Sixty-first Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. He was in the battle of Hatcher's Run, the fight about Petersburg, and the battle of Sallor's Creek. After his nonorable discharge, June 4, 1865, Mr. Scace returned to Albany and settled and settled down once again to his business and social interests. He has resided in the city ever since. It would seem that now, of all times, his peace and happiness would have been unin-terrupted. Such was not to be the case, for four years ago, while engaged in superintending the raising of an immense smokestack of the Albany Elec-tric power-house, the lever of a loosened windlass struck him a heavy blow across the back. The effect of the blow was not at first apparent, he being able to leave his bed in a few days. But the worst was to follow. with sciatic rheumatism in all its viru-lence. Untold agony followed. Said Mr. Scace: "I could not sleep

Far from being solicited to recom-mend the curative which had taken such a load of misery from his life, in his gratitude his praise for it is un-stinted and unceasing. And from his own statement one may easily see that when he does cease to sing its virtues. it will be to answer the last muster-
