M'KINLEY AND RAILROADS.

RESULT OF THE ELECTION ON BUSINESS.

BETTER FEELING EXISTS.

Dusiness Not Any Heavier at Present but the Next Year Expected to Bring Renewed Prosperity - Many Emplayes Saved From Present Idleness-3,000 Carpet Workers Idle.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23 .- The Railway Age publishes a summary of reports received from 200 railway companies and manufacturers in all parts of the country regarding the effect on business up to date of Mr. McKinley's election. These show that though the railroad business has not picked up at all, but in parts of the West and Southwest has been evidently distinctly worse since election than it was before, the railway companies as a whole have very ma terially increased their expenditures, especially in increases of shop forces and a very general tendency to purchase more freely. The last fact is shown more conclusively by the reports from manufacturers than from the reports of the companies them-

A number of companies report that they had all plans made for a reduc-tion in forces in case the election had gone the other way. The railway companies generally have, during the hard times, been keeping up their forces and expenses at a point in excess of what existing business would justify, in the hope of a return of prosper-ity, and they are now in a position to meet any increase of demands that may be made upon them without further expenditures. The expectation of a revival in the near future is almost universal. There is a curious unanimity in the expression of a belief that this revival will really begin to be felt after the first of January. There is also an evident be-lief in all directions that this revival will be permanent, that it will last for several years, at least.

THE ELKS' INITIATION.

A Statement as to How Iowa State Chairman Curry Met His Death.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 23.-The body of Democratic State Central Committee Chairman Edward W. Curry, who was killed at an Elks' initiation a week ago, was taken to his home at Leon in charge of Masons and Elks. The Elks have issued a statement as to how he met his death, from which itappears that he sat on a thin sheet of east iron over a small gas jet, according to an initiation custom of the order, but that instead of jumping up on feeling the heat, as most candidates do, he retained his seat, probably to show his stoicism. When it was seen that he would not rise of his own accord he was led away and it was found that his clothing had been burned away and his flesh slightly blistered. Nevertheless he made a good speech and lunched as merrily as anyone. The next day he went about his business as usual and that night attended a performance by Joseph Jefferson and it was not till the day after that he felt any ill effects from his experience. According to the statement, Mr. Curry's system was in such condition from the excitement of the campaign that any small hurt would have caused blood poisoning.

BESTED IN TEN ROUNDS.

Jimmy Carroll Done Ip by McAuliff.

Light Weight Champion. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. - Jack McAuliffe, the lightweight champion pugilist of the world, and Jimmy Curroll, his old-time rival, and three times his antagonist in the ring for that honor, met last night before St. George's club in a ten-round bout to forever settle the question of superiority. In all their previous battles Me-Anliffe has been the victor, though never without a hard fight.

Although Carroll has passed his 40th year, he is a well preserved man, and has trained long and faithfully for this, perhaps his last fight, and was in prime condition. McAuliffe was also in good condition. Five thousand people witnessed the fight.

Betting on the fight has been quite brisk, with McAuliffe ruling slightly favorite at odds of $9 to $10, though considerable money changed hands at

At the beginning of the fight Me-Auliffe adopted rushing tacties, foreing his opponent to the ropes repeatedbut the pace was too hot to last, and at the end of the third round he had bellows to mend. From that time on until the last round his blows lacked steam, and it was noticeable that whenever he got Carroll in a tight place, after one of these rushes, he dropped his hands and retreated to the center of the ring. The men frequently indulged in conversation during the last few rounds, but in such low tones as to be inaudible to those at the ringside. The consensus of opinion was tation as fighters, and that they had agreed to make it appear a genuine fight, but to avoid a knockout.

The last round was a series of clinches, neither striking an effective blow, although frequent openings occurred. Referee Armstrong gave the decision to McAuliffe. The audience was not entirely satisfied with the manner in which the men fought the last round, but the decision seemed to meet the approval of the majority.

Ginger wafers may be made by eaming a quarter of a pound of but ter, add half a pound of brown sugar, one dessertspoonful of ground ginger. The grated peel and juice of one lemon. Bent thoroughly, then add half a pound of flour and a pint of golden syrup; beat thoroughly and vigorously, butter your pan and spread the mixture as thin as posible and yet perfectly even and smooth.
